Introduction to Part B of the Simplified Prospectus

Part B of the simplified prospectus provides specific information about each fund as set out on the cover page and should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. The first section of Part B of the simplified prospectus provides information that is applicable or shared amongst the funds, including an overview of a mutual fund, the types of risks investors should be aware of when investing in a fund, investment strategies and restrictions, material attributes and characteristics of the fund securities offered, history of the funds and the funds' investment risk classification methodology.

What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund?

Building an investment portfolio is one of the most important financial decisions you can make. Choosing the right investments can help you achieve your financial goals, such as preparing for retirement or saving for a child's education.

However, investing successfully can be difficult to do on your own. You need accurate and timely information along with the right experience to build and maintain a portfolio of individual investments.

Mutual funds can make it easier.

A mutual fund brings together many different investors with similar goals. Each investor puts money into the fund. A professional portfolio adviser uses that cash to buy a variety of investments for the fund, depending on the fund's objectives.

When the investments make money, everyone who invests in the fund benefits. If the value of the investments falls, everyone shares in the loss. The size of your share depends on how much you invested. The more you put in, the more securities of the fund you own and the greater your portion of the gains or losses. Mutual fund investors also share the mutual fund's expenses.

Most mutual funds invest in securities like stocks, bonds and money market instruments. The mutual funds also may invest in other mutual funds managed by us or our affiliate, called "underlying funds".

Advantages of mutual funds

Investing in a mutual fund has several advantages over investing in individual stocks, bonds and money market instruments on your own:

- Professional money management. Professional portfolio advisers have the skills and the time to do research and make decisions about which investments to buy, hold or sell.
- Diversification. Investment values are always changing. Owning several investments can improve long-term results because the ones that increase in value can compensate for those that do not. Mutual funds typically hold 30 or more different investments.
- Accessibility. You can sell your investment back to the mutual fund at any time. This is called a "redemption", and in some cases may result in a redemption fee or a short-term trading fee. With many other investments, your money is locked in or you have to find a specific buyer before you can sell.
- Record keeping and reporting. Mutual fund companies use sophisticated record keeping systems and send you regular financial statements, tax slips and reports.

Mutual funds are not guaranteed

Mutual funds own different types of investments, depending upon the mutual fund's investment objective. The value of these investments will change from day to day, reflecting changes in interest rates, economic conditions and market and company news. As a result, the value of a mutual fund's securities go up and down, and the value of your investment in a mutual fund may be more or less when you redeem it than when you purchased it.

While mutual funds have many advantages, it is important to remember that an investment in a mutual fund is not guaranteed. Unlike bank accounts or guaranteed investment certificates, mutual fund investments are not covered by the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government deposit insurer.

Under exceptional circumstances, a fund may suspend your right to sell your investment. See "Purchases, Switches and Redemptions – Suspending your right to sell securities" in Part A of the simplified prospectus for details.

About the Corporate Classes

The Corporate Classes are set up differently than traditional mutual funds. When you invest in most traditional mutual funds, such as our trust funds, you buy units of an investment trust. Each Corporate Class instead is one or more classes of convertible special shares of CI Corporate Class Limited, which means you buy shares of the corporation. Each Corporate Class is a single fund.

Some Corporate Classes have the same or similar investment objectives as a trust fund. As a result, you may have the option to invest in either a Corporate Class or the equivalent trust fund depending on which is more suitable to your investment program.

Both investment trusts and mutual fund corporations allow you to pool your money with other investors, but there are differences between the two types of mutual funds:

- An investment trust has its own investment objectives. A mutual fund corporation may have more than one class of shares (or corporate fund) and each class has its own investment objectives.
- Each investment trust computes the income from its investment activities separately. In contrast, as each corporate fund is part of the mutual fund corporation, the tax consequences of investing in a particular corporate fund may be affected by both the investment activities of the corporate fund and the investment activities of the corporation's other corporate funds.
- While an investment trust may pay taxable distributions of particular types of income and can generally eliminate its liability for tax by distributing all its income, a mutual fund corporation cannot. This has two principal consequences to securityholders: (a) taxable distributions paid to securityholders in a corporate fund will consist of ordinary dividends or capital gains dividends, but not other sources of income such as interest or foreign-source income; and (b) if the mutual fund corporation's income exceeds its deductible expenses and non-capital losses, it will be subject to income tax. In an investment trust, such net income would be distributed to securityholders and taxed in their hands at their marginal tax rates.

Risk and potential return

As with most other investments, mutual funds come with a certain amount of risk. Mutual funds own different types of investments, depending on their investment objectives. The value of the investments in a mutual fund changes from day to day because of changes in interest rates, economic conditions and market or company news. As a result, the value of mutual fund securities will vary. When you sell your securities of a fund, you could get less money than you put in.

The amount of risk depends on the kind of fund you buy. Money market funds generally have low risk. They hold relatively safe short-term investments such as government treasury bills and other high quality money market instruments. Income funds, which typically invest in bonds, have a higher amount of risk because their prices can change when interest rates change. Equity funds generally have the highest risk because they invest mostly in stocks whose prices can rise and fall daily.

Before you invest in a mutual fund, you need to decide what level of risk you are comfortable with. The answer depends in part on the kind of returns you expect. Generally, higher risk investments have a higher potential for gains and losses, while lower risk investments have a lower potential for gains and losses.

Another important factor is time. Think about how soon you will need the money. If you are saving to buy a house in the near future, you will probably want a lower risk investment to reduce the chance of the fund value dropping just when you need the cash. If you are investing for retirement in 20 years, your investment horizon is much longer. You may be able to afford to put more emphasis on equity funds because there is more time for equity funds to recover if prices should fall.

But potential return and your time horizon are not the only yardsticks for successful investing. Your choice of mutual fund also depends on how you feel about risk. An investor who checks fund prices every week and worries when investments temporarily lose value has low risk tolerance. If that describes you, you might be more comfortable with money market funds, bond funds, balanced funds and perhaps very conservative equity funds. An investor who is willing to take on more risk might prefer a higher proportion of equity funds or more aggressive mutual funds that specialize in one industry or country.

Below are some of the most common risks that affect value. To find out which of these specific risks apply to a fund you are considering, see the individual fund descriptions in Part B of the simplified prospectus.

Types of risk

Each fund is subject to “changes in legislation risk”, “cyber security risk”, “foreign markets risk” (other than CI High Interest Savings Fund, CI Money Market Fund, CI Money Market Corporate Class and CI Select Staging Fund), “global financial developments risk”, “large redemption risk”, “market risk”, “operational risk”, “securities lending risk” (other than CI High Interest Savings Fund), “series risk”, “tax risk”, “underlying fund risk” and “withholding tax risk” (other than CI High Interest Savings Fund) (as described below). Each fund, other than money market funds, is also subject to “currency risk”, “currency hedging risk” (other than CI Global Smaller Companies Private Pool), “derivatives risk”, “exchange-traded fund risk” (other than CI High Interest Savings Fund which would be subject to such risk), “liquidity risk” and “short selling risk” (as described below). Each Corporate Class is subject to “corporate class risk”. In addition, all Series AT5, AT6, AT8, ET5, ET8, EFT5, EFT8, FT5, FT8, IT5, IT8, OT5, OT8, PT5, PT8, UT6, WT5 and WT8 securities have “capital depletion risk” (as described below). Each of Series AH, Series FH, Series IH and Series PH (each a “Hedged Series”) of a fund is also subject to “hedged series risk”. Each fund listed in the “Responsibility for Mutual Fund Administration – Portfolio Sub-Advisers” section in Part A of the simplified prospectus is also subject to “sub-adviser risk”. All ESG Branded Funds and ESG Integrated Funds as listed under “What does the fund invest in? - Responsible Investing” are subject to “ESG investment / consideration risk”.

The more-specific information in the individual fund descriptions in Part B of the simplified prospectus indicates which of the other investment risks listed below apply (or may apply) to each fund:

Capital depletion risk

Some mutual funds and/or some series of a mutual fund may make distributions comprised in whole or in part, of return of capital. A return of capital distribution is a return of a portion of an investor’s original investment and may, over time, result in the return of the entire amount of the original investment to the investor. This distribution should not be confused with yield or income generated by a fund. Return of capital distributions that are not reinvested will reduce the net asset value of the fund, which could reduce the fund’s ability to generate future income. You should not draw any conclusions about the fund’s investment performance from the amount of this distribution. In respect of T-Series Securities (as defined in “Purchases, Switches and Redemptions – About different types of securities” in Part A of the simplified prospectus), each applicable fund has a policy to make monthly distributions of a return of capital to securityholders of such series. On the shares of a Corporate Class, return of capital can only be distributed to the extent that there is a positive balance in the paid-up capital account of the series on which the distribution is made. To the extent that the balance in the capital account becomes, or is at risk of becoming, zero, monthly distributions may be reduced or discontinued without prior notice, otherwise the distributions will become taxable. For more information on the tax implications of return of capital distributions, please refer to the section entitled “Income Tax Considerations – Income Tax Considerations for Investors” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

Changes in legislation risk

There can be no assurance that tax, securities and other laws or the interpretation and application of such laws by courts or government authorities will not be changed in a manner which adversely affects a mutual fund’s securityholders.

Change in value

Although a fund intends to maintain a constant price or value for its securities, there is no guarantee that the securities’ price or value will not rise or fall.

Commodity risk

Some funds may invest directly or indirectly in commodities, or gain exposure to commodities by investing in companies engaged in commodity-focused industries or by using exchange-traded funds. Commodity prices can fluctuate significantly in short time periods, which will have a direct or indirect impact on the value of the fund. Commodity prices can change as a result of a number of factors including supply and demand, government and regulatory matters, speculation, international monetary and political factors, central bank activity and changes in interest rates and currency values. Direct investments in bullion may generate higher transaction and custody costs.

Concentration risk

Some funds may hold significant investments in a few issuers, rather than investing the fund’s assets across a large number of issuers. In some cases, more than 10% of the net assets of the fund may be invested in securities of a single issuer as a result of appreciation in value of such investment and/or the liquidation or decline in value of other investments. The investment portfolios of these funds can be less diversified. As a result, some funds may be more susceptible to any single economic, political or regulatory occurrence than diversified funds investing in a broader range of issuers. Further, a decline in the market value of one of a fund’s investments may affect a fund’s value more than if the fund was a diversified fund.

Corporate class risk

Each Corporate Class has its own assets and liabilities, which are used to calculate its value. Legally, the assets of each Corporate Class are considered the property of CI Corporate Class Limited and the liabilities of each Corporate Class are considered obligations of CI Corporate Class Limited. That means if any Corporate Class cannot meet its obligations, the assets of the other Corporate Classes may be used to pay for those obligations.

A mutual fund corporation, like an investment trust, is permitted to flow through certain income to investors but in the form of dividends rather than distributions. These are capital gains and dividends from taxable Canadian corporations. However, unlike an investment trust, a mutual fund corporation cannot flow through other income including interest, trust income, foreign source dividends and certain income from derivatives. If this type of income, calculated for CI Corporate Class Limited as a whole, is greater than the expenses of CI Corporate Class Limited and other tax deductible amounts, then CI Corporate Class Limited will be liable to pay income tax. While income tax is calculated for CI Corporate Class Limited as a whole, any amount payable will be allocated among the Corporate Classes.

Credit risk

When a company or government issues a fixed income security, it promises to pay interest and repay a specified amount on the maturity date. Credit risk is the risk that the company or government will not live up to that promise. Credit risk is lowest among issuers that have good credit ratings from recognized credit rating agencies. The riskiest fixed income securities are those with a low credit rating or no credit rating at all. These securities usually offer higher interest rates to compensate for the increased risk.

Currency risk

When a fund or its underlying fund buys an investment priced in a currency other than the fund's base currency ("foreign currency") and the exchange rate between the base currency of the fund and the foreign currency changes unfavourably, it could reduce the value of the fund's investment. Of course, changes in the exchange rate can also increase the value of an investment. For example, if the U.S. dollar falls in value relative to the Canadian dollar, a U.S. dollar-denominated investment will be worth less for a fund based in Canadian dollars. On the other hand, if the U.S. dollar rises in value relative to the Canadian dollar, a U.S. dollar-denominated investment will be worth more for a fund based in Canadian dollars.

As a portion of a fund's portfolio may be invested in securities traded in currencies other than the base currency, the net asset value of the fund when measured in the fund's base currency, will, to the extent this has not been hedged against, be affected by changes in the value of the foreign currencies relative to the base currency.

Currency hedging risk

The use of currency hedges by a fund involves special risks, including the possible default by the other party to the transaction, illiquidity and, to the extent the Manager and/or portfolio sub-advisers' assessment of certain market movements is incorrect, the risk that the use of hedges could result in losses greater than if the hedging had not been used. Hedging arrangements may have the effect of limiting or reducing the total returns to the fund or a series of the fund, if the Manager and/or portfolio sub-advisers' expectations concerning future events or market conditions prove to be incorrect. In addition, the costs associated with a hedging program may outweigh the benefits of the arrangements in such circumstances.

Cyber security risk

With the increased use of technologies, such as the internet, to conduct business, the fund is susceptible to operational, information security, and related risks through breaches in cyber security. In general, cyber incidents can result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events. Cyber-attacks include, but are not limited to, gaining unauthorized access to digital systems (e.g. through "hacking" or malicious software coding) for purposes of misappropriating assets or sensitive information, corrupting data, or causing operational disruption. Cyber-attacks may also be carried out in a manner that does not require gaining unauthorized access, such as causing denial-of-service attacks on websites (i.e. efforts to make network services unavailable to intended users). Cyber incidents affecting a fund, us in our capacity as manager or a fund's service providers (including, but not limited to, the fund's custodian) have the ability to cause disruptions and impact each of their respective business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses, interference with the calculation of the net asset value ("NAV") of the fund or a series of the fund, impediments to trading the portfolio securities of the fund, the inability to process transactions in units of the fund, including purchases and redemptions of units of the fund, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or additional compliance costs associated with the implementation of any corrective measures. Similar adverse consequences could result from cyber incidents affecting the issuers of securities in which a fund invests and counterparties with which a fund and underlying funds engages in transactions.

We have established risk management systems designed to reduce the risks to the fund associated with cyber security. However, there is no guarantee that such efforts will succeed. Furthermore, us as the manager and the fund cannot control the cyber security plans and systems of the fund's service providers, the issuers of securities in which the fund invests, the counterparties with which the fund engages in transactions, or any other third parties whose operations may affect the fund or its securityholders.

Debt securities risk

The following risks are associated with investments in debt securities:

- Credit risk

When a company or government issues a fixed income security, it promises to pay interest and repay a specified amount on the maturity date. Credit risk is the risk that the company or government will not live up to that promise. Credit risk is lowest among issuers that have good credit ratings from recognized credit rating agencies. The riskiest fixed income securities are those with a low credit rating or no credit rating at all. These securities usually offer higher interest rates to compensate for the increased risk.

- Interest rate risk

If a fund invests in fixed income securities such as bonds and money market instruments, it is sensitive to changes in interest rates. In general, when interest rates are rising, the value of these investments tends to fall. When rates are falling, fixed income securities tend to increase in value. Fixed income securities with longer terms to maturity are usually more sensitive to changes in interest rates.

- Extension risk

If interest rates rise, repayments of principal on certain debt securities, including, but not limited to, floating rate loans and mortgage-related securities, may occur at a slower rate than expected and the expected maturity of those securities could lengthen as a result. Securities that are subject to extension risk generally have a greater potential for loss when prevailing interest rates rise, which could cause their values to fall sharply.

- Prepayment risk

If a fund invests in debt securities such as floating rate loans and mortgage-related securities, there is a risk that the issuer of a debt security may repay all or a portion of the principal prior to the security's maturity. In times of declining interest rates, there is a greater likelihood that the fund's higher yielding securities will be pre-paid with the fund being unable to reinvest the proceeds in an investment with as great a yield. Prepayments can therefore result in lower yields to securityholders of the fund.

Defaulted securities risk

There is uncertainty in the repayment of defaulted securities (e.g., a security on which a principal or interest payment is not made when due) and obligations of distressed issuers. Such investments entail high risk and have speculative characteristics.

Derivatives risk

Mutual funds may use derivatives to protect against losses from changes in stock prices, exchange rates or market indices. This is called "hedging". Mutual funds may also use derivatives to make indirect investments. For more information about how the funds use derivatives, see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in?".

The use of derivatives comes with a number of risks:

- hedging with derivatives may not always work and it could restrict a mutual fund's ability to increase in value;
- there is no guarantee that a mutual fund will be able to obtain a derivative contract when it needs to, and this could prevent the mutual fund from making a profit or limiting a loss;
- a securities exchange could impose limits on trading of derivatives, making it difficult to complete a contract;
- the other party in the derivative contract might not be able to honour the terms of the contract;
- the price of a derivative might not reflect the true value of the underlying security or index;
- the price of a derivative based on a stock index could be distorted if some or all of the stocks that make up the index temporarily stop trading;
- derivatives traded on foreign markets may be harder to close than those traded in North American markets;
- gains or losses from derivatives contracts may result in fluctuations in a fund's taxable income. As a result, if a fund uses derivatives in a given taxation year, it may have larger or smaller distributions in that taxation year, an inability to make a regular distribution and/or distributions which include a return of capital;
- in some circumstances, investment dealers, futures brokers and counterparties may hold some or all of a mutual fund's assets on deposit as collateral in a derivative contract. This increases risk because another party is responsible for the safekeeping of the mutual fund's assets;

- the Income Tax Act (Canada) (the “Income Tax Act”), or its interpretation, may change in respect of the income tax treatment of derivatives;
- amounts paid by a fund as premiums and cash or other assets held in margin accounts are not otherwise available to the fund for investment purposes and the fund will incur trading costs, including trading commissions and option premiums in connection with transactions in derivatives; and
- in the case of over-the-counter options and forward contracts, there is no guarantee that a market will exist for these investments when a fund wants to close out its position; in the case of exchange-traded options and futures contracts, there may be a risk of a lack of liquidity when the fund wants to close out its options.

