INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGIES

The investment objective of the CI High Interest Savings ETF (the Fund) is to maximize monthly income for unitholders while preserving capital and liquidity by investing primarily in high interest deposit accounts.

For a complete discussion of the Fund's investment objective and strategies, please refer to the Fund's most recently filed simplified prospectus.

RISK

No changes affecting the overall level of risk associated with investing in the Fund were made during the period/year. The risks of the Fund remain as discussed in the Fund's most recently filed simplified prospectus or its amendments. The Manager reviews the risk rating for the Fund on an annual basis, at a minimum, based on the methodology mandated by the Canadian Securities Administrators to determine the risk level of the Fund. Any change to the risk rating made during the period/year was as a result of such review and was not a result of any change to the investment objective, strategies or management of the Fund.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets increased by $3,439.5 million to $8,753.0 million from December 31, 2022 to December 31, 2023. The Fund had net sales of $3,441.4 million for the year. The portfolio's performance increased assets by $383.6 million. The Fund paid distributions totaling $385.5 million. Common Units returned 5.0% after fees and expenses for the one-year period ended December 31, 2023.

During the year, central banks continued to tighten monetary policy to combat inflation. The Bank of Canada (BoC) raised its overnight rate by 50 basis points (bps) to 5.00%. The U.S. Federal Reserve Board raised the federal funds rate by 150 bps to 5.50%. Yield curves remained inverted. In Canada, bond yields declined somewhat, with the two-, 10- and 30-year yields declining 16 bps, 19 bps and 25 bps, respectively.

Inflation in Canada dropped for the year, from 6.3% to 3.1% (for November 2023). Inflation in the United States showed a similar pattern, down to 3.1% from 6.5%.

During the year, the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, the federal bank regulator, made a ruling that any deposits banks were taking from high interest savings account (or HISA) ETFs had to be treated less favourably than in-house deposits. This had the effect of lowering the rate the funds received from deposit-taking banks towards the end of the year.

Credit spreads (the difference between the yield on corporate bonds over government bonds) on Canadian corporate bonds tightened somewhat, by approximately 30 bps. Credit spreads on provincial bonds were barely changed, down 8 bps in aggregate.

The Fund is invested in bank deposits with Schedule 1 Canadian banks and Government of Canada Bonds (Short Term), which drove its performance over the year.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

There is risk of a recession in 2024. An inverted yield curve has proven to be an accurate leading indicator for recession. This would benefit bond yields overall if the BoC began a monetary easing program by lowering the overnight interest rate and could cause the yield curve to revert to a positive slope. However, if a recession were to occur, it would likely cause credit spreads on corporate and provincial bonds to widen, which would result in underperformance of those asset classes relative to federal government bonds. While the timing and severity of a recession is difficult to predict, some analysts are predicting a soft landing, meaning slower economic growth but with no recession.

In Canada for 2024, the Overnight Index Swap (OIS) curve is pricing in interest rate cuts from the BoC totalling 100 bps starting in April. This would take the BoC's overnight rate from 5.00% to end the year at 4.00%. The U.S. OIS curve is showing a similar outlook, with a total of 140 bps in interest rate cuts forecasted to take the federal funds rate to 4.00% by year-end 2024.

Management Report of Fund Performance for the period/year ended December 31, 2023

In the Fall Economic Statement, the Dept of Finance estimated that the net federal debt to GDP ratio would continue to rise this year and next, from 41.7% to 42.7%. This projection may prove to be a bit optimistic as it assumes no decrease in spending and (as this government has done since elected in 2015) relies on GDP growth to achieve this lower ratio. While not ideal for bond investors, as it ensures increased supply of government bonds (an additional $38.4b by their estimate), the amount of added debt is likely to be manageable and absorbed by the bond market.

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual financial statements.

(2) Management expense ratio is calculated based on expenses charged to the Fund (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets for the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of any underlying fund(s) expenses, if applicable. The Effective HST tax rate is calculated using the attribution percentage for each province based on unitholder residency and can be different from 13%.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund(s), if applicable.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the fiscal period/year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a higher turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of the cost of purchases and the proceeds of sales of portfolio securities for the period/year, and excluding cash and short-term investments maturing in less than one year, and before assets acquired from a merger, if applicable, by the average of the monthly fair value of investments during the period/year.
