RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets decreased by $3.0 million to $57.8 million from March 31, 2023 to September 30, 2023. The Fund had net redemptions of $2.8 million during the period. The portfolio's performance decreased assets by $0.2 million. Series A units returned -0.9% after fees and expenses for the six-month period ended September 30, 2023. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned 3.9%. The benchmark is the MSCI World Total Return Index (the Benchmark or the Index).

The performance of the Fund's other Series is substantially similar to that of Series A units, except for differences in the structure of fees and expenses. For the returns of the Fund's other Series, please refer to the "Past Performance" section.

During the second quarter of 2023, Europe remained pressured by an uncertain economic recovery and war in the eastern part of the continent, while Japan performed well in local-currency terms, offset by weakness in the yen. A sluggish recovery in China weighed on emerging markets. Investors showed significant enthusiasm about stocks related to artificial intelligence.

International equities rebounded in July 2023 on a combination of strong U.S. economic data, easing inflationary pressures, and better-than-expected earnings reports. August was marked by market volatility that persisted through September, and international equities declined sharply. The higher-for-longer interest rate theme, coupled with ongoing inflationary concerns, continued through the end of the third quarter of 2023. As expected, the U.S. Federal Reserve Board held interest rates steady but indicated one more increase this year, pressuring U.S. financial markets. Muted economic data out of Europe, including indications of negative gross domestic product growth and weak manufacturing, pressured European markets. Japanese stocks outperformed as the Bank of Japan maintained a monetary easing stance. Weakness in Chinese stocks, concerns about rising default risks in China, and a strong U.S. dollar drove weakness in emerging markets.

The Fund underperformed its benchmark for the period. Security selection within the information technology, consumer discretionary and industrials sectors detracted from the Fund's performance. The largest individual detractors from the Fund's performance were holdings in Advance Auto Parts Inc., Willis Towers Watson PLC, and Heineken NV. Advance Auto Parts Inc. was negatively impacted by poor inventory management and a botched direct sourcing initiative, which caused the company's margins to plummet. With management in transition and operating performance looking set to continue, we sold the Fund's position in the company. Willis Towers Watson PLC reported improving growth momentum, but this was offset by disappointing free cash flow trends. The company's management also backed off its long-term margin targets, leading to a loss of credibility. Shares of Heineken NV, along with the rest of companies in the consumer staples sector, were pressured by post-COVID-19 pandemic adjustments. Price increases to offset rising raw material costs put pressure on volumes. Rising interest rates negatively impacted the company's generally robust dividend yields. Heineken NV's volumes were further affected by macroeconomic weakness in one of its most profitable markets, Vietnam.

Stock selection in the real estate sector contributed to the Fund's performance, as did an underweight exposure to the utilities sector. Top individual contributors to the Fund's performance included holdings in Charter Communications Inc., Comcast Corp. and TotalEnergies SE. U.S. cable businesses Charter Communications Inc. and Comcast Corp. both benefited from increased confidence that their cable broadband revenues can continue to deliver growth despite increased competition from fiber and fixed wireless access. TotalEnergies SE saw its shares appreciate alongside higher oil and gas prices and refining margins, which should lead to higher earnings from oil and gas production and refining. Despite dramatic improvements to capital discipline and returns, the company's shares continue to trade at depressed valuations versus both history and U.S. peers.

We added a new position in Suzuki Motor Corp., a Japan-based global auto manufacturer with strong market positions in Japan, India and several emerging markets countries. After a period of record-high raw material costs, depressed auto demand and market share pressures in India, the company's profits are set to rebound. Avenues for further growth include the normalization of auto demand in Japan and rising penetration throughout the emerging markets. Net cash on the balance sheet provides optionality should internal or external investment opportunities arise.

A position in Japan Exchange Group Inc. was eliminated from the Fund after a period of rising cost pressures and poor market data monetization for the company. Despite the poor fundamental performance, the company's shares rebounded sharply amid robust trading activity and reached our intrinsic value. For these reasons, we sold the shares in favour of other ideas.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Heading into corporate earnings season, rising oil prices and wage pressures could contribute to persistent market volatility. This level of uncertainty may also weigh on early corporate forecasts for 2024. Against this uneven backdrop, we maintain a long-term focus, and we will continue to capitalize on opportunities that arise from near-term volatility.

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's semi-annual and annual financial statements.

(2) Management expense ratio is calculated based on expenses charged to the Fund (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets for the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of any underlying fund(s) expenses, if applicable. The Effective HST tax rate is calculated using the attribution percentage for each province based on unitholder residency and can be different from 13%.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund(s), if applicable.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the fiscal period/year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a higher turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of the cost of purchases and the proceeds of sales of portfolio securities for the period/year, and excluding cash and short-term investments maturing in less than one year, and before assets acquired from a merger, if applicable, by the average of the monthly fair value of investments during the period/year.

(5) This information is provided for the period(s)/year(s) ended September 30, 2023 and March 31.