In addition, futures markets are highly volatile and are influenced by numerous factors, such as changing supply and demand relationships, governmental programs and policies, national and international political and economic events, and changes in rates and prices. In addition, because of the low margin deposits required in futures trading, a high degree of leverage is typical of a futures trading account. As a result, a relatively small price movement in a futures contract may result in substantial losses to the trader. Futures trading may also be illiquid. Certain futures exchanges do not permit trading in particular contracts at prices that represent a fluctuation in price during a single day’s trading beyond certain specified limits. If prices fluctuate during a single day’s trading beyond those limits (which conditions have in the past sometimes lasted for several days in certain contracts), the trader could be prevented from promptly liquidating unfavourable positions and thus be subject to substantial losses.

Emerging market risk

In emerging market countries, securities markets may be smaller than in more developed countries, making it more difficult to sell securities in order to take profits or avoid losses. The value of mutual funds that buy these investments may rise and fall substantially and fluctuate greatly from time to time.

Equity risk

Equities such as common shares give you part ownership in a company. The value of an equity security changes with the fortunes of the company that issued it. General market conditions and the health of the economy as a whole can also affect equity prices. The price of equity securities of certain companies or companies within a particular industry may fluctuate differently than the value of the overall stock market because of changes in the outlook for those individual companies or the particular industry. Equity-related securities, which give you indirect exposure to the equities of a company, can also be affected by equity risk. Examples of equity-related securities are warrants and convertible securities.

ESG investment / consideration risk

A fund may have a fundamental investment objective based on one or more environmental, social and governance (“ESG”) factors (an “ESG Branded Fund”), or use ESG factors as a specific investment strategy. A fund’s ESG-oriented investment objective or strategy may limit the types and number of investment opportunities available to the fund and, as a result, the fund may underperform the market as a whole, other mutual funds that do not have an ESG focus, or other funds that are ESG-focused but do not include the same ESG factors in their investment objectives or as a specific investment strategy. A fund’s ESG-oriented investment objective or strategy may perform differently compared to similar funds that do not focus on ESG or apply ESG factors. Such funds may forgo opportunities to buy certain securities when it might otherwise be economically advantageous to do so, or may sell securities for ESG reasons when it might otherwise be economically disadvantageous to do so.

Certain funds do not have ESG-related investment objectives or strategies, but material ESG factors are considered, together with other relevant financial and non-financial criteria when making investment decisions. For these funds, or “ESG Integrated Funds”, ESG factors may not be a significant component or a primary driver of the general investment process, but material ESG risks which could impact investment returns are considered. Accordingly, the portfolio adviser may still invest in securities which present ESG risks when they have been taken into account along with other investment criteria.

For ESG Branded Funds and ESG Integrated Funds, the specific ESG factors considered in a fund’s investment process and the extent to which they are considered depend on the fund’s particular investment objectives and strategies. Furthermore, ESG factors are subject to uncertainty, discretion and subjective application. The investment approach of the portfolio adviser may not eliminate the possibility of the fund having exposure to companies that certain investors may perceive to exhibit negative ESG characteristics or poor performance on certain ESG factors. The determination of the ESG factors to apply and the assessment of the ESG characteristics of a company or industry by a portfolio adviser may differ from the factors or assessment applied by others. As a result, securities selected by a portfolio adviser may not always reflect the values or principles of any particular investor.

Funds may use third-party research as well as proprietary research to evaluate the ESG characteristics, risks and opportunities regarding an issuer. Such research information and data may be incomplete, inaccurate or unavailable, resulting in incorrect assessments of the ESG practices of an issuer. Legislative and regulatory changes, market developments and/or changes in data availability and reliability could also materially affect the quality and comparability of such research information and data.

A fund that applies an ESG exclusionary screening strategy may negatively impact its performance for a variety of reasons, including but not limited to, the lack of exposure to a specific sector, undue weight placed on an ESG characteristic, errors or omissions in the data used in the screening process, and technical issues in the implementation of the screening process. A fund may also hold securities of issuers that are added to its ESG exclusion lists following the fund's investment in such securities until such time the fund can appropriately divest of such securities.

ESG and Other Factor-Based Investment Strategy Risk

The types and number of investment opportunities available to a fund or an underlying fund that seeks to maximize exposure to certain target factors, such as ESG, innovation, dividends, low volatility, quality and value, may be limited due to the use of a factor-based investment strategy. Although the target factors are generally considered positive characteristics, they also introduce unique risks. The mathematical and statistical models that guide the disciplined securities selection used in factor-based investing rely on historical and/or other data. Rules-based models can generate unanticipated results that may impact the performance of a fund or underlying fund for a variety of reasons, including when markets behave in an unpredictable manner, errors or omissions in the data used by the model, the weight placed on each factor and/or assumption in the model and technical issues in the design, development, implementation and maintenance of the model. A fund or underlying fund may underperform other funds that do not seek exposure to the particular target factors.

The determination of the criteria to apply when considering a factor (e.g. ESG) and the assessment of a company or industry by an index provider ("Index Provider"), a third party data provider or the Manager may differ from the criteria or assessment applied by someone else. As a result, the companies or underlying funds selected by the Index Provider, a third-party data provider or the Manager may not reflect positive characteristics of the factor or the values of any particular investor.

In addition, for funds or underlying funds that have been designed to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible, the performance of a benchmark or index ("Index"), the Index Providers may be unsuccessful in creating an index composed of issuers that exhibit the target factors. Similarly, for a fund or underlying fund that use an active rules-based investment strategy to target certain factors, the Manager may be unsuccessful in identifying issuers that exhibit the desired factors. The methodology used will generally not eliminate the possibility that the fund or underlying fund may have exposure to factors other than the target factors, including negative factors.

In the case of Index-tracking ETFs ("Index ETFs"), which follow Indexes that are provided by the Index Providers, most or all direct responsible investment decision-making is undertaken by the Index Providers through the creation and maintenance of the various Indexes. A failure by an Index Provider to properly apply a factor, whether through error in the methodology or incomplete data regarding an issuer, could result in an Index ETF holding a security which does not meet the intended target factor. In the case of a fund or underlying fund that is actively managed, the Manager relies on data from various data providers when making securities selections for the fund or underlying fund and errors in data received could also result in a fund or underlying fund holding a security that would not normally be held. An Index's methodology may change from time to time at the discretion of the Index Provider for any reason. The Manager is reliant on the methodology and decision-making of the relevant Index Provider for the securities included in the Index.

Exchange-traded fund (ETF) risk

Certain funds may invest in an underlying fund whose securities are listed for trading on an exchange (an “exchange-traded fund” or “ETF”). The investments of ETFs may include stocks, bonds, gold, silver, and other financial instruments. Some ETFs, known as index participation units (“IPUs”), attempt to replicate the performance of a widely-quoted market index. Not all ETFs are IPUs. While an investment in an ETF generally presents similar risks as an investment in an open-ended, actively-managed mutual fund that has the same investment objectives and strategies, it also carries the following additional risks, which do not apply to an investment in an open-ended, actively-managed mutual fund:

- The performance of an ETF may be different from the performance of the index, commodity or financial measure that the ETF is seeking to track. There are several reasons that this might occur, including: transaction costs and other expenses borne by the ETF; the ETF’s securities may trade at a premium or discount to their NAV; or the ETFs may employ complex strategies, such as leverage, making tracking with accuracy difficult.
- The ability of a mutual fund to realize the full value of its investment in an underlying ETF will depend on the mutual fund’s ability to sell the ETF’s securities on a securities market, and the mutual fund may receive less than 100% of the ETF’s then NAV per security upon redemption. There can be no assurance that an ETF’s securities will trade at prices that reflect their NAV.
- There is no guarantee that any particular ETF will be available or will continue to be available at any time. An ETF may be newly-created or organized, with limited or no previous operating history, and an active trading market for an ETF’s securities may fail to develop or fail to be maintained. In addition, there is no assurance that an ETF will continue to meet the listing requirements of the exchange on which its securities are listed for trading.
- Commissions may apply to the purchase or sale of an ETF’s securities by a mutual fund. Therefore, investments in an ETF’s securities may produce a return that is different than the change in the NAV of such securities.

Foreign investment risk

Investments in foreign companies are influenced by economic and market conditions in the countries where the companies operate. Equities and fixed income securities issued by foreign companies and governments are often considered riskier than Canadian and U.S. investments. One reason for this is that many countries have lower standards for accounting, auditing and reporting. Some countries are less politically stable than Canada and the U.S. and there is often less available information about individual investments. Volume and liquidity in some foreign stock and bond markets are less than in Canadian and the U.S. stock and bond markets and, at times, price volatility can be greater than in the Canadian and U.S. markets. Generally, investments in foreign markets are subject to certain risks and the funds may be adversely affected by, among other things, political upheaval, financial troubles, natural disasters, wars, occupations, economic sanctions, reduced government oversight as compared to Canada, difficulty in enforcing contractual obligations, currency volatility and government intervention in markets. It can be difficult to trade investments on foreign markets and the laws of some countries do not fully protect investor rights. These risks and others can contribute to larger and more frequent price changes among foreign investments. U.S. investments are not considered to have foreign investment risk.

Foreign markets risk

Participation in transactions by a fund may involve the execution and clearing of trades on or subject to the rules of a foreign market. None of the Canadian securities regulatory authorities or Canadian exchanges regulates activities of any foreign markets, including the execution, delivery and clearing of transactions, or has the power to compel enforcement of any rule of a foreign market or any applicable foreign law. Generally, any foreign transaction will be governed by applicable foreign laws. This is true even if the foreign market is formally linked to a Canadian market so that a position taken on a market may be liquidated by a transaction on another market. Moreover, such laws or regulations will vary depending on the foreign country in which the transaction occurs. For these reasons, entities such as the fund may not be afforded certain of the protective measures provided by Canadian legislation or Canadian exchanges. In particular, funds received from investors for transactions by the fund on foreign exchanges may not be provided the same protection as funds received in respect of transactions by the fund on Canadian exchanges.

Global financial developments risk

Significant events in foreign markets and economies can have material impacts on other markets worldwide, including Canada and the United States. Such events could, directly or indirectly, have a material effect on the prospects of a fund and the value of the securities in its portfolio. Global financial markets have experienced a sharp increase in volatility in the last several years. This has been, in part, the result of the revaluation of assets on the balance sheets of international financial institutions and related securities. This has contributed to a reduction in liquidity among financial institutions and has reduced the availability of credit to those institutions and to the issuers who borrow from them. While central banks as well as global governments are attempting to restore much needed liquidity to the global economies, no assurance can be given that the combined impact of the significant revaluations and constraints on the availability of credit will not continue to materially and adversely affect economies around the world. No assurance can be given that this stimulus will continue or that if it continues, it will be successful or, that these economies will not be adversely affected by the inflationary pressures resulting from such stimulus or central banks' efforts to slow inflation. Further, market concerns about the economies of certain European Union countries and their ability to continue to borrow may adversely impact global equity markets. Some of these economies have experienced significantly diminished growth and some are experiencing or have experienced a recession. These market conditions and further volatility or illiquidity in capital markets may also adversely affect the prospects of a fund and the value of a fund's portfolio. A substantial drop in the markets in which a fund invests could be expected to have a negative effect on the fund.

Hedged series risk

Certain funds may offer one or more Hedged Series to hedge against currency fluctuations between the currency of the Hedged Series and the base currency of the fund (i.e. the Canadian-U.S. dollar exchange rate). Hedged Series are substantially hedged using derivative instruments such as forward foreign currency contracts. While it is not the fund's intention, over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise due to factors outside the control of the fund. Where a fund has both a Hedged Series and an equivalent unhedged series, Hedged Series aim to provide investors with a return correlated to the base currency performance of the fund, but they do not offer the exact same return as their equivalent unhedged series of the same fund.

Hedging transactions will be clearly attributable to a specified Hedged Series and, therefore, currency exposures of different Hedged Series may not be combined or offset. Although a fund will maintain separate accounts or book entries with respect to each series of units, separate series of a fund are not separate legal entities and the assets and liabilities between fund series will not be segregated. Accordingly, there is a risk that, under certain circumstances, currency hedging transactions in relation to one Hedged Series could result in assets or liabilities which might affect the net asset value of the other series of the same fund.

High yield risk

Certain funds may invest in high yield securities and other unrated securities of similar credit quality as a part of their investment strategies. Mutual funds that invest in securities of this type may be subject to greater levels of credit and liquidity risk than other mutual funds that do not make such investments. These types of securities can be considered speculative with respect to an issuer's continuing ability to make principal and interest payments. An economic downturn or period of rising interest rates could adversely affect the market for these securities and reduce a fund's ability to sell them. If the issuer of a security is in default with respect to interest or principal payments, a fund may lose its entire investment.

Inflation-indexed bond risk

Inflation-indexed bond risk is the risk that such bonds will change in value in respect to actual or anticipated changes in inflation rates in a manner unanticipated by the fund's portfolio management team or investors generally.

Interest rate risk

Mutual funds that invest in fixed income securities such as bonds and money market instruments are sensitive to changes in interest rates. In general, when interest rates are rising, the value of these investments tends to fall. When rates are falling, fixed income securities tend to increase in value. Fixed income securities with longer terms to maturity are usually more sensitive to changes in interest rates.

Investment trust risk

Some mutual funds invest in real estate, royalty, income and other investment trusts which are investment vehicles in the form of trusts rather than corporations. To the extent that claims, whether in contract, in tort or as a result of tax or statutory liability, against an investment trust are not satisfied by the trust, investors in the investment trust, including mutual funds, could be held liable for such obligations. Investment trusts generally seek to make this risk remote in the case of contract by including provisions in their agreements that the obligations of the investment trust will not be binding on investors personally. However, investment trusts could still have exposure to damage claims such as personal injury and environmental claims. Certain jurisdictions have enacted legislation to protect investors in investment trusts from the possibility of such liability.

Large redemption risk

Some funds may have particular investors who own a large proportion of the NAV of the fund. For example, other institutions such as banks and insurance companies or other mutual fund companies may purchase securities of a fund in connection with their investment offerings, or investors may purchase securities of the funds through their participation in an asset allocation program or model portfolio program. Other retail investors may also have significant holdings of securities of a fund.

Large redemptions by one of these large investors may result in (a) large sales of portfolio securities, impacting market value; (b) increased transaction costs (e.g., commission); (c) capital gains being realized, which may increase taxable distributions to investors; and/or (d) the termination of the fund. If this should occur, the returns of investors (including other funds that invest in such underlying fund) may also be adversely affected. A fund may agree with the large investor to allow for in-kind redemptions, by transferring portfolio assets of an equal value to the large redeeming investor, if assets of the fund cannot be sold at advantageous prices without a significant impact to the fund.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity is a measure of how easy it is to convert an investment into cash. An investment may be less liquid if it is not widely traded or if there are restrictions on the exchange where the trading takes place. Investments with low liquidity can have dramatic changes in value. For example, the funds may invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies; such collective investment schemes are illiquid investments.

Loan risk

Loan risk may arise in any of the following situations:

- if a fund holds a loan through another financial intermediary, or relies on a financial intermediary to administer the loan, its receipt of principal and interest on the loan may be subject to the credit risk of that financial intermediary;
- any collateral securing a loan may be insufficient or unavailable to a fund, because, for example, the value of the collateral securing a loan can decline, be insufficient to meet the obligations of the borrower, or be difficult to liquidate, and the fund's rights to collateral may be limited by bankruptcy or insolvency laws;
- investments in highly leveraged loans or loans of stressed, distressed, or defaulted issuers may be subject to significant credit and liquidity risk;

- a bankruptcy or other court proceeding could delay or limit the ability of a fund to collect the principal and interest payments on that borrower's loans or adversely affect the fund's rights in collateral relating to a loan;
- there may be limited public information available regarding the loan and the relevant borrower(s);
- the use of a particular interest rate benchmark, such as the London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR"), may limit a fund's ability to achieve a net return to unitholders that consistently approximates the average published prime rates of U.S. or Canadian banks;
- the prices of certain floating rate loans that include a feature that prevents their interest rates from adjusting if market interest rates are below a specified minimum level may appreciate less than other instruments in response to changes in interest rates should interest rates rise but remain below the applicable minimum level;
- if a borrower fails to comply with various restrictive covenants that may be found in loan agreements, the borrower may default in payment of the loan;
- if a fund invests in loans that contain fewer or less restrictive constraints on the borrower than certain other types of loans ("covenant-lite" loans), it may have fewer rights against the borrowers of such loans, including fewer protections against the possibility of default and fewer remedies in the event of default;
- transactions in loans may settle on a delayed basis, and a fund may not receive the proceeds from the sale of a loan for a substantial period of time after the sale, which may result in sale proceeds related to the sale of loans not being available to make additional investments or to meet the fund's redemption obligations until potentially a substantial period after the sale of the loans; and
- loans may be difficult to value and may be illiquid, which may adversely affect an investment in a fund.

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that a mutual fund's investments (whether they are equity or debt securities) will go down in value, including the possibility that such investments will go down sharply or unpredictably. Such decline may be based on company-specific developments, industry-specific developments and/or market trends. Several factors can influence market trends, such as general economic conditions, changes in interest rates, political changes, economic sanctions, global pandemics and catastrophic events. All funds and all investments are subject to market risk.

Mortgage-related and other asset-backed securities investment risk

Mortgage-related securities include mortgage pass-through securities, collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMOs"), commercial mortgage-backed securities, mortgage dollar rolls, CMO residuals, stripped mortgage-backed securities ("SMBSs") and other securities that directly or indirectly represent a participation in, or are secured by and payable from, mortgage loans on real property. Collateralized debt obligations include collateralized bond obligations ("CBOs"), collateralized loan obligations ("CLOs") and other similarly structured securities. CBOs and CLOs are types of asset-backed securities. A CBO is a trust which is backed by a diversified pool of high risk, below investment grade fixed income securities. A CLO is a trust typically collateralized by a pool of loans, which may include, among others, domestic and foreign senior secured loans, senior unsecured loans, and subordinate corporate loans, including loans that may be rated below investment grade or equivalent unrated loans.

