RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets increased by $0.9 million to $29.2 million from March 31, 2024 to September 30, 2024. The Fund had net redemptions of $1.2 million for the period. The portfolio's performance increased assets by $2.0 million. The Fund paid distributions totalling $0.1 million. Series A units returned 7.1% after fees and expenses for the six-month period ended September 30, 2024. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned 9.5%. The benchmark is the MSCI ACWI Index (NTR) (the Benchmark or the Index).

The performance of the Fund's other Series is substantially similar to that of Series A units, except for differences in the structure of fees and expenses. For the returns of the Fund's other Series, please refer to the "Past Performance" section.

The global economy, led by the United States, continued to record steady growth over the period. Although growth moderated, forecasters' fears of a recession were not realized. Within developed economies, inflation continued to decline and as a result, central banks in Canada, Europe and the United States cut interest rates. These interest rate cuts produced a growing belief that cheaper borrowing for governments, companies and individuals would provide some stimulus to the economy and create a "soft landing" where slowing economic growth is managed well and a recession is avoided. In contrast, the Bank of Japan raised its benchmark interest rate, leading to some short-term volatility in financial markets.

Geopolitical fears continued to create concern, with escalating Middle East tensions and the U.S. presidential election contributing to volatility.

The Chinese government's monetary policy stimulus late in September created expectations of more aggressive stimulus from Beijing in the fourth quarter of 2024.

The Fund underperformed its benchmark for the period. Stock selection, particularly in the financials, consumer discretionary and energy sectors, detracted from the Fund's performance. An underweight allocation to the information technology sector and the Fund's overweight cash allocation detracted from the Fund's performance. Exposure to China also detracted from the Fund's performance. The largest individual detractors from the Fund's performance were holdings in BP PLC, Samsonite International SA and Salesforce Inc. BP PLC's share price continued to slide as crude oil prices dropped as demand worries pushed crude oil prices down. Samsonite International SA's stock declined as luxury consumer goods came under pressure amid slowing demand. Salesforce Inc.'s share price dropped significantly after the company released lower-than-expected quarterly earnings, playing into fears that artificial intelligence (AI) could threaten traditional software companies.

Stock selection in the consumer services and industrials sectors contributed to the Fund's performance. An underweight allocation to commodities and overweight allocation to the real estate sector also contributed to the Fund's performance. Commodity prices were affected by a slowing U.S. economy and a lack of fiscal stimulus from China. Real estate benefited from the anticipation of interest rate cuts in the United States. A holding in NVIDIA Corp. was the largest contributor to the Fund's relative performance as interest around AI continued and the company released solid second-quarter 2024 results and a robust outlook. Another contributor to the Fund's performance was a holding in ASICS Corp. The Japanese athletic footwear company continued to grow and take market share despite being in a challenging market segment. New product launches, controlling supply to wholesalers and a better management of discounts have resulted in better margins for the company.

We added two real estate investment trusts, Healthpeak Properties Inc. and Ventas Inc., to increase the Fund's exposure to this interest rate-sensitive sector in anticipation of slowing inflation and further interest rate cuts. We also added to the Fund a new position in Anglo American PLC, a mining conglomerate known for its iron ore, copper, platinum group of metals and diamond holdings. It was added based the company's strategy to unlock shareholder value by spinning non-core assets and on our expectation that base metals should find better support as the Chinese economy regains momentum. Holdings in Samsonite International SA and Salesforce Inc. were eliminated from the Fund. Holdings in NVIDIA Corp. and Alphabet Inc. were trimmed to reduce risk as their valuations continued to rise.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

A number of near-term macroeconomic factors are key for the continuation of an equity rebound in an environment of an overvalued S&P 500 Index. High valuations are not enough to become more defensive in our positioning of the Fund, but they highlight the risk of a sharper correction if negative risks materialize.

CI Global Concentrated Equity Private Pool

Management Report of Fund Performance for the period/year ended September 30, 2024

We will monitor the U.S. labour market for weakness and slowing consumer spending, which became more evident in the third quarter of 2024. U.S. inflation continues to decline towards levels that are consistent with further interest rate cuts by the U.S. Federal Reserve Board, and most other central banks globally are expected to follow or resume with their own monetary easing cycles. The central banks of Japan and Brazil are outliers as both are expected to hike interest rates further.

We expect China to add more economic stimulus early in the fourth quarter of 2024, not only supporting the rebound in Chinese equities but also providing broader support to emerging market equities, global luxury companies and commodity producers.

The Fund is positioned with an underweight exposure to the consumer discretionary sector.

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's semi-annual and annual financial statements.

(2) Management expense ratio is calculated based on expenses charged to the Fund (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets for the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of any underlying fund(s) expenses, if applicable. The Effective HST tax rate is calculated using the attribution percentage for each province based on unitholder residency and can be different from 13%.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund(s), if applicable.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the fiscal period/year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a higher turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of the cost of purchases and the proceeds of sales of portfolio securities for the period/year, and excluding cash and short-term investments maturing in less than one year, and before assets acquired from a merger, if applicable, by the average of the monthly fair value of investments during the period/year.

(5) This information is provided for the period(s)/year(s) ended September 30, 2024 and March 31.
