INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGIES

The investment objective of the CI Global Enhanced Government Bond Private Pool (the Fund) is to provide long-term total returns through interest income and capital appreciation by primarily investing in government debt.

The Fund will invest primarily in government debt but may also invest in other debt instruments across the credit spectrum, including but not limited to investment grade corporate debt, high-yield corporate debt, government debt futures, convertible debentures and credit derivatives.

The Fund will be well-diversified by geography and industry to reduce portfolio risk and may from time to time deploy limited hedging of interest rates and credit spreads. The portfolio advisor also has full flexibility with regards to duration positioning and will seek to provide optimal exposure through changing market conditions.

The portfolio advisor uses a combination of top-down macroeconomic analysis involving the assessment of economic, political and market trends, and a bottom-up company and security level analysis to assess a company's ability to generate cash and meet interest and principal payment obligations on its debt securities.

In respect of corporate debt, the portfolio advisor focuses on a company's industry position, operating leverage, management strength and experience, historical earnings, future projections, liquidity profile and accounting ratios and practices.

For a complete discussion of the Fund's investment objective and strategies, please refer to the Fund's most recently filed simplified prospectus.

RISK

No changes affecting the overall level of risk associated with investing in the Fund were made during the period/year. The risks of the Fund remain as discussed in the Fund's most recently filed simplified prospectus or its amendments. The Manager reviews the risk rating for the Fund on an annual basis, at a minimum, based on the methodology mandated by the Canadian Securities Administrators to determine the risk level of the Fund. Any change to the risk rating made during the period/year was as a result of such review and was not a result of any change to the investment objective, strategies or management of the Fund.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets increased by $14.6 million to $39.6 million from March 31, 2022 to March 31, 2023. The Fund had net sales of $15.8 million during the year. The portfolio's performance decreased assets by $0.7 million. The Fund paid distributions totalling $0.5 million. Series A units returned -2.4% after fees and expenses for the one-year period ended March 31, 2023. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned -1.6%. The benchmark is the J.P. Morgan Global Government Bond Total Return Index (the Benchmark or the Index).

The performance of the Fund's other Series is substantially similar to that of Series A units, except for differences in the structure of fees and expenses. For the returns of the Fund's other Series, please refer to the "Past Performance" section.

Over the year, central banks tightened monetary policy at the fastest pace in over 40 years to fight elevated and persistent inflation. This tighter monetary policy was a challenge across asset classes with government bonds, corporate debt and equities all suffering significant losses.

The U.S. Federal Reserve Board (Fed) raised interest rates by 75 basis points (bps) four times in a row. The Bank of Canada raised interest rates by 100 bps in July 2022, while the European Central Bank hiked interest rates by at least 50 bps in four straight meetings. Markets drove government bond yields higher, pushing the Fed's terminal federal funds rate over 5%.

In the latter part of the year, weaker economic data indicated that tighter monetary policy may be achieving the desired growth slowdown that would reduce inflationary pressures. Investors began to anticipate a deceleration or pause in monetary policy tightening. However, labour markets continued to show strength, and central banks remained steadfast in their messaging that combating inflation requires further tightening.

More recently, several U.S. regional banks experienced pressure from depositor withdrawals. The largest, SVB Financial Group, was put into receivership. To reduce contagion fears, regulators swiftly provided liquidity backstops and, extraordinarily, made customers whole on their uninsured deposits at SVB Financial Group. Policy-makers were able to solve liquidity issues, but banks still faced increased funding costs. Higher short-term interest rates have resulted in customers moving their money from low-interest bank accounts to money market mutual funds yielding greater than 5%. In addition, the Fed's quantitative tightening program and fears of bank solvency have reduced banks' liquidity. Under these conditions, banks will require higher hurdles to lend, creating a drag on the economy.

The Fund underperformed its benchmark for the year. Currency exposure was the primary detractor from the Fund's performance for the year. The Fund's lower duration (sensitivity to interest rates) than its benchmark contributed to performance.

The Fund's duration steadily increased over the year from 5.6 to 6.8 years. The Fund's duration was tactically increased several times as interest rates backed up and was reduced on rebounds. The Fund's exposure to corporate credit was generally reduced with some tactical increases throughout the year. The Fund's exposure to corporate credit also became more concentrated in the front end of the yield curve.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

We believe central banks will likely keep interest rates at a restrictive level as inflation remains above target, leading to an economic downturn and a challenging market environment for riskier assets. The banking system issues experienced in March 2023 should raise the probability of a recession.

Volatile markets should persist as central banks and market participants evaluate the follow-through from the banking stresses versus the persistent strength of inflation data. Worryingly, if banking stresses do cause a contraction in growth, the Fed may be unable to implement the required solutions unless core inflation decreases rapidly.

We are prepared to take advantage of volatility by tactically adding to the Fund's duration on interest rate increases and reducing when interest rates fall. We are cautious regarding riskier assets based on valuations and the likelihood they will suffer a substantial drawdown in a recession. We will maintain the Fund's duration exposure while generating additional carry from short-duration, high-quality fixed-income securities. We will also rotate within asset classes based on relative value opportunities as investor sentiment shifts.

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual financial statements.

(2) Management expense ratio is calculated based on expenses charged to the Fund (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets for the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of any underlying fund(s) expenses, if applicable. The Effective HST tax rate is calculated using the attribution percentage for each province based on unitholder residency and can be different from 13%.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund(s), if applicable.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the fiscal period/year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a higher turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of the cost of purchases and the proceeds of sales of portfolio securities for the period/year, and excluding cash and short-term investments maturing in less than one year, and before assets acquired from a merger, if applicable, by the average of the monthly fair value of investments during the period/year.

(5) This information is provided for the period(s)/year(s) ended March 31.