Mortgage-related and other asset-backed securities often involve risks that are different from or more acute than risks associated with other types of debt instruments. Generally, rising interest rates tend to extend the duration of fixed rate mortgage-related securities, making them more sensitive to changes in interest rates. As a result, in a period of rising interest rates, if the fund holds mortgage-related securities, it may exhibit additional volatility. This is known as extension risk. In addition, adjustable and fixed-rate mortgage-related securities are subject to prepayment risk. When interest rates decline, borrowers may pay off their mortgages sooner than expected. This can reduce the returns of the fund because the fund may have to reinvest that money at the lower prevailing interest rates. The fund's investments in other asset-backed securities are subject to risks similar to those associated with mortgage-related securities, as well as additional risks associated with the nature of the assets and the servicing of those assets. See "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Debt securities risk".

The value of some mortgage- or asset-backed securities may be particularly sensitive to changes in prevailing interest rates. Early repayment of principal on some mortgage-related securities may expose the fund to a lower rate of return upon reinvestment of principal. When interest rates rise, the value of a mortgage-related security generally will decline; however, when interest rates are declining, the value of mortgage-related securities with prepayment features may not increase as much as other fixed income securities. The rate of prepayments on underlying mortgages will affect the price and volatility of a mortgage-related security, and may shorten or extend the effective maturity of the security beyond what was anticipated at the time of purchase. If unanticipated rates of prepayment on underlying mortgages increase the effective maturity of a mortgage-related security, the volatility of the security can be expected to increase. The value of these securities may fluctuate in response to the market's perception of the creditworthiness of the issuers, the underlying borrowers or in the assets backing the securities. Additionally, although mortgages and mortgage-related securities are generally supported by some form of government or private guarantee and/or insurance, there is no assurance that private guarantors or insurers will meet their obligations. In addition, the underlying loans may not be ultimately repaid in full, in some cases leading to holders of mortgage-backed securities not receiving full payments.

One type of SMBS has one class receiving all of the interest from the mortgage assets (the interest-only, or "IO" class), while the other class will receive all of the principal (the principal-only, or "PO" class). The yield to maturity on an IO class is extremely sensitive to the rate of principal payments (including prepayments) on the underlying mortgage assets, and a rapid rate of principal payments may have a material adverse effect on the fund's yield to maturity from these securities.

Operational risk

A fund's day to day operations may be adversely affected by circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the Manager, such as failure of technology or infrastructure, natural disasters or global pandemics that affect the productivity of the Manager's or its service providers' workforce.

Passive management risk

Certain exchange-traded funds and any index funds in which a fund or an underlying fund invests may not be "actively" managed. Passively-managed funds would not necessarily sell a security if the security's issuer was in financial trouble, unless the security is removed from the applicable index being replicated. The passively-managed fund must continue to invest in the securities of the index, even if the index is performing poorly. That means the passively-managed fund won't be able to reduce risk by diversifying its investments into securities listed on other indices. It is unlikely that an underlying fund which uses an indexing strategy will be able to track an index perfectly because the underlying fund has its own operating and trading costs, which lower returns. Indices do not have these costs. As a result, the performance of a passively-managed fund may differ significantly from the performance of an actively-managed fund. This may in turn affect the performance of a fund or an underlying fund that invests in such passively-managed fund.

Real estate investments risk

The value of investments in real estate-related securities, or derivative securities based on returns generated by such securities, will be affected by changes in the value of the underlying real estate held by issuers of such securities. Such changes will be influenced by many factors, including declines in the value of real estate in general, overbuilding, increases to property taxes and operating costs, fluctuations in rental income and changes in applicable zoning laws.

Sector risk

Some mutual funds concentrate their investments in a certain sector or industry in the economy. This allows these mutual funds to focus on that sector's potential, but it also means that they are riskier than funds with broader diversification. Because securities in the same industry tend to be affected by the same factors, sector-specific funds tend to experience greater fluctuations in price. These mutual funds must continue to follow their investment objectives by investing in their particular sector, even during periods when that sector is performing poorly.

Securities lending risk

Certain mutual funds may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions in order to earn additional income. There are risks associated with securities lending transactions, as well as repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions. Over time, the value of the securities loaned under a securities lending transaction or sold under a repurchase transaction might exceed the value of the cash or collateral held by the mutual fund. If the third-party defaults on its obligation to repay or resell the securities to the mutual fund, the cash or collateral may be insufficient to enable the mutual fund to purchase replacement securities and the mutual fund may suffer a loss for the difference. Likewise, over time, the value of the securities purchased by a mutual fund under a reverse repurchase transaction may decline below the amount of cash paid by the mutual fund to the third-party. If the third-party defaults on its obligation to repurchase the securities from the mutual fund, the mutual fund may need to sell the securities for a lower price and suffer a loss for the difference. For more information about how the mutual funds engage in these transactions, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in securities lending transactions”.

Series risk

Mutual funds sometimes issue different series of securities of the same mutual fund. Each series has its own fees and expenses, which the mutual fund tracks separately. However, if one series is unable to meet its financial obligations, the other series are legally responsible for making up the difference.

Short selling risk

Certain mutual funds may engage in a disciplined amount of short selling. A “short sale” is where a mutual fund borrows securities from a lender and then sells the borrowed securities (or “sells short” the securities) in the open market. At a later date, the same number of securities are repurchased by the mutual fund and returned to the lender. In the interim, the proceeds from the first sale are deposited with the lender and the mutual fund pays compensation to the lender. If the value of the securities declines between the time that the mutual fund borrows the securities and the time it repurchases and returns the securities, the mutual fund makes a profit for the difference (less any compensation the mutual fund pays to the lender). Short selling involves certain risks. There is no assurance that securities will decline in value during the period of the short sale sufficient to offset the compensation paid by the mutual fund and make a profit for the mutual fund, and securities sold short may instead increase in value. The mutual fund may also experience difficulties repurchasing and returning the borrowed securities if a liquid market for the securities does not exist. The lender from whom the mutual fund has borrowed securities may go bankrupt and the mutual fund may lose the collateral it has deposited with the lender. The lender may decide to recall the borrowed securities which would force the mutual fund to return the borrowed securities early. If the mutual fund is unable to borrow the securities from another lender to return to the original lender, the mutual fund may have to repurchase the securities at a higher price than what it might otherwise pay.

Each fund that engages in short selling will adhere to controls and limits that are intended to offset these risks by selling short only securities of larger issuers for which a liquid market is expected to be maintained and by limiting the amount of exposure for short sales. The funds will also deposit collateral only with lenders that meet certain criteria for creditworthiness and only up to certain limits. Although some funds may not themselves engage in short selling, they may be exposed to short selling risk because the underlying funds in which they invest may be engaged in short selling.

Small capitalization risk

Capitalization is a measure of the value of a company. It is the current price of a company’s stock, multiplied by the number of shares issued by the company. Companies with small capitalization may not have a well-developed market for their securities, may be newer and may not have a track record or extensive financial resources. As a result, these securities may be difficult to trade, making their prices and liquidity more volatile than those of large companies.

Sovereign debt risk

A fund may invest in sovereign debt securities which are issued or guaranteed by foreign government entities. Investments in sovereign debt are subject to the risk that a government entity may delay or refuse to pay interest or repay principal on its sovereign debt. Some of the reasons for this may include cash flow problems, insufficient foreign currency reserves, political considerations, the size of its debt position relative to its economy or failure to put in place economic reforms required by the International Monetary Fund or other agencies. If a government entity defaults, it may ask the lender for more time to pay, a reduction in the interest rate or for further loans. There is no legal process for collecting sovereign debts that a government does not pay or bankruptcy proceeding by which all or part of sovereign debt that a government entity has not repaid may be collected.

Structured products and structured notes risk

An investment in a structured product, which includes, among other things, collateralized debt obligations, mortgage-backed securities, other types of asset-backed securities and certain types of structured notes, may decline in value due to changes in the underlying instruments on which the product is based. The cash flow or rate of return on the underlying investments may be apportioned among the newly issued securities to create different investment characteristics, such as varying maturities, credit quality, payment priorities and interest rate provisions. The cash flow or rate of return on a structured investment may be determined by applying a multiplier to the rate of total return on the underlying investments or referenced indicator. Application of a multiplier is comparable to the use of financial leverage, a speculative technique.

Holders of structured products indirectly bear risks associated with the underlying investments, index or reference obligation, and are subject to counterparty risk. Structured products are generally privately offered and sold, and thus, are not registered under the securities laws. Certain structured products may be thinly traded or have a limited trading market and may have the effect of increasing a fund's illiquidity to the extent that the fund, at a particular point in time, may be unable to find qualified buyers for these securities. Structured notes are derivative securities for which the amount of principal repayment and/or interest payments is based on the movement of one or more factors. Investments in structured notes involve risks including interest rate risk, credit risk and market risk. Depending on the factor used and the use of multipliers or deflators, changes in interest rates and movement of the factor may cause significant price fluctuations.

Style risk

Certain mutual funds are managed in accordance with a particular investment style. Focusing primarily on one particular investment style (e.g. value or growth) to the exclusion of others may create risk in certain circumstances. For example, if a particular focus is placed on growth investing at a time when this investment style is out of favour in the marketplace, increased volatility and lower short-term returns may result.

Sub-adviser risk

The success of a fund depends on the competency of its portfolio sub-adviser and the portfolio sub-adviser's ability to identify investment opportunities which achieve the fund's objective. This is dependent on the skills of the portfolio sub-adviser's personnel, quantitative analysis and research activities undertaken by the portfolio sub-adviser and on historical relationships between stocks acting in a manner which is consistent with the portfolio sub-adviser's analysis, over time. If the portfolio sub-adviser does not exercise an adequate level of skill, including in the interpretation of the data, the investment process is flawed or inaccurate or any of the historical relationships on which the strategy is based break down, then this may cause losses to the fund.

Tax risk

Corporate Classes Tax Risk

There can be no assurance that tax laws applicable to CI Corporate Class Limited, including the treatment of certain gains and losses as capital gains and losses, will not be changed in a manner which could adversely affect CI Corporate Class Limited or the Corporate Class's securityholders. Furthermore, there can be no assurance that the Canada Revenue Agency ("CRA") will agree with our characterization of the gains and losses of CI Corporate Class Limited as capital gains and losses or ordinary income and losses in specific circumstances. For example, in determining certain

Corporate Classes' income for tax purposes, option premiums received on the writing of covered call options and cash-covered put options by such funds, and any losses sustained on closing out options, will be treated for purposes of the Income Tax Act as capital gains and capital losses in accordance with CRA's published administrative practices. CRA's practice is not to grant advance income tax ruling on the characterization of items as capital or income and no advance income tax ruling has been applied for or received from the CRA. If any transactions of CI Corporate Class Limited are reported on capital account but are subsequently determined by CRA to be on income account, there may be an increase in the net income of CI Corporate Class Limited for tax purposes, which may result in tax payable by CI Corporate Class Limited and may result in an increase in ordinary dividends payable from the Corporate Classes. Such potential liability may reduce NAV per series or NAV per share, as applicable. CI Corporate Class Limited could also be liable for tax under Part III of the Income Tax Act in respect of excessive capital gains dividend elections.

CI Corporate Class Limited may be subject to non-refundable tax on certain income earned by it. Where CI Corporate Class Limited becomes subject to such non-refundable tax, we will, on a discretionary basis, allocate such tax against the NAV of Corporate Classes that make up CI Corporate Class Limited. The performance of an investment in a Corporate Class may be affected by such tax allocation. See "Income Tax Considerations – Income Tax Considerations for Investors" in Part A of the simplified prospectus for more information.

To the extent that CI Corporate Class Limited becomes taxable, this could be disadvantageous for two types of investors: investors in a registered plan and investors with a lower marginal tax rate than CI Corporate Class Limited. Investors in registered plans do not immediately pay income tax on income received, so if CI Corporate Class Limited earned income that is subject to tax, the registered plan will indirectly pay the income tax on such income, which it would not otherwise have paid had it received the income directly on a flow-through basis. The corporate tax rate applicable to mutual fund corporations is higher than some personal income tax rates, depending on the province in which you live and your marginal tax rate. As such, if the income is taxed inside CI Corporate Class Limited rather than distributed to you on a flow-through basis (and you pay the tax), you may indirectly pay a higher rate of tax on that income than you otherwise might.

Trust Funds Tax Risk

Certain funds intend to treat derivatives used to hedge the impact of foreign currency fluctuations relative to the Canadian dollar on capital account provided the portfolio securities are capital property to the fund and there is sufficient linkage. Each of the trust funds (other than CI Canadian Long-Term Bond Pool, CI Canadian Short-Term Bond Pool, CI Global Stock Selection Fund, CI Select Staging Fund, CI Emerging Markets Bond Fund and CI Mosaic ESG Balanced Income ETF Portfolio), currently qualifies as a "mutual fund trust", and is expected to continue to qualify at all material times as a "mutual fund trust" under the Income Tax Act. If any of the trust funds that is a "mutual fund trust" for tax purposes ceases to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" under the Income Tax Act, the income tax considerations described under the section "Income Tax Considerations" in Part A of the simplified prospectus could be materially and adversely different in certain respects. For example, if a trust fund ceases to qualify as a "mutual fund trust", securities of the trust fund may no longer be qualified investments for registered plans under the Income Tax Act. The Income Tax Act imposes penalties on the annuitant of a registered retirement savings plan or registered retirement income fund, the holder of a tax-free savings account, registered disability savings plan or first home savings account, or the subscriber of a registered education savings plan for the acquisition or holding of non-qualified investments.

There can be no assurance that tax laws applicable to the trust funds, including the treatment of certain gains and losses as capital gains and losses, will not be changed in a manner which could adversely affect the trust funds or the securityholders of the trust funds. Furthermore, there can be no assurance that CRA will agree with our characterization of the gains and losses of the trust funds as capital gains and losses or ordinary income and losses in specific circumstances. For example, in determining certain trust funds' income for tax purposes, option premiums received on the writing of covered call options and cash-covered put options by such funds, and any losses sustained on closing out options, will be treated for purposes of the Income Tax Act as capital gains and capital losses in accordance with CRA's published administrative practices. CRA's practice is not to grant advance income tax ruling on the characterization of items as capital or income and no advance income tax ruling has been applied for or received from the CRA. If any transactions of a trust fund are reported on capital account but are subsequently determined by CRA to be on income account, the net income of the fund for tax purposes and the taxable component of distributions to securityholders could increase. Any such redetermination by CRA may result in the fund being liable for additional taxes. Such potential liability may reduce NAV per series or NAV per unit, as applicable. Any such re-determination by the CRA may result in the fund being liable for unremitted withholding taxes on prior distributions made to securityholders who were not resident in Canada for the purposes of the Income Tax Act at the time of the distributions. As the fund may not be able to recover such withholding taxes from the non-resident securityholders whose securities are redeemed, payment of any such amounts by the fund would reduce the NAV of the fund.

In respect of a trust fund, if a trust fund experiences a “loss restriction event”, the fund will: (i) be deemed to have a year-end for tax purposes (which would result in an allocation of the fund’s taxable income at such time to securityholders so that the fund is not liable for income tax on such amounts), and (ii) become subject to the loss restriction rules generally applicable to corporations that experience an acquisition of control, including a deemed realization of any unrealized capital losses and restrictions on their ability to carry forward losses. Generally, a trust fund will be subject to a loss restriction event when a person becomes a “majority-interest beneficiary” of the fund, or a group of persons becomes a “majority-interest group of beneficiaries” of the fund, as those terms are defined in the affiliated persons rules contained in the Income Tax Act, with appropriate modifications. Generally, a majority-interest beneficiary of a trust fund will be a beneficiary who, together with the beneficial interests of persons and partnerships with whom the beneficiary is affiliated, has a fair market value that is greater than 50% of the fair market value of all the interests in the income or capital, respectively, in the fund. A person is generally deemed not to become a majority interest beneficiary, and a group of persons is generally deemed not to become a majority interest group of beneficiaries, of the trust fund, if the trust fund meets certain investment requirements and qualifies as an “investment fund” under the rules.

Underlying fund risk

A mutual fund may pursue its investment objectives indirectly by investing in securities of other funds, including exchange-traded funds, in order to gain access to the strategies pursued by those underlying funds. In doing so, the risks associated with investing in that fund include the risks associated with the securities in which the underlying fund invests, along with the other risks of the underlying fund. There can be no assurance that any use of such multi-layered fund-of-fund structures will result in any gains for a fund. If an underlying fund that is not traded on an exchange suspends redemptions, a fund will be unable to value part of its portfolio and may be unable to redeem securities. In addition, the portfolio adviser could allocate a fund’s assets in a manner that results in that fund underperforming its peers.

U.S. government securities risk

Debt securities issued or guaranteed by certain U.S. government agencies, instrumentalities, and sponsored enterprises, such as the Federal National Mortgage Association (“Fannie Mae”) or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (“Freddie Mac”), are not supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government, and so investments in securities or obligations issued by them involve credit risk greater than investments in other types of U.S. government securities.

Withholding tax risk

A fund may invest in global debt or equity securities. While a fund intends to make investments in such a manner as to minimize the amount of foreign taxes incurred under foreign tax laws and subject to any applicable tax conventions with respect to taxes on income and on capital, investments in global debt or equity securities may subject the fund to foreign taxes on interest or dividends paid or credited to it or any gains realized on the disposition of such securities. The return on the fund’s portfolio will be net of such foreign withholding tax, unless the terms of the securities in such portfolio require the issuers of such securities to “gross-up” payments so that a holder of such securities receives the amount that it would have received in the absence of such withholding tax. There can be no assurances that (i) interest, dividends and gains on securities held in the fund’s portfolio will not be subject to foreign withholding tax, or (ii) the terms of securities held in the fund’s portfolio will provide for the gross-up referred to above.

