RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets decreased by $9.6 million to $29.2 million from December 31, 2021 to June 30, 2022. The Fund had net redemptions of $6.6 million for the period. The Fund paid distributions totalling $0.4 million while the portfolio's performance decreased assets by $2.6 million. Hedged Common Units returned -6.6% after fees and expenses for the six-month period ended June 30, 2022. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned -5.7%. The benchmark is the MSCI World Risk Weighted Top 200 Total Return Index (CAD Hedged) (the Benchmark or the Index).

Please refer to the "Past Performance" section which outlines the performance of the Fund's other units.

As global economies have begun emerging from the COVID-19 pandemic, the easing of pandemic-related restrictions led to robust demand in an environment challenged by continued global supply constraints. This demand led to rising inflationary pressures. Russia's invasion of Ukraine and prolonged shutdowns in China as part of its "zero-COVID-19" policy compounded inflationary pressures by boosting commodity prices and worsening supply-chain issues. In this environment, central banks have shifted focus from providing pandemic-related stimulus to responding to the significant rise in inflation through tightening monetary policy. Year-to-date through June 30, the Bank of Canada has raised its overnight rate target from 0.25% to 1.5%.

Expectations of elevated inflation and tighter monetary policy have led to a sharp increase in bond yields. The Government of Canada 10-year bond yield increased from 1.43% on December 31, 2021 to 3.22% on June 30, 2022. The abrupt repricing in bonds and the uncertain macroeconomic environment resulted in volatility in other asset classes.

As central banks focus on trying to keep inflation under control, potentially at the expense of economic growth, it has broadened concerns about the resilience of the financial system and of the possibility of a recession. Still, consensus forecasts have continued to call for growth. Estimates for growth in Canadian gross domestic product generally point to +3.8% in 2022, +2.3% in 2023 and +1.9% in 2024.

The Fund underperformed its benchmark for the period. The Fund's allocation to the consumer staples, utilities and industrials sectors detracted from performance. The largest individual detractors from the Fund's performance were positions in Croda International PLC, Givaudan SA and Chocoladefabriken Lindt & Spruengli AG.

Exposure to the energy, consumer discretionary and communication services sectors contributed to the Fund's performance. Top individual contributors to the Fund's performance included holdings in Elbit Systems Ltd., Loblaw Cos. Ltd. and General Mills Inc.

Any notable changes in the Fund's holdings were related to rebalancing activity. Portfolios are obtained from MSCI and rebalanced as per their direction with respect to constituents and weightings. The Fund's management fee is 60 basis points.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Investors are likely to face an environment of rising inflation and rising interest rates, along with the potential for an economic downturn. Led by the United States, central banks globally are expected to continue monetary policy tightening in the second half of 2022 until inflationary pressures subside. Some investors already expect softening commodity prices and improving supply-chain dynamics to ease pricing pressures. Accordingly, this may reduce the need for interest rate increases, a scenario that would be positive for markets. The impact of higher interest rates has already started to impact demand in the housing sector, where transactions and prices are already slowing.

The prospect for further monetary tightening must be balanced against the growing possibility of a recession in the coming quarters, as the economy also faces various challenges. Higher interest rates have meant a strengthening U.S. dollar, which will likely negatively impact North American corporate profits. Second-quarter corporate earnings may also struggle to show year-over-year growth, given the particularly strong growth seen in 2021 during the post-pandemic reopening of the economy. Recent data suggests diminished economic confidence, which would be negative for equity markets. However, this could partly be offset by a reopening in China following COVID-19 lockdowns.

Interest rates increases going into an economic slowdown has caused parts of the U.S. yield curve to invert, meaning longer-term interest rates are lower than their short-term counterparts. This may indicate a possible peak in growth and inflation, or a different path going forward for interest rate increases.

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's semi-annual and annual financial statements.

(2) Management expense ratio is calculated based on expenses charged to the Fund (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets for the period, including the Fund's proportionate share of any underlying fund(s) expenses, if applicable. The Effective HST tax rate is calculated using the attribution percentage for each province based on unitholder residency and can be different from 13%.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund(s), if applicable.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the fiscal period. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a higher turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of the cost of purchases and the proceeds of sales of portfolio securities for the period, and excluding cash and short-term investments maturing in less than one year, and before assets acquired from a merger, if applicable, by the average of the monthly fair value of investments during the period.

(5) This information is provided for the period ended June 30, 2022 and the years ended December 31.

(6) Closing market price.