Canada has entered into tax treaties with certain foreign countries which may entitle the fund to a reduced rate of tax on such income. Some countries require the filing of a tax reclaim or other forms to receive the benefit of the reduced tax rate. Whether or when the fund will receive the tax reclaim is within the control of the particular foreign country. Information required on these forms may not be available (such as securityholder information); therefore, the fund may not receive the reduced treaty rates or potential reclaims. Certain countries have conflicting and changing instructions and restrictive timing requirements which may cause the fund not to receive the reduced treaty rates or potential reclaims. Certain countries may subject capital gains realized by the fund on sale or disposition of certain securities to taxation in that country. If the fund obtains a refund of foreign taxes, the NAV of the fund will not be restated and the amount will remain in the fund to the benefit of the then-existing securityholders.

Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document

Some terms used in the simplified prospectus

We have written this document in plain language, but the simplified prospectus includes financial terms that may be new to you. This section explains a number of these terms.

Bonds - fixed income securities issued by governments and corporations to finance their operations or pay for major projects. When you buy a bond you are in effect lending money to the issuer. In return you receive interest payments and the face amount of the bond on a future date called the maturity date.

Commercial paper - short-term fixed income securities that generally mature in less than one year. They are generally issued by banks, corporations and other borrowers and are usually not backed by any assets.

Common share - an equity security representing part ownership in a company. Common shares usually come with rights such as the right to vote at shareholder meetings.

Convertible securities - bonds, debentures or preferred shares that the owner may exchange for shares of the company.

Debentures - fixed income securities issued by a government or corporation usually backed only by the general credit of the issuer.

Debt securities - debt instrument, such as a government bond, corporate bond, municipal bond or preferred share, that can be bought or sold between two parties and has basic terms defined, such as notional amount, interest rate, and maturity and renewal date. It also includes collateralized securities, such as collateralized debt obligations, CMOs, mortgage-related securities and zero-coupon securities.

Derivative - an investment that derives its value from another investment, which is called the underlying investment. This could be a stock, bond, currency or market index. Derivatives usually take the form of a contract with another party to buy or sell an asset at a later time. Some examples of derivatives are options, futures and forward contracts.

Exchange-traded funds - exchange-traded funds are investment funds whose securities are listed for trading on an exchange.

Equity securities - securities representing part ownership of a company. A typical example is common shares.

Equity-related securities - securities that behave like equity securities. They include warrants and convertible securities.

Family Group - a group of linked accounts (i) belonging to an individual, his or her spouse, parents, children, siblings, grandparents, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and their spouses and (ii) in the names of companies of which any of the individuals in (i) owns more than 50% of the voting equity.

Fixed income securities - securities that generate interest or dividend income, such as bonds, debentures, commercial paper, treasury bills and other money market instruments and preferred shares.

Forward contract - an agreement for the future delivery or sale of a foreign currency, commodity or other asset, with the price set at the time the agreement is made.

Maturity - the date on which a fixed income security repays the face amount of the investment. Also known as the date the security comes due.

Money market instruments - short-term fixed income securities that mature in less than a year. They include government treasury bills, commercial paper and banker's acceptances.

Options - the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell specific securities or properties at a specified price within a specified time.

Preferred share - a security that usually entitles the owner to a fixed dividend ahead of a company's common shares and to a maximum stated dollar value per share if the company is dissolved.

The following is a guide on the various sections under each fund's profile starting on page 132, which also sets out information that is applicable or shared amongst the funds.

Fund details

This section gives you a snapshot of the fund with information such as the fund's creation date, the series of securities it offers and whether its securities are qualified investments for registered plans.

What does the fund invest in?

This section includes the fund's investment objective and the strategies it uses in trying to achieve its objective. Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of securityholders held for that reason. We may change a fund's investment strategies at our discretion without notice or approval.

Investing in underlying funds

All of the funds (other than certain Underlying Funds) may invest in underlying funds, including exchange-traded funds. Each Portfolio and each CI PSS Managed Portfolio invests only in underlying funds, though the proportions held varies based on the risk and potential returns of the fund.

In selecting underlying funds, we assess a variety of criteria, including:

- management style
- investment performance and consistency
- risk tolerance levels
- caliber of reporting procedures
- quality of the manager and/or portfolio adviser.

We review and monitor the performance of the underlying funds in which we invest. The review process consists of an assessment of the underlying funds. Factors such as adherence to the stated investment mandate, returns, risk-adjusted return measures, assets, investment management process, style, consistency and continued portfolio fit may be considered. This process may result in suggested revisions to weightings of the underlying funds, the inclusion of new underlying funds or the removal of one or more underlying funds.

How the funds use derivatives

A derivative is an investment that derives its value from another investment called the underlying investment. This could be a stock, bond, currency or market index. Derivatives usually take the form of a contract with another party to buy or sell an asset at a later time. Some examples of derivatives are options, futures and forward contracts.

All of the funds may use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations. They may use them to:

- hedge their investments against losses from factors like currency fluctuations, stock market risks and interest rate changes
- invest indirectly in securities or financial markets, provided the investment is consistent with the fund's investment objective.

When a fund uses derivatives for purposes other than hedging, it holds enough cash or money market instruments to fully cover its position in the derivative, as required by securities regulations.

How the funds engage in securities lending transactions

Certain funds may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions.

A securities lending transaction is where a fund lends portfolio securities that it owns to a third-party borrower. The borrower promises to return to the fund at a later date an equal number of the same securities and to pay a fee to the fund for borrowing the securities. While the securities are borrowed, the borrower provides the fund with collateral consisting of a combination of cash and securities. In this way, the fund retains exposure to changes in the value of the borrowed securities while earning additional fees.

A repurchase transaction is where a fund sells portfolio securities that it owns to a third party for cash and simultaneously agrees to buy back the securities at a later date at a specified price using the cash received by the fund from the third party. While the fund retains its exposure to changes in the value of the portfolio securities, it also earns fees for participating in the repurchase transaction.

A reverse repurchase transaction is where a fund purchases certain types of securities from a third party and simultaneously agrees to sell the securities back to the third party at a later date at a specified price. The difference between the fund's purchase price for the securities and the resale price provides the fund with additional income.

As indicated above, securities lending, repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions enable the funds to earn additional income and thereby enhance their performance.

A fund will not enter into a securities lending transaction or a repurchase transaction if, immediately thereafter, the aggregate market value of all securities loaned by the fund and not yet returned to it or sold by the fund in repurchase transactions and not yet repurchased would exceed 50% of the net asset value of the fund (exclusive of collateral held by the fund for securities lending transactions and cash held by the fund for repurchase transactions).

How the funds engage in short selling

The funds may short sell as permitted by securities regulations. A short sale by a fund involves borrowing securities from a lender and selling those securities in the open market (or selling short the securities). At a later date, the same number of securities are repurchased by that fund and returned to the lender. In the interim, the proceeds from the first sale are deposited with the lender and the fund pays compensation to the lender on the borrowed securities. If the value of the securities declines between the time that the fund borrows the securities and the time it repurchases and returns the securities to the lender, the fund will make a profit for the difference (less any compensation the fund is required to pay to the lender). Selling short provides the funds with more opportunities for profits when markets are generally volatile or declining.

The funds will engage in short selling only within certain controls and limitations, and within the parameters established in National Instrument 81-102 Investment Funds ("NI 81-102"). Securities will be sold short only for cash and the fund will receive the cash proceeds within normal trading settlement periods for the market in which the short sale is made. All short sales will be effected only through market facilities through which those securities normally are bought and sold. At the time securities of a particular issuer are sold short by a fund, the aggregate market value of all securities of that issuer sold short will not exceed 5% of the total assets of the fund and the aggregate market value of all securities sold short by a fund will not exceed 20% of its total assets. The fund may deposit assets with lenders in accordance with industry practice in relation to its obligations arising under short sale transactions. The fund also will hold cash cover in an amount, including the fund's assets deposited with lenders, that is at least 150% of the aggregate market value of all securities it sold short on a daily marked-to-market basis. No proceeds from short sales will be used by a fund to purchase long positions other than cash cover.

Responsible Investing

CI GAM is a signatory to the United Nations' Principles for Responsible Investment ("UNPRI")¹, which was developed by an international group of institutional investors to reflect the increasing relevance of ESG issues to investment practices.

UNPRI works to understand the investment implications of ESG factors and to support its international network of investor signatories in incorporating these factors into their investment and ownership decisions. As a signatory, CI GAM has, amongst other principles, committed to incorporate ESG factors into its investment analysis, decision-making processes, and ownership practices, including for the funds as described below.

CI GAM believes that the consideration of material ESG factors, alongside traditional and non-traditional factors, in its analysis and portfolio construction can help mitigate risk and enhance a portfolio's risk-adjusted returns. By integrating the consideration of all risks, including ESG, in respect of most of our funds as further described below, we seek to gain a more accurate view of our investments. Examples of issuers with strong ESG performance are:

- Environmental: issuers with solid operating track record with efficient use of resources (e.g. water/waste), protection of biodiversity, without environmental lapses, resilient to climate change, and positioned to leverage opportunities in energy transition;
- Social: issuers that respect human rights and labour standards, have strong diversity practices, safe and decent working conditions, responsible sourcing/supply chains, invest in employee training, and protect personal privacy;
- Governance: issuers with strong business ethics and corporate governance (board structure, executive pay, accounting practices) that ensure protection of shareholder rights.

CI GAM's Responsible Investing Policy and ESG Guidelines direct our investment professionals, including CI Global Investments Inc. ("CI Global"), and inform our process. The governance of our responsible investing practice rests with the Responsible Investing Forum, which handles related strategic, structural and controversial decisions. It is chaired by the Chief Investment Officer and comprises the heads of asset classes, risk, and responsible investing.

CI GAM performs annual reviews of each sub-adviser, including evaluating how they consider ESG factors in their investment process. We encourage, but do not require, sub-advisers to follow CI GAM's Responsible Investing Policy. We conduct due diligence to assess the sub-advisers' overall responsible investment capabilities. Namely, we evaluate their commitments to responsible investing, deployed ESG strategies, data and tools used in ESG analysis and portfolio construction, investee engagement and proxy voting, sustainability disclosures, and ESG governance aspects such as board and executive oversight, internal expertise, policy, and risk controls.

Our responsible investing process includes, for certain funds, one or more of the following strategies:

- ESG Integration: The fund explicitly considers ESG-related factors that are material to the risk and return of the investment, alongside traditional financial factors when making investment decisions. To assess ESG-related factors, we use a range of tools and resources as part of our due diligence process, including company disclosures, research and ratings from specialized third-party ESG data and analytics providers, investment dealers' research, and metrics recommended by the Sustainability Accounting Standards Board. Although ESG-related factors are considered, they are not the primary drivers of our investment process as further described below.
- ESG Thematic investing: The fund aims to invest in sectors, industries, or companies that are expected to benefit from long-term macro or structural ESG-related themes, such as climate change.

- ESG Impact Investing: The fund seeks to generate a positive and measurable environmental or social outcome, in addition to investment returns.
- ESG Stewardship: The portfolio manager may engage with companies on ESG topics via direct discussions with the investee’s management team and/or board of directors, collaborative investors engagement initiatives, proxy voting and shareholder resolutions, among other means. This strategy allows us to seek improvement of ESG performance and/or to gather further information for our investment decisions.
- ESG Screening: The fund excludes or limits certain sectors or types of securities or companies from its portfolio based on certain controversial practices, business activities, societal values or norms-based criteria. For example, CI GAM, acting as the portfolio manager, does not invest in companies that produce or distribute cluster munitions and anti-personnel landmines prohibited in the United Nations Anti-Personnel Landmines Convention and/or the United Nations Convention on Cluster Munitions (“Landmines and Cluster Munitions Screening”).

Please note that the CI GAM’s Responsible Investing Policy and ESG Guidelines set out our general approach to responsible investing, and instruct our investment professionals on how to explicitly, actively and systematically use ESG information in their investment process. While ESG is a significant consideration and/or strategy for some funds, we are not an impact firm and ESG factors are not the primary drivers of our investment process across the firm, nor within the ESG Integrated Funds (as listed below) specifically. As well, certain investment strategies, asset classes or securities within a fund that uses a responsible investing approach (including our ESG Branded Funds and ESG Integrated Funds as described below) may not be subject to an ESG factor review and/or our responsible investing process, such as investments in money market securities, fund of fund investments and derivative positions. The Manager and the portfolio manager retain the ability to make decisions in the best interest of the funds, and provided that all material ESG factors have been taken into account, the weight the portfolio manager gives to ESG factors is dependent on the context and the individual portfolio manager’s decision.

Mutual funds offered by CI GAM generally fall within the following three categories:

(1) ESG Branded Funds

ESG Branded Funds incorporate ESG factors as a fundamental objective and generally include an ESG or responsible investment reference in its name, including index funds with ESG benchmarks. There are four ESG Branded Funds in this simplified prospectus:

Fund	Responsible Investing Strategies
CI MSCI World ESG Impact Fund	ESG Impact Investing
CI Mosaic ESG Balanced ETF Portfolio	ESG Integration
CI Mosaic ESG Balanced Growth ETF Portfolio	ESG Integration
CI Mosaic ESG Balanced Income ETF Portfolio	ESG Integration

(2) ESG Integrated Funds

In contrast to ESG Branded Funds, ESG Integrated Funds do not have ESG-related investment objectives. The funds listed below incorporate one or more of the responsible investing strategies described above and consider material ESG factors together with other relevant financial and non-financial criteria when making investment decisions. However, ESG factors are not a significant component of the general investment process and are not currently used as a specific investment strategy for these funds. Integration of ESG factors include consideration of material ESG risks which could impact investment returns, rather than being driven by specific ethical principles or norms. ESG factors are a component of, but not the primary drivers, of the investment process of ESG Integrated Funds, and accordingly, the portfolio manager may still invest in securities which present ESG risks when they have been taken into account along with other investment criteria. The ESG Integrated Funds that are advised by the Manager and CI Global are as follows:

For the above funds, which are sub-advised by Altrinsic, Black Creek, Marret and Picton, the Landmines and Cluster Munitions Screening is applicable to them. As discussed above, we encourage, but do not require, sub-advisers to follow CI GAM's Responsible Investing Policy.

(3) Other Funds

The third category of funds managed by CI GAM do not aim to incorporate CI GAM's Responsible Investing Policy into their investment decision-making process (including not incorporating Landmines and Cluster Munitions Screening), generally due to their asset class or investment strategies not lending themselves to ESG factor consideration. These funds include money market funds, passive index funds, cryptocurrency funds, commodity-based funds, covered call funds, and fund-of-funds strategies where the portfolio manager does not have a comprehensive view of the underlying securities.

Investment Restrictions

Except as described below, each of the funds is subject to and follows the investment restrictions and requirements outlined in securities legislation, including NI 81-102 of the Canadian securities administrators. This helps to ensure that each fund's investments are diversified and relatively easy to trade. They also ensure proper administration of the funds.

IRC Approved Transactions

Each fund has received permission from its independent review committee (the "IRC") to (and may from time to time):

- invest in equity and debt securities ("related party investments") of CI Financial Corp. ("related party"), and
- trade in portfolio securities with other mutual funds managed by the Manager or any of its affiliates ("inter-fund transfers").

Related party investments must comply with the rules relating thereto contained in National Instrument 81-107 Independent Review Committee for Investment Funds ("NI 81-107") of the Canadian securities administrators. Additionally, among other matters, the Manager or the funds' portfolio sub-adviser(s) must certify that the related party investment (i) represented the business judgment of the Manager or the portfolio sub-adviser uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interests of the funds and was, in fact, in the best interests of the funds, (ii) was made free from any influence by the related party or any affiliate or associate thereof (other than the Manager) and without taking into account any consideration relevant to the related party or any associate or affiliate thereof, and (iii) was not part of a series of transactions aiming to support or otherwise influence the price of the securities of the related party or related to another form of misconduct.

Inter-fund transfers are subject to the rules relating thereto contained in NI 81-107. Additionally, among other matters, an inter-fund transfer cannot be intended to (i) smooth out or influence performance results, (ii) realize capital gains or losses, (iii) avoid taxable or distributable income or dividends, or (iv) artificially maintain or otherwise manipulate market prices of the portfolio security.

Tax Related Investment Restrictions

A trust fund will not make an investment or conduct any activity that would result in the trust fund (i) failing to qualify as a "unit trust" or "mutual fund trust" within the meaning of the Income Tax Act or (ii) being subject to the tax for "SIFT trusts" for purposes of the Income Tax Act; or (iii) if it is or becomes a "registered investment" for purpose of the Income Tax Act acquiring an investment which is not a "qualified investment" under the Income Tax Act if, as a result thereof, the trust fund would become subject to a material amount of tax under Part X.2 of the Income Tax Act. In addition, a trust fund will not (i) make or hold any investment in property that would be "taxable Canadian property" (if the definition of such term in the Income Tax Act were read without reference to paragraph (b) thereof) if more than 10% of the fund's property consisted of such property.

None of the Corporate Classes will make an investment or conduct any activity that would result in CI Corporate Class Limited failing to qualify as a "mutual fund corporation" within the meaning of the Income Tax Act.

In addition, none of the funds will (i) invest in or hold (a) securities of or an interest in any non-resident entity, an interest in or a right or option to acquire such property, or an interest in a partnership which holds any such property if the fund (or the partnership) would be required to include significant amounts in income pursuant to section 94.1 of the Income Tax Act, (b) an interest in a trust (or a partnership which holds such an interest) which would require the fund (or the partnership) to report significant amounts of income in connection with such interest pursuant to the rules in section 94.2 of the Income Tax Act, or (c) any interest in a non-resident trust other than an “exempt foreign trust” for the purposes of section 94 of the Income Tax Act (or a partnership which holds such an interest); (ii) invest in any security that would be a “tax shelter investment” within the meaning of section 143.2 of the Income Tax Act; or (iii) invest in any security of an issuer that would be a “foreign affiliate” of the fund for purposes of the Tax Act.

In addition, a fund may not enter into any arrangement (including the acquisition of securities for its portfolio) where the result is a “dividend rental arrangement” for the purposes of the Income Tax Act, and a fund may not engage in securities lending that does not constitute a “securities lending arrangement” for purposes of the Income Tax Act.

None of the funds will engage in any undertaking other than the investment of its fund property for purposes of the Income Tax Act. Each of the funds which is or becomes a registered investment will not acquire an investment which is not a “qualified investment” under the Income Tax Act if, as a result thereof, the fund would become subject to a material amount of tax under Part X.2 of the Income Tax Act.

The funds have not deviated in the last year from the provisions of the Income Tax Act that are applicable to the funds in order for the securities of the funds to be either qualified or registered investments.

Additional investment restrictions specific to a particular fund are described in its fund profile.

Description of Securities Offered by the Mutual Funds

As an investor, you have the right to share in any distributions (other than management fee distributions and distributions paid in respect of a different series of securities that are intended to constitute a return of capital) that the funds (other than the Corporate Classes) make. As an investor in a Corporate Class, you have the right to share in any dividends that are declared and any capital that is returned through a distribution on the series of shares of the Corporate Class you hold. You can sell your securities and transfer or convert from one fund to another fund at any time. If a fund stops operating, you have the right to share in the fund’s net assets after it has paid any outstanding debts. You can pledge your securities as security, but you may not transfer or assign them to another party. Pledging securities held in a registered plan may result in adverse tax consequences.

You are entitled to receive notice of unitholder and shareholder meetings, where you will have one vote for each whole unit or share you own. You have the right to vote on the following matters:

- a change in the method of calculating, or the introduction of, a fee or expense charged to the fund if the change could increase the charges to the fund or its securityholders
- appointment of a new manager, unless the new manager is an affiliate of the current manager
- a change in the fund’s fundamental investment objective
- any decrease in the frequency of calculating the net asset value per unit or share of the fund
- in certain circumstances, a merger with, or transfer of assets to, another issuer if:
 - the fund will be discontinued, and
 - investors in the discontinued fund will become investors in the other issuer
- a merger with, or acquisition of assets from, another issuer if:
 - the fund will continue
 - investors in the other issuer will become investors in the fund, and
 - the transaction would be a significant change to the fund

- a restructuring of the mutual fund into a non-redeemable investment fund or into an issuer that is not an investment fund.

If you hold shares of a Corporate Class, you have the right to vote with the common shareholders of CI Corporate Class Limited on the following matters:

- a material change in the investment management agreement
- a change to the investment manager of the fund, unless the change is made to an affiliate of the investment manager.

The rights, privileges, conditions and restrictions of shares of a Corporate Class may only be changed by a vote of shareholders. If you own securities of any series of a fund, you will be entitled to vote at any meeting of securityholders of that series, for example, to change the management fee payable by that series. You will also be entitled to vote at any meeting called that affects the fund as a whole, for example, to change the fundamental investment objective of the fund. A change to the fundamental investment objective of the fund would require a majority of votes cast at a meeting of securityholders.

Each fund that invests in an underlying fund managed by us or our affiliate will not vote any of the securities it holds of the underlying funds. However, we may arrange for you to vote your share of those securities.

Distribution policy

If a fund pays a dividend or distribution, it will be paid in the same currency in which you hold your fund securities. Generally, dividends and distributions are automatically reinvested, without charges, in additional securities of the same fund unless you ask in writing to have them invested in another mutual fund managed by CI GAM. You can ask to receive your dividends and distributions in cash for funds you hold in non-registered accounts. Cash distributions are not subject to redemption fees. We may change the distribution policy at our discretion. For more information about dividends and distributions, see “Income Tax Considerations – Income Tax Considerations for Investors” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

In addition to the dividends and distributions that will be paid to holders of T-Series Securities at the same time that dividends and distributions are paid to holders of other series of securities of the fund, holders of T-Series Securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions of their Monthly Amount. We determine the Monthly Amount by multiplying the net asset value per share or unit of the series at the end of the previous calendar year (or, if no shares or units of the series were outstanding at the end of the previous calendar year, the date on which the shares or units are first available for purchase in the current calendar year) by 5% for Series AT5, ET5, EFT5, FT5, IT5, OT5, PT5 and WT5 securities, by 6% for Series AT6 units / shares and UT6 securities or by 8% for Series AT8, ET8, EFT8, FT8, IT8, OT8, PT8 and WT8 securities and dividing the result by 12. Each regular monthly cash distribution generally will constitute a tax-free return of capital. See “Income Tax Considerations – Income Tax Considerations for Investors” in Part A of the simplified prospectus for additional information. All regular monthly cash distributions on T-Series Securities will be paid in cash, but investors have the option of requesting that such all or a portion of the distributions be reinvested automatically in additional securities of the funds under the Flexible T-Series service. These regular monthly distributions generally will be paid on or about the last Friday of each month, but are not guaranteed to occur on a specific date and the funds are not responsible for any fees or charges incurred by investors because the funds did not effect a distribution on a particular day.

Year-End Distributions for Trust Funds

If, in any taxation year, after the ordinary distributions, there would remain in the trust funds additional net income or net realized capital gains, the trust funds will be required to pay or make payable such net income and net realized capital gains as one or more special year-end distributions in such year to securityholders as is necessary to ensure that the trust funds will not be liable for non-refundable income tax on such amounts under Part I of the Income Tax Act (after taking into account all available deductions, credits and refunds). Such special distributions may be paid in the form of securities and/or cash. Any special distributions payable in securities of the trust fund will increase the aggregate adjusted cost base of a securityholder’s units.

To the extent that the expenses of the trust fund exceed the income generated by the trust fund in any applicable distribution period, it is not expected that a distribution for that period will be paid.

Several Disclosure

Since many attributes of the funds and their respective securities are identical and because there is a common manager, a single simplified prospectus is being used to offer the securities. However, each fund is only responsible for the disclosure herein relating to it and assumes no responsibility or liability for any misrepresentation relating to any of the other funds.

Name, Formation and History of the Funds

The address of the funds is the same as that of CI Global Asset Management, which is:

15 York Street
Second Floor,
Toronto Ontario M5J 0A3

Some of our funds have been established as classes of shares of CI Corporate Class Limited ("Corporate Classes"). We manage CI Corporate Class Limited, a mutual fund corporation, which was formed by articles of incorporation under the laws of Ontario. Other funds have been established as investment trusts ("Trust Funds") created through declarations of trust under the laws of Ontario. For ease of reference, we refer to each Corporate Class and each Trust Fund as a "fund" and collectively as the "funds". Corporate Classes offer shares and Trust Funds offer units. Units of Trust Funds and shares of Corporate Classes are both referred to as "securities". The year-end of each fund for financial reporting purposes is March 31.

On July 25, 2002, CI Financial Inc. (a predecessor of CI Financial Corp.) acquired Spectrum Investment Management Limited ("Spectrum") and Clarica Diversico Ltd. ("Clarica") and took over the assets of the Spectrum Mutual Funds and the Clarica Mutual Funds. On July 25, 2002, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with Spectrum and Clarica and became the manager of the Spectrum Mutual Funds and the Clarica Mutual Funds.

On October 6, 2003, CI Financial Inc. acquired Synergy Asset Management Inc. ("Synergy") and took over the assets of the Synergy Funds. On October 6, 2003, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with Synergy and became the manager of the Synergy Funds. On January 1, 2009, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with KBSH Capital Management Inc., Lakeview Asset Management Inc. and Rockwater Asset Management Ltd. and continued as CI Investments Inc. On January 1, 2010, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with United Financial Corporation and 2225772 Ontario Limited and continued as CI Investments Inc. On December 15, 2010, CI Investments Inc. acquired Hartford Investments Canada Corp. ("Hartford") and took over the assets of funds managed by Hartford ("Hartford Mutual Funds"). Effective January 12, 2011, Hartford changed its name to Castlerock Investments Inc. On June 30, 2011, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with Castlerock Investments Inc. and continued as CI Investments Inc. On November 29, 2013, CI Financial Corp. acquired a 65% interest in Marret Asset Management Inc. CI Financial Corp. also owns a minority interest in Altrinsic Global Advisors, LLC. On June 1, 2018, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with Sentry Investments Inc. and continued as CI Investments Inc. On July 1, 2019, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with First Asset Investment Management Inc. and continued as CI Investments Inc. On July 1, 2020, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with CI ETF Investment Management Inc. and continued as CI Investments Inc. On July 1, 2021, CI Investments Inc. amalgamated with Lawrence Park Asset Management Ltd. and continued as CI Investments Inc.

Trust Funds

Each of the Trust Funds were established under the laws of Ontario as an investment trust pursuant to an amended and restated master declaration of trust dated April 21, 2020 (as amended from time to time, the “Master Declaration of Trust”). The schedule to the Master Declaration of Trust may be amended from time to time to add a new mutual fund or to add a new series of units, as applicable.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

This section shows the specific risks associated with an investment in the fund, which are in addition to those risks affecting all of the funds and/or specific series of the funds. These risks are described in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”.

Risk classification methodology

We determine the risk level for a fund in accordance with a standardized risk classification methodology in NI 81-102 that is based on the mutual fund's historical volatility as measured by the 10-year standard deviation of the returns of the mutual fund. Standard deviation is a common statistic used to measure the volatility and risk of an investment. Funds with higher standard deviations are generally classified as being more risky. Just as historical performance may not be indicative of future returns, a fund's historical volatility may not be indicative of its future volatility. You should be aware that other types of risk, both measurable and non-measurable, also exist.

Where a fund has offered securities to the public for less than 10 years, the standardized methodology requires that the standard deviation of a reference mutual fund or index that reasonably approximates or, for a newly established fund, is reasonably expected to approximate, the standard deviation of the fund be used to determine the risk rating of the fund. The list of funds that have not offered securities to the public for at least 10 years, and the applicable reference fund or index used to determine the risk rating for each such fund is displayed in the table at the end of this section.

Each fund is assigned an investment risk rating in one of the following categories:

- Low – this level of risk is typically associated with investments in money market funds and Canadian fixed income funds;
- Low to Medium – this level of risk is typically associated with investments in balanced funds and global and/or corporate fixed income funds;
- Medium – this level of risk is typically associated with investments in equity portfolios that are diversified among a number of large-capitalization Canadian and/or international equity securities;
- Medium to High – this level of risk is typically associated with investments in equity funds that may concentrate their investments in specific regions or in specific sectors of the economy; and
- High – this level of risk is typically associated with investment in equity portfolios that may concentrate their investments in specific regions or in specific sectors of the economy where there is a substantial risk of loss (e.g., emerging markets, precious metals).

There may be times when we believe the standardized methodology produces a result that does not reflect a fund's risk based on other qualitative factors. As a result, we may place the fund in a higher risk rating category, as appropriate. We review the risk rating for each fund on an annual basis or if there has been a material change to a fund's investment objectives or investment strategies. As part of our annual review, we also review our investment risk classification methodology and ensure that the reference funds or indices used for our calculations are appropriate.

*On or about May 31st, 2023, we determined that with respect to CI High Yield Bond Fund, the calculation should use its reference fund instead of a reference index, as its reference fund has ten or more years of performance history. Such change in methodology did not result in any risk rating changes and was not the result of changes to the investment objectives, strategies or management of the fund.

The manner in which we identify risks is available on request, at no cost, by calling 1-800-792-9355 or by emailing service@ci.com.

Reference Index Descriptions

The Bank of Canada Treasury Bills One-Month Index measures the performance of One-Month Treasuries issued by the Bank of Canada.

The Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index is a flagship measure of global investment grade debt from 24 local-currency markets. This multi-currency benchmark includes treasury, government-related, corporate and securitized fixed-rate bonds from both developed and emerging markets issuers.

The Bloomberg Global Aggregate Total Return Bond Index is a flagship measure of global investment grade debt from 24 local-currency markets. This multi-currency benchmark includes treasury, government-related, corporate and securitized fixed-rate bonds from both developed and emerging markets issuers.

The Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index is a broad-based flagship benchmark that measures the investment grade, U.S. dollar-denominated, fixed-rate taxable bond market. The index includes Treasuries, government-related and corporate securities, MBS (agency fixed-rate and hybrid ARM pass-throughs), ABS and CMBS (agency and non-agency).

The Canadian Government Bond 3 Month Bill rate is comprised of generic Canadian government bills/notes/bonds. These rates are based on the bid side of the market and are updated intraday.

The FTSE Canada All Corporate Bond Index is a market capitalization-weighted index consisting of investment grade bonds of Canadian corporations, denominated in Canadian dollars, with a remaining term to maturity of at least one year.

The FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index is a market capitalization-weighted index consisting of investment grade, fixed coupon, government and corporate bonds, denominated in Canadian dollars, with a remaining term to maturity of at least one year.

The FTSE Canada Long Term Overall Bond Index is a comprehensive, transparent, rules-based index designed to measure the performance of fixed-rate, investment grade domestic corporate and government bonds denominated in Canadian dollars, that have term to maturity greater than or equal to 10 years. Multiple sector and quality sub-indexes are published. A flagship measure of the Canadian market, the index has more than 60 years of history available.

The FTSE Canada Short Term Overall Bond Index is a market capitalization-weighted index consisting of a broadly diversified range of bonds which may include any or all of federal, provincial, corporate (including certain qualifying asset-backed securities) and municipal bonds. The securities included in the index consist primarily of semi-annual pay fixed rate bonds issued domestically in Canada and denominated in Canadian dollars, with an investment grade rating (as determined by the index provider) and a remaining effective term to maturity of at least one year and less than five years.

The J.P. Morgan Global Government Bond Total Return Index tracks the performance of fixed-rate, local currency treasury bonds issued by a fixed list of 13 core developed markets.

The JPMorgan EMBI Global Diversified Index (USD) is a broad measure of the performance of U.S. dollar-denominated emerging-market debt in the Americas, Europe, Asia, the Middle East and Africa. This index limits the weights of countries with larger amounts of debt by including only a specific portion of their debt outstanding.

The MSCI ACWI ex-U.S. Index captures large and mid-cap representation across 22 of 23 developed market countries (excluding the US) and 26 emerging markets countries. The index covers approximately 85% of the global equity opportunity set outside the US.

The MSCI ACWI Index is a free-float weighted equity index and includes both emerging and developed world markets.

The MSCI Canada ESG Leaders Index is a capitalization-weighted index that provides exposure to companies with high Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) performance relative to their sector peers. MSCI Canada ESG Leaders Index consists of large and mid-cap companies in the Canadian markets. The index is designed for investors seeking a broad, diversified sustainability benchmark with relatively low tracking error to the underlying equity market. The index is a member of the MSCI ESG Leaders Index series. Constituent selection is based on data from MSCI ESG Research.

The MSCI EAFE Index is designed to represent the performance of large- and mid-cap securities across 21 developed markets, including countries in Europe, Australasia and the Far East, excluding the U.S. and Canada. The index is available for a number of regions, market segments/sizes and covers approximately 85% of the free float-adjusted market capitalization in each of the 21 countries.

The MSCI EAFE ESG Leaders Index is a capitalization-weighted index that provides exposure to companies with high Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) performance relative to their sector peers. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of CI Global Leaders Fund is to seek growth of capital by investing primarily in stocks issued by companies worldwide.

Under normal market and economic conditions, the fund will invest a majority of its total assets in common stocks of high quality growth companies worldwide. These companies will be those identified by the fund as leaders in their respective industries as indicated by an established market presence and strong global, regional or country competitive positions.

The fund will invest primarily in a diversified portfolio of common stocks covering a broad range of countries, industries and companies. Securities in which the fund may invest are denominated in many currencies and may trade in markets around the world.

Under normal market and economic conditions, the fund will diversify its investments in securities of companies among a number of different countries throughout the world, which may include Canada. There are no limits on the amount of the fund's assets that may be invested in each country.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund is contained and/or incorporated by reference in its Declaration of Trust. It may be changed by the Manager only with the sanction of a resolution passed by a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of the unitholders of the fund duly convened for that purpose and held in accordance with the applicable provisions of its Declaration of Trust.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Leaders Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Investment strategies

The approach of the portfolio advisor is to invest in globally competitive companies within growing sectors. The portfolio advisor takes a long-term view of the world and strives to understand the economics and characteristics of different businesses and industries. The portfolio advisor analyzes historical financial performance, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivities to economic factors, and other factors which may affect the future economics of the business. The portfolio advisor strives to select companies with industry leadership, strong management, growing profits and potential for capital appreciation.

The fund may invest in a broad range of market capitalizations but tends to focus on mid to large capitalization companies. Although diversified by country, industry and company, the fund's portfolio is focused and concentrated.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

This fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

This fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. This fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which this fund may engage in short selling please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio advisor may invest this fund's assets in cash, cash equivalent securities and fixed income securities.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of CI International Equity Fund is to seek long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity securities of companies located outside of Canada and the United States.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund is contained and/or incorporated by reference in its Declaration of Trust. It may be changed by the Manager only with the sanction of a resolution passed by a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of the unitholders of the fund duly convened for that purpose and held in accordance with the applicable provisions of its Declaration of Trust.

Investment strategies

To fulfill this objective, the fund will primarily invest in a portfolio of equity securities of companies domiciled in countries outside of Canada and the United States, including companies located in emerging markets. It may invest in small, medium and large companies, and may hold cash and cash-equivalent securities. Although diversified by country, industry and company, the fund's portfolio may hold larger positions in a smaller number of securities.

When selecting securities for the fund, the portfolio advisor evaluates the merits of each company in terms of its leadership position within its industry, the strength of management, profit growth and the potential for capital appreciation. In order to develop a proprietary view of the company, the portfolio advisor also considers overall macro-economic conditions, historical financial performance of the company, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivity to economic factors as well as other factors which may affect the future economics of the business.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of CI Canadian Dividend Fund is to provide primarily a predictable stream of income and, secondarily, modest long-term capital appreciation, by investing in an actively managed portfolio of primarily Canadian stocks.

To fulfill its objective, the investment policy of the fund is to invest a majority of the fund's total assets in a diversified portfolio of primarily Canadian stocks and equivalent securities with high dividend yields that have predictable levels of profitability and earnings which facilitate dividend growth.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund is contained and/or incorporated by reference in its Declaration of Trust. It may be changed by the Manager only with the sanction of a resolution passed by a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of the unitholders of the fund duly convened for that purpose and held in accordance with the applicable provisions of its Declaration of Trust.

Investment strategies

Typically, the portfolio advisor attempts to produce superior dividend income and modest long-term capital appreciation by investing in mature companies with predictable and growing levels of profitability. The portfolio advisor favours Canadian companies that show financial strength, balanced by a desire for the fund's portfolio to show above-average growth rates.

The portfolio advisor's approach uses both quantitative and qualitative tools to build an income-oriented portfolio. By using carefully selected factors, the portfolio advisor screens the entire Canadian market to isolate possible opportunities.

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Dividend Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The portfolio advisor's quantitative tools automatically identify those companies worthy of personal attention. The portfolio advisor supplements quantitative information with an in-depth knowledge of the companies in each industry and its economic requirements.

Reliable income on equities in the fund comes from selecting a base of companies that exhibit predictable and growing levels of profitability. More specifically, the portfolio advisor looks for stocks with earnings growth, because rising earnings mean a current income stream that could be used to fund dividends and often the capital appreciation of higher stock prices.

The fund may invest a maximum of 30% of its assets in foreign securities.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

This fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

This fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. This fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which this fund may engage in short selling please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio advisor may invest this fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Canadian Dividend Corporate Class owned approximately 12.12% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and what are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and what are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve long-term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of Canadian companies. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

This fund invests, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of Canadian companies. Up to 49% of the fund's assets may be invested in other types of securities and foreign securities.

The portfolio advisor identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry and will also consider factors like market penetration, earnings estimates and quality of management.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess investment opportunities. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Equity Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve a high level of total investment return, consisting of dividend income and capital gains.

It invests primarily, directly or indirectly, in equity securities of companies anywhere in the world that pay, or may be expected to pay, dividends.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor identifies companies with a consistent history of paying and/or growing dividends or that are expected to pay dividends. The portfolio advisor seeks companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential and valuation. This means evaluating the financial condition, competitiveness, and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Dividend Opportunities Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund may hold cash, and may invest in fixed-income securities of any quality or term and other income-producing securities. The portfolio advisor selects the quality and term of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities or fixed income securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

As at June 24, 2023, the Manager and CI Global Dividend Opportunities Corporate Class owned approximately 23.00% and 21.61%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and what are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of CI U.S. Dividend Fund is to provide modest long-term capital appreciation and dividend income by investing in an actively managed portfolio of primarily U.S. equities.

To fulfill its objective, the investment policy of the fund is to invest a majority of the fund's assets in a diversified portfolio of U.S. equities and, to a lesser extent, U.S. equity equivalents, focusing primarily on larger capitalization companies with high dividend yields and predictable levels of profitability. Emphasis is also placed on earnings quality and financial strength, all of which facilitate dividend growth.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund is contained and/or incorporated by reference in its Declaration of Trust. It may be changed by the Manager only with the sanction of a resolution passed by a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of the unitholders of the fund duly convened for that purpose and held in accordance with the applicable provisions of its Declaration of Trust.

Investment strategies

Typically, the portfolio advisor attempts to produce a modest long term capital appreciation and dividend income by investing in mature companies with predictable levels of profitability. The portfolio advisor favours U.S. companies that show financial strength, balanced by a desire for the fund's portfolio to show above-average growth rates.

The portfolio advisor's approach uses both quantitative and qualitative tools to build an income-oriented portfolio. The portfolio management process focuses on mature companies with high dividend yields and predictable levels of profitability, which will facilitate dividend growth into the future. Emphasis is also placed on earnings quality and financial strength. Analysis is undertaken in the context of the overall market and accordingly growth characteristics are assessed on a relative basis.

The portfolio advisor's quantitative tools automatically identify those companies worthy of personal attention. The portfolio advisor supplements quantitative information with an in-depth knowledge of the companies in each industry and its economic requirements.

Income on equities in the fund comes from selecting a base of companies that exhibit predictable levels of profitability. More specifically, the portfolio advisor looks for companies with earnings growth, because rising earnings mean a current income stream that could be used to fund dividends and often the capital appreciation of higher stock prices.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities or fixed income securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund is permitted to invest some of its assets in non-U.S. equities.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of CI U.S. Dividend Registered Fund is to provide modest long-term capital appreciation and dividend income.

It invests primarily, directly or indirectly, in equity securities of U.S. companies that pay, or may be expected to pay, dividends.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor invests a majority of the fund’s assets in a diversified portfolio of U.S. equities, focusing primarily on mid- and large capitalization companies with sustainable and growing dividends and predictable levels of profitability. Emphasis is also placed on earnings quality and financial strength, all of which facilitate dividend growth.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential and valuation. This means evaluating the financial condition, competitiveness, and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible

This document provides specific information about the CI U.S. Dividend Registered Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is attractively valued.

The fund may invest up to 25% of its assets in non-U.S. securities, including American depository receipts.

The fund may also hold cash and may invest in fixed-income securities of any quality or term and other income-producing securities. The portfolio advisor selects the quality and term of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities or fixed income securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

This document provides specific information about the CI U.S. Dividend Registered Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and what are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

As at June 24, 2023, ES Participations Inc. owned approximately 14.93% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and what are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to seek above-average capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of small to mid-capitalization North American companies.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor identifies companies that offer the potential for strong growth in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price. The portfolio advisor emphasizes companies whose growth potential is not reflected in their current price and companies that are expected to have improved earnings.

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve long-term capital growth by investing primarily in a broadly diversified portfolio of American equity securities.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the portfolio advisor:

- invests primarily in common shares of larger U.S. companies
- uses a disciplined, bottom-up stock selection process to evaluate a company's current position and future prospects
- considers quality and valuation as two critical dimensions when making an investment
- uses, as core to the strategy, rotation to companies that have been assessed to provide highest risk adjusted return, while maintaining a quality bias
- may invest in companies located outside of the U.S.
- may invest in corporate debt and/or convertible securities.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to generate a consistently high level of dividend and interest income while preserving capital by investing, directly or indirectly, primarily in dividend-paying common and preferred shares, debentures, income trusts, equity-related securities and convertible securities of issuers anywhere in the world. Indirect investments can include derivatives and investments in other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

In order to achieve its objectives, the fund will invest primarily in dividend-paying exchange-traded funds which provide exposure to dividend paying companies located anywhere in the world. The exchange-traded funds may be a combination of passive, active or rules-based funds. If deemed necessary by the portfolio advisor, the fund may also invest in other mutual funds and securities.

The fund may use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies. It will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations.

In order to generate additional income, the fund may enter into securities lending transactions and repurchase transactions to the extent permitted by the securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in securities lending transactions").

In addition to holding cash, the fund also may invest excess cash in (i) any Canadian or U.S. dollar denominated debt security considered investment grade, at the time of investment, by Standard & Poor's or another equivalent credit rating agency, and (ii) cash equivalents. The fund may also invest in exchange-traded funds and closed-end funds.

It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk

Registered plan eligibility	Eligible
Portfolio advisor	CI Global Asset Management

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to achieve long-term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of companies located anywhere in the world.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund invests, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of companies located anywhere in the world. The fund may make investments in any country, including emerging markets or emerging industries of any market.

Indirect investments may include convertible and debt securities, derivatives and equity-related securities.

The fund is structured with independent sector sleeves. These sectors are those defined by the MSCI Global Industry Classification Standards. The analyst(s) responsible for each individual sector provide stock recommendations to the portfolio advisor who in turn makes all final stock selection decisions. The sleeves are restricted to purchasing securities within their defined sectors but are not bound by any geographic limitations. Each sleeve is initially allocated a portfolio weight equal to its representative sector(s) weight in the MSCI World Index plus or minus five (5) percent at the discretion of the portfolio advisor.

The sector analyst identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry and also considers factors such as market penetration, earnings estimates and quality of management. The sector analyst may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess investment opportunities. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the sector analyst:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Stock Selection Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in securities lending transactions")
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities or fixed income securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds use derivatives").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Up to 100% of the fund's assets may be invested in foreign investments, which may include investments in non-Canadian dollar denominated securities, as well as investments in emerging markets securities. The fund's foreign currency exposure will generally reflect the portfolio's country allocations and any currency hedging strategies will remain at the discretion of the portfolio advisor.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of established companies that the portfolio advisor believes have good growth potential. These companies operate in or are listed on stock exchanges in the Asia and Pacific Rim region. The fund may invest in any country in the region.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor analyzes the global economy and the economies of Asia and the Pacific Rim, as well as the industries in those regions. Based on this analysis, it identifies the countries and then selects the companies that it believes offer potential for strong growth.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential and understand the competitive edge of emerging companies on a global scale. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

The assessment of individual companies is strengthened by country and sector considerations.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve high total investment return by investing in primarily equity securities of companies anywhere in the world that pay, or may be expected to pay, dividends, as well as in other types of securities that may be expected to distribute income.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor of the fund identifies companies that have the potential for success in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

The portfolio advisor uses techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potentials and valuation. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund is diversified across different countries and regions, and this may vary from time to time, depending upon the portfolio advisor's view of specific investment opportunities and macro-economic factors. The fund may make investments in any country, including emerging markets or emerging industries of any market.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Dividend Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities or fixed income securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of established companies throughout the world that the portfolio advisor believes have good growth potential. The fund may make large investments in any country, including emerging markets or emerging industries of any market.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor analyzes the global economy and industries. Based on this analysis, it identifies the industries and then selects the companies that it believes offer potential for strong growth.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities or fixed income securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain long-term appreciation of capital.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies that the portfolio advisor believes have good growth potential. These companies are located in countries that have signed the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) (or its successor). These countries currently include the United States, Canada and Mexico, but may also include countries that become members of NAFTA in the future.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor seeks to outperform the S&P 500 Index over the long-term with similar or lower volatility. It uses a proprietary screening process to identify securities that meet minimum levels of market capitalization, liquidity and analyst coverage and that show some combination of the following:

- accelerating levels of quarterly earnings
- positive estimate revisions over the past quarter
- positive earnings surprises
- strong relative share price strength

The portfolio advisor may also use qualitative analysis, which involves assessing the quality of the company's management, culture, products and customers, among other things.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of CI Global Balanced Fund is to seek the growth of long-term total return by investing primarily in a balanced portfolio of equities, convertible and fixed income securities issued by governments, supra-national agencies or corporations anywhere in the world.

To achieve its objective, the investment policy of the fund is to invest a majority of the fund's assets in a portfolio consisting of equities, convertible and fixed income investments issued globally.

The global equity securities in which the fund will invest are a diversified portfolio of primarily globally competitive companies within growing sectors.

The debt securities in which the fund will invest are a diversified portfolio of primarily convertible and fixed income investments issued by governments, corporations and supra-national organizations throughout the world.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund is contained and/or incorporated by reference in its Declaration of Trust. It may be changed by the Manager only with the sanction of a resolution passed by a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of the unitholders of the fund duly convened for that purpose and held in accordance with the applicable provisions of its Declaration of Trust.

Investment strategies

Black Creek Investment Management Inc. ("Black Creek") takes a long-term view of the world and strives to understand the economics and characteristics of different businesses and industries.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Balanced Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The equity portion of the portfolio invests in a diversified portfolio of globally-competitive companies within growing sectors. Historical analysis of financial performance, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivities to economic factors, as well as other factors which may affect the future economics of the business are all considered. The portfolio sub-advisor strives to select companies with industry leadership, strong management, growing profits and potential for capital appreciation.

The fixed income component of the fund will be invested in global debt securities such as government, non-government and corporate bonds. The fund may also invest in higher-yielding, lower-quality fixed income securities as well as other asset classes including, but not limited to, bank loans or loan participation interests in secured, second lien or unsecured variable, fixed or floating rate loans, convertible securities, and preferred stocks. Higher yielding, lower-quality fixed income securities may include non-investment grade debt securities that are rated below BBB by Standard & Poor's (or the equivalent rating from another rating agency), as well as debt obligations of issuers located in emerging markets. The portfolio sub-advisor does not target an average credit quality of the fixed income component of the portfolio. At any point, the average credit quality may be either investment grade or below investment grade. In choosing investments, the portfolio sub-advisor uses quantitative and qualitative factors, including credit analysis, security selection, adjustment of foreign exchange exposure and the fund's average maturity. It also uses "top-down" analysis to evaluate the yields that can be earned in government bonds and compares those yields to the premium that can be earned in corporate bonds rated both investment grade (BBB- or higher) and high yield (BB+ or lower), and furthermore to the relative attractiveness of loans, preferred shares, convertible securities, or other hybrid securities. Its investment team then selects individual securities to buy or sell, which from a total return perspective, appear either attractive or unattractive relative to the team's view of the credit risk of the bond issuer.

Asset allocation decisions are based on the judgment of the portfolio advisor of the fund in respect of the proposed investment environment for financial assets, relative fundamental values, the attractiveness of each asset category and expected future returns of each asset category. The portfolio advisor does not attempt to engage in short-term market timing among asset categories. There is no limit on the amount of fund assets that may be allocated to each asset category and the allocation is in the discretion of the Manager and the portfolio advisor. As a result, shifts in asset allocation are expected to be gradual and continuous and the fund will normally have some portion of its assets invested in each asset category.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual").

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Balanced Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve a superior total investment return by investing, directly or indirectly, in a combination of primarily Canadian equity and fixed income securities. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

This fund invests, directly or indirectly, primarily in Canadian equity and fixed income securities. Up to 49% of the fund's assets may be invested in other types of securities and foreign securities.

To achieve the fund's objective, the portfolio advisor:

- actively manages the fund using equity, fixed income instruments, and cash and cash equivalents. The fund is not limited as to how much it invests in each asset class. This will vary according to market conditions
- invests mainly in Canadian stocks for the equity portion of the portfolio, relying on a disciplined, bottom-up stock selection process to evaluate a company's current position and future prospects
- invests mainly in high quality government and corporate issues for the bond portion of the portfolio.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Asset Allocation Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible
- analyzes the expected direction of interest rates and the yield curve
- analyzes credit ratings, credit risk and term to maturity of fixed income securities.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

This fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

This fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. This fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which this fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio advisor may invest this fund’s assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Asset Allocation Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in Leveraged Exchange-Traded Funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 38.38% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series securities of the fund.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve an attractive total return, consisting of income and capital gains.

It invests primarily in a mix of Canadian equity and equity-related securities and fixed income securities. The fund is not limited to how much it invests or keeps invested in each asset class. The mix may vary according to market conditions.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Balanced Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Equity investments are diversified across industry sectors and emphasize companies that pay consistent dividends or income.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

For the fixed income portion of the fund, the portfolio advisor:

- selects only high-quality fixed income securities, including bank loans and floating rate debt instruments
- may invest a higher or lower proportion in bonds with longer terms to maturity based on its assessment of future interest rates.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to generate income and long term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, in a combination of equity and fixed income securities of companies located anywhere in the world. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

This fund invests, directly or indirectly, in a combination of equity and fixed income securities of companies located anywhere in the world. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in any single country or asset class. This will vary according to market conditions.

To the extent the fund invests in equity securities, these will include preferred and common shares that are diversified by sector and style.

Investments in fixed income securities may consist of high yielding government and corporate bonds, debentures, loans and notes. This may include securities that are unrated or have a credit rating below investment grade. The term to maturity of these securities will vary depending on the portfolio advisor's outlook for interest rates.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Income & Growth Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

In selecting investments for the fund, the portfolio advisor uses a combination of top down macro analysis and fundamental analysis for bottom up security selections. When deciding whether to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund also may seek additional income through:

- investment in real estate investment trusts, royalty trusts, income trusts, master limited partnerships and other similar investments
- writing covered call options.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund seeks to provide a steady flow of current income while preserving capital by investing in a diversified portfolio of securities composed mainly of equity, equity-related and fixed income securities of Canadian issuers. The fund may also invest in foreign securities. The fundamental investment objective of the fund cannot be changed without obtaining unitholder approval.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor seeks to achieve the fund's investment objective by investing in a combination of equity, fixed income and derivatives. To achieve its objective, the portfolio advisor will actively manage the equity, fixed income, and cash components of the fund. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in each asset class. This will vary according to market conditions. To the extent the fund invests in equity securities, these will include preferred and common shares broadly diversified by sector and style. Fixed income may consist of high-yielding government and corporate bonds, debentures, bank loans and floating rate debt instruments. This may include securities that are unrated or have credit rating below investment grade. The term to maturity of these securities will vary depending on the portfolio advisor's outlook for interest rates. The fund may also generate income by investing in real estate investment trusts (REITs), royalty trusts, income trusts and other similar high yielding instruments. The portfolio advisor will seek to produce additional income through covered call writing and other derivative strategies.

The portfolio advisor uses a combination of top down macro analysis and fundamental analysis for bottom-up security selection.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies

- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may engage in securities lending, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions. The extent to which the fund engages in these types of transactions will be dependent upon the availability of suitable counterparties as well as the portfolio advisor's determination of the viability of entering into such transactions at that time.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of fund is to provide stability of capital and income with the potential for capital appreciation. The fund aims to achieve its objective by investing primarily in a portfolio of fixed-income securities issued by Canadian and foreign governments and corporations.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund primarily invests in fixed-income securities such as bonds, debentures, preferred shares and notes issued by Canadian federal, provincial and municipal governments and corporations, and asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities, bank loans and floating rate debt instruments, creating a portfolio with an average duration of no less than 3.5 years and no greater than 9 years. In selecting such securities, the portfolio advisor emphasizes bonds of high credit quality.

It is currently expected that:

- preferred shares will generally constitute less than 25% of holdings and common shares will generally constitute less than 5% of holdings;
- high yield and non-rated bonds will generally constitute less than 25% of holdings; and
- foreign securities will generally constitute less than 30% of holdings and foreign currency exposure will generally remain below 10% of holdings.

The fund may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, swaps, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in securities lending transactions”)
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds use derivatives”).

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may also invest up to:

- a) 20% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated “AA” by S&P Global Ratings Canada (“S&P”) or its “DRO affiliate” (as defined in NI 81-102), or have an equivalent rating by one or more other “designated rating organizations” (as defined in NI 81-102) or their DRO affiliates; and
- b) 35% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase, in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated “AAA” by S&P or its DRO affiliate, or have an equivalent rating by one or more other designated rating organizations or their DRO affiliates provided that certain conditions are met, including (i) the fund has investment objective and strategies that permit it to invest a majority of its net assets in fixed income securities, including foreign Government Securities; (ii) a) and b) are not combined for any one issuer; (iii) any security purchased pursuant to this relief is traded on a mature and liquid market; and (iv) the acquisition of Foreign Government Securities is consistent with the fundamental investment objective of the fund.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- foreign investment risk
- high yield risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

As at June 24, 2023, the Manager, CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund and CI Portfolio Series Income Fund owned approximately 58.65%, 11.29% and 11.14%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital.

If the fund pays a distribution, it will be paid in the same currency in which you hold the fund units. Generally, distributions are automatically reinvested, without charges, in additional units of the fund unless you ask in writing to have them invested in another mutual fund managed by CI GAM. You can ask to receive your distributions in cash for the fund if you hold it in non-registered accounts. Cash distributions are not subject to redemption fees. We may change the distribution policy at our discretion. For more information about distributions, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's investment objective is to generate income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in Canadian bonds. The fund would typically target an average portfolio duration of at least 9 years.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund primarily invests in Canadian bonds, including but not limited to government bonds, corporate bonds, convertible bonds and inflation-linked bonds. The fund may also invest in other fixed-income securities, including, but not limited to, asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities, preferred shares, floating rate notes and government agency securities, with the expectation that the portfolio will be maintained with an average duration of at least 9 years. In selecting such securities, the portfolio advisor emphasizes bonds of high credit quality.

It is currently expected that:

- preferred shares will generally constitute less than 25% of holdings and common shares will generally constitute less than 5% of holdings;
- high yield and non-rated bonds will generally constitute less than 25% of holdings; and
- foreign securities will generally constitute less than 30% of holdings and foreign currency exposure will generally remain below 10% of holdings.

The fund may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, swaps, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in securities lending transactions")

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- credit risk
- concentration risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- high yield risk
- interest rate risk
- mortgage-related and other asset-backed securities investment risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Canadian Asset Allocation Corporate Class and CI Global Equity & Income Fund owned approximately 59.36% and 23.56%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve a high level of income by investing primarily in fixed income and high-yielding equity securities and other income-producing securities throughout the world.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The fund invests primarily in companies throughout the world that have the potential for growth and value in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends. The portfolio advisor to the fund will actively manage the equity, fixed income, and cash components of the fund. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in each asset class or geographic mix. This will vary according to market conditions. The portfolio advisor to the fund decides how much of the fund's assets are invested in equity and fixed income securities according to market conditions.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Equity & Income Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The fund's equity portion includes equities that are expected to distribute income. Equity investments may include common shares, preferred shares, real estate investment trusts (REITs), royalty trusts, and similar high-yielding investments.

The portfolio advisor to the fund may use techniques such as underlying fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor to the fund:

- analyzes credit ratings
- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor to the fund considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

Fixed income securities may include investment grade corporate and government fixed income securities throughout the world. The fund may also invest in corporate bonds that have a below investment grade credit rating or are unrated, but offer a higher yield than investment grade bonds. It may also invest in bank loans, convertible bonds and floating rate debt instruments. The fund may also invest in emerging market bonds. These investments may be denominated in or have exposure to foreign currencies. The portfolio advisor to the fund will select the maturity of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

The fund may also enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund.

The fund may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 47.62% and 39.63% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund and CI Global Dividend Opportunities Fund, respectively. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a fixed distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the fixed distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

Fund details

Fund type	Emerging Markets Fixed Income
Date started Series I	December 30, 2020
Type of securities	Units of an investment trust
Registered plan eligibility	Not eligible
Portfolio sub-advisor	CI Global Investments Inc.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to obtain long-term total returns through interest income and capital gains by primarily investing in debt securities issued by governments, quasi-sovereign entities and corporations in emerging market countries, or that provide exposure to emerging markets. The fund may also invest in government and corporate debt securities of developed countries.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve the fund's investment objective, the portfolio advisor will primarily invest in debt securities issued by governments, quasi-sovereign entities, and corporates in emerging market countries, or that provide exposure to emerging markets. The fund will primarily invest in securities denominated in hard currency, including but not limited to U.S. dollars or Euros, but may also invest in securities denominated in the local currency of emerging market countries. The fund may also invest in government and corporate debt securities of developed countries.

The portfolio advisor selects securities that it believes have fundamental value that is not reflected in their credit rating and yield and utilizes fundamental economic analysis of each country to assess, among other factors, growth potential, fiscal trajectory, balance of payments trends and overall policy framework, to determine:

- issuer's creditworthiness
- expected changes in interest rates
- yield of various terms to maturity

The portfolio advisor also conducts detailed company credit and industry analysis to identify investments offering attractive return opportunities while simultaneously minimizing default prospects. The portfolio advisor also considers the investment's assessed valuation relative to its current price in deciding whether to buy or sell an investment.

The fund may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, swaps, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies; and/or
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly; and/or

- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor to the fund uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- credit risk
- concentration risk
- emerging market risk
- foreign investment risk
- high yield risk
- interest rate risk
- large redemption risk.

This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Global Bond Fund and CI Global Bond Currency Neutral Fund owned approximately 64.60% and 35.39%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk starting in the section entitled “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to distribute any net income monthly and any capital gains each December.

Generally, distributions are automatically reinvested, without charges, in additional units of the fund unless you ask in writing to have them invested in another mutual fund managed by CI GAM. You can ask to receive your distributions in cash for the fund if you hold it in non-registered accounts. Cash distributions are not subject to redemption fees. We may change the distribution policy at our discretion. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of fund is to maximize monthly income for unitholders while preserving capital and liquidity by investing primarily in high interest deposit accounts.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its investment objective, the fund will invest all or substantially all of its assets in the CI High Interest Savings ETF. The CI High Interest Savings ETF will invest primarily in high interest deposit accounts with one or more Canadian chartered banks, credit unions or trust companies.

The CI High Interest Savings ETF has the ability to invest in high-quality, short-term (one year or less) debt securities, including treasury bills and promissory notes issued or guaranteed by Canadian governments or their agencies, bankers' acceptances, and Canadian money market funds. Investments made by the fund or the CI High Interest Savings ETF will be in the top two ratings categories of any of the designated rating organizations (as defined in National Instrument 81-102 Investment Funds ("NI 81-102")). The fund may also obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds.

- credit risk
- interest rate risk.

Although the fund primarily invests in bank deposit accounts, the fund is not covered by the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government deposit insurer.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 100% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI High Interest Savings ETF. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to distribute any net income monthly and any net capital gains each December.

If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of this fund is to provide exposure to a diversified portfolio of income-generating securities in a manner that is similar to holding multiple income-generating funds. The fund invests primarily in investment grade fixed income securities issued by governments and corporations in Canada and globally. The fund may also invest up to 50% in other income generating securities such as preferred shares, common shares and real estate investment trusts. The fund's investments will be made primarily through investments in other mutual funds, either directly or by entering into derivatives, and the fund may directly hold securities from time to time.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund invests primarily in investment grade fixed income securities issued by governments and corporations in Canada and globally. The fund may also invest up to 50% in other income generating securities such as preferred shares, common shares and real estate investment trusts.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess investment opportunities. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor to the fund analyzes:

- financial data and other information sources
- credit ratings

This document provides specific information about the CI Income Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- the expected direction of interest rates and yield curves
- the quality of management
- credit risk and terms to maturity.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio advisor may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will be used by the fund only as permitted by securities regulations.

The fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio advisor may invest the fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor to the fund uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

This document provides specific information about the CI Income Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk
- sector risk
- small capitalization risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Select Income Managed Corporate Class owned approximately 46.01% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a fixed distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the fixed distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund seeks to generate income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of corporate bonds rated BBB- and above by a recognized bond rating agency, issued anywhere in the world.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor will invest primarily in Canadian, U.S. and European corporate bonds that are rated BBB- or above by a recognized bond rating agency. The portfolio advisor will use fundamental analysis as well as actively manage the portfolio to generate incremental returns, and will focus on the fund's four tenets of capital preservation, high quality credit investments, liquidity and active currency management.

The fund may invest in convertible debt, bank loans, sovereign government bonds and other income-generating securities. The fund may also invest up to 10% of the portfolio in high-yield corporate bonds rated BB- and above.

This document provides specific information about the CI Investment Grade Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The fund will be well-diversified by industry and geography to reduce portfolio risk and may from time to time deploy limited hedging of interest rates and credit spreads.

The portfolio advisor uses a combination of top-down macroeconomic analysis involving the assessment of economic, political and market trends, and a bottom-up company and security level analysis to assess a company's ability to generate cash and meet interest and principal payment obligations on its debt securities. The portfolio manager focuses on a company's industry position, operating leverage, management strength and experience, historical earnings and future projections, liquidity profile and accounting ratios and practices.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The portfolio advisor will execute currency hedges on foreign securities positions in order to minimize portfolio sensitivity to currency fluctuations. The portfolio advisor typically intends to significantly hedge the non-Canadian currency exposure attributable to the portfolio to the Canadian dollar. However, the portfolio sub-advisor may choose not to hedge any individual currency exposure to the extent that the portfolio sub-adviser, in its sole discretion, deems it impractical or deems such exposure appropriate.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor will use the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

This document provides specific information about the CI Investment Grade Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to earn income at the highest rate of return that is consistent with preserving capital and maintaining liquidity.

It invests primarily in money market instruments that mature in less than 365 days. These include:

- short-term debt obligations issued or guaranteed by the governments of Canada, any province or any agency of these governments
- commercial paper and other high quality short-term debt obligations of Canadian corporations and Canadian chartered banks.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor selects securities that it believes have a fundamental value that is not reflected in their credit rating and yield.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as analyzing:

- short-term interest rates and yield curves
- the impact of economic trends on interest rates and economic growth
- the credit rating and risk of the issuer
- financial data and other information sources.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This document provides specific information about the CI Money Market Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest up to 5% the fund's assets in foreign securities.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including those managed by us (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

The fund seeks to maintain a constant unit price of $10, but there is no guarantee that the price will not change.

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- credit risk
- concentration risk
- interest rate risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 13.29%, 10.13% and 10.08% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of Bank of Montreal, Royal Bank of Canada and Enbridge Gas Inc., respectively. The associated risk is discussed in the section "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk".

As at June 24, 2023, three funds managed by us owned approximately 23.38%, 12.93% and 12.57%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk".

You will find an explanation of each risk under "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk" as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund calculates income and credits it to unitholders at the end of each business day. The fund distributes income monthly. Any amount that has been credited but not paid out is automatically reinvested in additional units of the fund, unless you ask to receive your distributions in cash if the fund is held in a non-registered account.

If the fund earns any capital gains, it will distribute them each December. For more information, see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy".

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to provide long-term capital growth by investing in a globally diversified portfolio of companies that have high environmental, social and governance ("ESG") performance relative to their sector peers while further excluding companies focused on fossil fuels for energy purposes.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund will invest all or substantially all of its assets in unhedged common units of CI MSCI World ESG Impact Index ETF (the "ETF"). In respect of the unhedged common units, the ETF has been designed to replicate, to the extent possible, the performance of the MSCI World ESG Select Impact ex Fossil Fuels Index (the "Index"), net of expenses. The Index is based on a traditional market capitalization weighted parent index, the MSCI World ESG Leaders Index (the "Parent Index").

The portfolio of the ETF may, from time to time, also include a significant amount of cash and/or cash equivalents.

Companies included in the Index must meet the criteria for both the Parent Index and the Index, as summarized below.

To be eligible for inclusion in the Index, securities must cumulatively generate more than 30% of sales from one or more of the 13 environmental and social themes aligned to the UN Sustainable Development Goals, as defined by MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Impact Metrics, namely:

- Alternative energy
- Energy efficiency
- Green buildings
- Sustainable water

This document provides specific information about the CI MSCI World ESG Impact Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- Pollution prevention
- Sustainable agriculture
- Nutrition
- Major diseases treatment
- Sanitation
- Affordable real estate
- Small and medium enterprise finance
- Education
- Connectivity – Digital Divide

The securities are then excluded from the Parent Index based on the following screening criteria:

- securities with an MSCI ESG Ratings of 'CCC' and 'B'. The MSCI ESG Ratings aim to measure a company's management of financially relevant ESG risks and opportunities by using a rule-based methodology to identify industry leaders and laggards according to their exposure to ESG risks and how well they manage those risks relative to peers. The ratings ranges from AAA to CCC, with CCC being the lowest;
- securities with an MSCI ESG Controversies score of 2 or below. The MSCI ESG Controversies allow investors to analyze a company's significant ESG impacts by identifying company involvement in major ESG controversies, adherence to international norms and principles, and assessing company performance with respect to these norms and principles. The scores range from 0 to 10, with 0 being the worst;
- securities that match the Controversial Business Involvement Criteria. Each of the following controversial activity screened by the Parent Index is assigned a restrictiveness level, ranging from "Most Restrictive" to "Least Restrictive". Companies may be excluded from the Parent Index if they derive certain percentage of revenue from a controversial activity, as set out below.
 - "Most Restrictive"
 - Controversial Weapons
 - All companies with any tie to "Conventional Weapons", as defined by the Index Provider.
 - "Highly Restrictive"
 - Nuclear Weapons
 - All companies that manufacture (1) nuclear weapons, their components and delivery platforms; (2) components and delivery platforms that could be used in or for nuclear weapons; or (3) components for nuclear-exclusive delivery platforms, as well as all companies that provide auxiliary services related to nuclear weapons.
 - "Moderately Restrictive"
 - Civilian Firearms
 - All companies deriving 5% or more revenue from the production of firearms and small arms ammunitions for civilian markets, or 15% or more aggregate revenue from the production and distribution of firearms or small arms ammunition intended for civilian use. It does not include companies that cater to the military, government and law enforcement markets.
 - Tobacco

This document provides specific information about the CI MSCI World ESG Impact Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- All companies deriving 5% or more revenue from the production of tobacco-related products or 15% or more aggregate revenue from the production, distribution, retail supply and licensing of tobacco-related products.
- “Least Restrictive”
 - Alcohol, Conventional Weapons, Gambling and Nuclear Power
 - All companies deriving 10% or more revenue from the production of alcohol-related products, the production of conventional weapons and components, or ownership or operation of gambling-related business activities, or 10% or more aggregate revenue from nuclear power activities.
- “No Specific Restrictiveness Level Applied”
 - Fossil Fuel Extraction and Thermal Coal Power
 - All companies deriving 5% or more aggregate revenue (either reported or estimated) from thermal coal mining and unconventional oil and gas, or (ii) 5% or more revenue (either reported or estimated) from thermal coal-based power generation.

The Index deploys an additional layer of screening which excludes:

- Fossil Fuels Reserves: Securities of companies that have proved and probable coal reserves and/or oil and natural gas reserves used for energy purposes.

The securities eligible for inclusion after applying the above screening criteria are then first weighted in proportion to their weights in the Parent Index. Capping is then applied, such that each absolute GICS Sector (as defined by MSCI) weight is no greater than 25% and each issuer weight is no greater than 5%. The index weighting methodology is applied quarterly coinciding with the MSCI Quarterly Index Reviews.

The exposure in relation to the unhedged common units of the ETF to currencies other than the Canadian dollar will not be hedged back to the Canadian dollar.

Further information about the Index, including a description of its methodology, is available from the index provider on its website at www.msci.com. For more information on the investment strategies of the ETF, please see its prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- equity risk
- ESG and Other Factor-Based Investment Strategy Risk
- foreign investment risk
- passive management risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 100% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI MSCI World ESG Impact Index ETF. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's investment objective is to preserve capital, generate stable returns, and give direct exposure to U.S. dollar-denominated securities by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of income-generating assets domiciled in the United States. Income generating assets may include government bonds, corporate bonds, high-yield bonds, preferred shares, common shares and real estate investment trusts.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

In order to achieve its objectives, the fund invests primarily in investment grade fixed income securities issued by governments and corporations in the United States. The fund may also invest in other income-generating securities such as high-yield bonds, preferred shares, common shares and real estate investment trusts.

The portfolio advisor to the fund may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess investment opportunities. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor to the fund analyzes:

- financial data and other information sources
- credit ratings

- credit risk and terms to maturity.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price. The portfolio advisor will consider the valuations and correlations of various asset classes and optimize a portfolio on an on-going basis to achieve the investment objective. Sub-advisors will be used to select individual securities to fill the asset classes.

The portfolio advisor to the fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies,
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will be used by the fund only as permitted by securities regulations.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio advisor may invest the fund’s assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

The fund may also engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor to the fund uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

- investment trust risk
- sector risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 11.35% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of iShares MBS ETF. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Portfolio Series Income Fund, CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund, and CI Portfolio Series Conservative Fund owned approximately 22.31%, 20.36% and 10.05%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

You must pay for units of the fund in U.S. dollars. When you sell your units, we will pay you in U.S. dollars. All distributions are also paid in U.S. dollars. At the time of purchase, you must designate a U.S. dollar bank account to receive payments.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a distribution each month and you may receive it in cash or as reinvested units of the fund. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to earn income at the highest rate of return that is consistent with preserving capital and maintaining liquidity.

It invests primarily in money market instruments that mature in less than 365 days. These include:

- short-term debt obligations issued or guaranteed by the governments of the United States, any state or any agency of these governments
- short-term debt obligations denominated in U.S. dollars and issued or guaranteed by the governments of Canada, any province or any agency of these governments
- commercial paper and other high quality short-term debt obligations of U.S. or Canadian companies denominated in U.S. dollars.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor selects securities that it believes have a fundamental value that is not reflected in their credit rating and yield.

The portfolio advisor may also analyze:

- short-term interest rates and yield curves
- the impact of economic trends on interest rates and economic growth
- the credit rating and risk of the issuer

This document provides specific information about the CI U.S. Money Market Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- financial data and other information sources.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including those managed by us (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

The fund seeks to maintain a constant unit price of US$10, but there is no guarantee that the price will not change.

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- concentration risk
- credit risk
- interest rate risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 17.98%, 15.53%, 15.50%, 12.20% and 10.48% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of The Toronto-Dominion Bank, US Bank NA Cincinnati, Metropolitan Life Global Funding I, Enbridge Pipelines Inc. and Barclays PLC, respectively. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

As at June 24, 2023, a fund managed by us and CI U.S. Money Market Corporate Class (formerly CI Short-Term US$ Corporate Class) owned approximately 15.01% and 11.38%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund calculates income and credits it to unitholders at the end of each business day. The fund distributes income monthly. Any amount that has been credited but not paid out is automatically reinvested in additional units of the fund, unless you ask to receive your distributions in cash if the fund is held in a non-registered account.

If the fund earns any capital gains, it will distribute them each December. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain long-term total return.

It invests primarily in fixed income securities of Canadian governments and companies that the portfolio advisor believes offer an attractive yield and the opportunity for capital gains.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as analyzing:

- the expected direction of interest rates
- the yield curve, which is an evaluation of the relative value between various terms to maturity
- credit ratings and credit risk
- expected performance relative to other types of fixed income securities.

The portfolio advisor also assesses:

- the rate of economic growth

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- inflationary pressures
- monetary policy in Canada, the U.S. and other major industrialized countries
- market conditions and investor sentiment.

This includes evaluating the expected supply and demand for bonds and the current stage of the economic cycle to determine whether the difference between yields on different terms to maturity will be widening or narrowing.

The fund may invest in a wide range of securities including government and corporate bonds and debentures, stripped bonds, mortgage-backed securities, asset-backed securities, bank loans and floating rate debt instruments. Corporate securities are diversified and carefully analyzed for creditworthiness.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, swaps, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

This document provides specific information about CI Canadian Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- credit risk
- concentration risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund owned approximately 13.02% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to distribute any net income monthly and any net capital gains each December. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to provide strong risk-adjusted returns by investing in a diversified portfolio of fixed-income instruments. The fund will invest primarily in a diversified portfolio of government, corporate, and high-yield fixed-income securities, from both Canadian and foreign issuers.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor selects securities that it believes have fundamental value that is not reflected in their credit rating and yields.

The portfolio advisor will actively allocate the portfolio between the following asset classes:

- Cash & short-term instruments
- Canadian sovereign debt
- Foreign developed market sovereign debt
- Investment-grade corporate bonds
- High-yield and emerging markets sovereign bonds (maximum 25%)
- Preferred equity (investment grade) – (maximum 25%)

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Core Plus Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Overall credit rating for the fund will be maintained as BBB or higher. The fund will be well-diversified by asset class, industry and geography to reduce portfolio risk and may from time to time deploy limited hedging of interest rates and credit default swaps.

The portfolio advisor uses a combination of top-down macroeconomic analysis involving the assessment of economic, political and market trends, and a bottom-up company and security level analysis to assess a company's ability to generate cash and meet interest and principal payment obligations on its debt securities.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor will use the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may also invest up to:

- a) 20% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated "AA" by S&P Global Ratings Canada ("S&P") or its "DRO affiliate" (as defined in NI 81-102), or have an equivalent rating by one or more other "designated rating organizations" (as defined in NI 81-102) or their DRO affiliates; and
- b) 35% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase, in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated "AAA" by S&P or its DRO affiliate, or have an equivalent rating by one or more other designated rating organizations or their DRO affiliates provided that certain conditions are met, including (i) the fund has investment objective and strategies that permit it to invest a majority of its net assets in fixed income securities, including foreign Government Securities; (ii) a) and b) are not combined for any one issuer; (iii) any security purchased pursuant to this relief is traded on a mature and liquid market; and (iv) the acquisition of Foreign Government Securities is consistent with the fundamental investment objective of the fund.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's investment objective is to achieve a yield advantage by using fundamental value analysis to evaluate investments. The fund will invest mainly in fixed income securities that are investment grade and below investment grade.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund can only be changed with the approval of a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting specifically to vote on the change of fundamental investment objectives.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor selects securities whose fundamental value it believes is not reflected in their credit ratings and yields. It first identifies companies that have the long-term ability to generate sufficient money to service their debt and reinvest in their business. The portfolio advisor also considers the impact of economic trends on interest rates and economic growth.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess cash flow and growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each issuer, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor analyzes:

- interest rates and yield curves
- credit ratings and credit risk
- financial data and other information source

This document provides specific information about the CI Corporate Bond Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. - the quality of management

The portfolio advisor also conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether it is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund will invest primarily in investment grade corporate securities. The fund may also invest in bank loans and floating rate debt instruments. Up to 40% of the portfolio may be invested in securities rated below investment grade. The fund may also invest in non-rated securities. At least 60% of the portfolio will be invested in corporate fixed income securities.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities.

The portfolio advisor also may choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- credit risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Corporate Bond Corporate Class and CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund owned approximately 27.70% and 10.78%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a fixed distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of CI Diversified Yield Fund is to generate a high level of income through exposure to a portfolio of fixed income and high-yielding equity securities throughout the world.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund is contained and/or incorporated by reference in its Declaration of Trust. It may be changed by the Manager only with the sanction of a resolution passed by a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of the unitholders of the fund duly convened for that purpose and held in accordance with the applicable provisions of its Declaration of Trust.

Investment strategies

The fund invests primarily in companies throughout the world that have the potential for growth and value in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends. The portfolio advisor to the fund will actively manage the equity, fixed income, and cash components of the fund. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in each geographic region. This will vary according to market conditions. The portfolio advisor to the fund decides how much of the fund's assets are invested in equity and fixed income securities according to market conditions.

Equity investments may include common shares, preferred shares and real estate investment trusts (REITs), royalty trusts, and similar high yielding investments.

The portfolio advisor to the fund may use techniques such as underlying fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor to the fund:

- analyzes credit ratings
 - analyzes financial data and other information sources
 - assesses the quality of management
 - conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor to the fund considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

Fixed income securities may include investment grade corporate and government fixed income securities throughout the world. The fund may also invest in corporate bonds that have a below-investment grade credit rating or are unrated, but offer a higher yield than investment grade bonds. At no time will the fund invest more than 50% of its assets in non-investment grade corporate debt, meaning corporate debt rated below BBB. It may also invest in bank loans, convertible bonds and floating rate debt instruments. The fund may also invest in emerging market bonds. These investments may be denominated in or have exposure to foreign currencies.

The portfolio advisor also may choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- credit risk
- concentration risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to make a fixed distribution each month. If the fund earns more income or capital gains than the fixed distribution, it will distribute the excess each December. If the fund earns less than the amount distributed, the difference is a return of capital. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to generate a high level of dividend income and to preserve capital. It invests primarily in preferred shares and dividend paying common shares of Canadian companies. It may also invest in other common shares, fixed income securities and income trusts. The fund may also invest in foreign securities.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor identifies companies that have the potential for growth and value in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends. The portfolio advisor decides how much of the fund's assets are invested in equity and fixed income securities according to market conditions.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This document provides specific information about the CI Dividend Income & Growth Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Fixed income securities may include government and corporate bonds, debentures, notes, certificates of deposit, bank loans, floating rate debt instruments or other fixed income securities. The portfolio advisor selects the maturity of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain long-term total return.

It invests primarily in fixed income and floating rate securities of governments and companies throughout the world that the portfolio advisor believes offer an attractive yield and opportunity for capital gains. The fund may make large investments in any country, including emerging markets and emerging industries of developed markets, and in high yield securities of developed markets.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor selects securities that it believes have fundamental value that is not reflected in their credit rating and yield.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of an issuer, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor analyzes:

- the economies of the countries and regions
- expected changes in interest rates
- the yield of various terms to maturity

This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- the issuer's credit rating and risk.

The portfolio advisor analyzes whether companies can generate enough cash to service debt and reinvest into their business over the long-term.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may also invest up to:

- a) 20% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated "AA" by S&P Global Ratings Canada ("S&P") or its "DRO affiliate" (as defined in NI 81-102), or have an equivalent rating by one or more other "designated rating organizations" (as defined in NI 81-102) or their DRO affiliates; and
- b) 35% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase, in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated "AAA" by S&P or its DRO affiliate, or have an equivalent rating by one or more other designated rating organizations or their DRO affiliates provided that certain conditions are met, including (i) the fund has investment objective and strategies that permit it to invest a majority of its net assets in fixed income securities, including foreign Government Securities; (ii) a) and b) are not combined for any one issuer; (iii) any security purchased pursuant to this relief is traded on a mature and liquid market; and (iv) the acquisition of Foreign Government Securities is consistent with the fundamental investment objective of the fund.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain conditions, invest up to 30% of its net assets in debt obligations issued or guaranteed by either Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac. For a more details, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in Debt Obligations Issued or Guaranteed"

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to generate a high level of income and long-term capital growth.

It invests primarily in high-yielding equity securities and Canadian corporate bonds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor identifies companies that have the potential for growth and value in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends. To achieve its objective, the portfolio advisor will actively manage the equity, fixed income, and cash components of the fund. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in each asset class. This will vary according to market conditions. The portfolio advisor decides how much of the fund's assets are invested in equity and fixed income securities according to market conditions.

Equity investments may include common shares, preferred shares and real estate investment trusts (REITs), royalty trusts, and similar high yielding investments from different parts of the world.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes credit ratings
- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management

- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

Fixed income securities may include foreign corporate and government fixed income securities. The fund may invest in corporate bonds that have a low credit rating or are unrated, but offer a higher yield than investment grade bonds. It may also invest in bank loans and floating rate debt instruments. These investments may be denominated in or have exposure to foreign currencies. The portfolio advisor selects the maturity of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- temporarily hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to obtain income and capital appreciation by investing in high yield corporate bonds and other income-producing securities throughout the world.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor will focus primarily on corporate bonds and debt obligations that are rated BBB or below by a recognized North American bond rating agency. The portfolio advisor selects securities whose fundamental value it believes is not reflected in their credit ratings and yields. The fund may also invest in bank loans, convertible bonds, floating rate debt instruments and private placements as permitted by securities regulations. The fund may also invest in emerging market bonds. These investments may be denominated in or have exposure to foreign currencies. The portfolio advisor will select the maturity of each investment according to market conditions. The fund may also invest in exchange-traded funds and closed-end funds.

The portfolio advisor considers the impact of economic trends on interest rates and economic growth. The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as underlying fundamental analysis to assess growth, cash flow sustainability and collateral value. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes credit risk and credit ratings
- analyzes financial data and other information sources

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to provide strong risk-adjusted total returns by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of preferred shares, from both Canadian and foreign issuers.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor aims to identify preferred share investment in quality, large corporations, which have shown a history of dividend stability and then considers the impact of economic trends. According to market conditions, the portfolio advisor may also choose to invest up to 10% of the fund's assets in fixed-income.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price. Fixed income securities may include government and corporate bonds, debentures, notes, certificates of deposit, bank loans, floating rate debt instruments or other fixed income securities. The portfolio advisor selects the maturity of each investment according to market conditions. The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities.

This document provides specific information about the CI Preferred Share Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- temporarily hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic and liquidity reasons.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to provide interest income and a relatively high level of capital stability. The fund invests primarily in debt securities of Canadian issuers maturing in five years or less and in short-term notes.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the portfolio advisor:

- invests primarily in fixed income securities such as bonds, debentures and notes issued by Canadian federal, provincial and municipal governments and Canadian corporations, and asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities, bank loans and floating rate debt instruments
- emphasizes bonds of high credit quality.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, swaps, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly

- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to provide a balance between income and long-term capital growth while diversifying risk by investing primarily in income and equity mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

This document provides specific information about the CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor uses strategic asset allocation as the principal investment strategy to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class and geographic region. This generally includes Canadian equity, U.S. equity, international equity, Canadian fixed income and global fixed income securities.

In determining the fund's target asset allocations, the portfolio advisor considers, among other factors, each underlying fund's investment objective and strategies, past performance and historical volatility in the context of a diversified holding of underlying funds suitable for the investment objective of the fund.

The portfolio advisor:

- invests the assets of the fund in units or shares of the underlying funds
- rebalances the fund's assets among the underlying funds based on the fund's target asset allocations
- monitors the underlying funds on an ongoing basis and may make changes to the underlying funds, or allocated percentages of the underlying funds without notice to unitholders.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts, forward agreements and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs managed by us, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio adviser may invest the fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities, including but not limited to treasury bills and banker's acceptances.

This document provides specific information about the CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

Pursuant to exemptive relief received from the Canadian securities authorities, the portfolio advisor may invest up to 10% of the fund’s net asset value, determined at the time of purchase, in CI Canadian All Cap Equity Fund and CI International All Cap Equity Fund, each a pooled fund managed by CI GAM.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 16.94% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Canadian Bond Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

As at June 24, 2023, a fund managed by us owned approximately 11.87% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to distribute any net income and net capital gains each December.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to provide a balance between income and capital growth at lower than average levels of volatility by investing primarily in income and equity mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio advisor uses strategic asset allocation as the principal investment strategy to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class and geographic region. This generally includes Canadian equity, U.S. equity, international equity, Canadian fixed income and global fixed income securities.

In determining the fund's target asset allocations, the portfolio advisor considers, among other factors, each underlying fund's investment objective and strategies, past performance and historical volatility in the context of a diversified holding of underlying funds suitable for the investment objective of the fund.

The portfolio advisor:

- invests the assets of the fund in units or shares of the underlying funds
- rebalances the fund's assets among the underlying funds based on the fund's target asset allocations

This document provides specific information about the CI Portfolio Series Conservative Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- monitors the underlying funds on an ongoing basis and may make changes to the underlying funds, or allocated percentages of the underlying funds without notice to unitholders.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts, forward agreements and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs managed by us, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio adviser may invest the fund’s assets in cash and cash equivalent securities, including but not limited to treasury bills and banker’s acceptances.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

This document provides specific information about the CI Portfolio Series Conservative Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Pursuant to exemptive relief received from the Canadian securities authorities, the portfolio advisor may invest up to 10% of the fund's net asset value, determined at the time of purchase, in CI Canadian All Cap Equity Fund and CI International All Cap Equity Fund, each a pooled fund managed by CI GAM.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk

Class F	June 17, 2019
Class I	June 17, 2019
Type of securities	Units of a mutual fund
Registered plan eligibility	Eligible
Portfolio advisor	CI Global Asset Management

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to provide long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of Canadian equity securities that are consistently returning capital to shareholders.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The pool seeks to own a base of high-quality and durable businesses which can compound intrinsic value in addition to paying a dividend or buying back shares. The portfolio advisor focuses on selecting companies that exhibit predictable and growing levels of profitability with current income streams that could be used to fund dividends and offer capital appreciation.

The portfolio advisor's approach uses bottom-up fundamental analysis to identify and build a diversified portfolio of high-quality Canadian businesses. When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers whether the investment offers good value relative to its current price.

It is expected that the pool will generally have between 25 and 40 equity and equity-related holdings and will not be invested outside of Canada.

The pool may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the pool's investments; and/or
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns;
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the pool (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?"); and/or

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Dividend Private Pool. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- hold up to 15% of its assets in cash and cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The pool also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The pool will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the pool may engage in short selling please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”

The pool may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the pool may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index (the “Underlying Index”) on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%); and/or
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the pool may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the pool?

An investment in the pool may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- interest rate risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the pool.

Distribution policy

The pool expects to make a distribution each month. If the pool earns more income or capital gains in a year than the monthly distributions for that year, the pool will distribute the excess in December of that year. If the pool earns less in a year than its monthly distribution, the difference will be a return of capital. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to provide capital growth and income over the long-term by investing primarily in dividend-paying Canadian equity securities.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

In accordance with its investment objective, the pool:

- will invest primarily in Canadian equities using a fundamental, bottom-up approach to investing;
- will invest primarily in dividend-paying securities, but may also invest in non-dividend-paying securities;
- may invest up to 10% of its assets in foreign securities; and
- may invest in private placements or other illiquid equity or debt securities of public or private companies as permitted by securities regulations.

The pool may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the pool's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the pool (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in securities lending transactions")
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities and/or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Equity Private Pool. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The pool also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The pool will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the pool may engage in short selling please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

The pool may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the pool may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the pool?

An investment in the pool may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 100% of the net assets of the pool were invested in securities of CI Canadian Equity Income Private Trust. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the pool.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to obtain long-term total return.

It invests primarily in fixed income and floating rate securities of governments and companies throughout the world that the portfolio adviser believes offer an attractive yield and opportunity for capital gains. The fund may make large investments in any country, including emerging markets and emerging industries of developed markets, and in high yield securities of developed markets. The fund will use derivatives to minimize the fund's exposure to foreign currency fluctuations against the Canadian dollar.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of securityholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser selects securities that it believes have fundamental value that is not reflected in their credit rating and yield.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of an issuer, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser analyzes:

- the economies of the countries and regions
- expected changes in interest rates
- the yield of various terms to maturity
- the issuer's credit rating and risk.

The portfolio adviser analyzes whether companies can generate enough cash to service debt and reinvest into their business over the long-term.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Bond Currency Neutral Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund.
- hold cash or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or for defensive purposes in response to adverse market, economic or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations. When the fund uses derivatives for purposes other than hedging, it holds enough cash or money market instruments to fully cover its position in the derivative, as required by securities regulations. A derivative is an investment that derives its value from another investment called the underlying investment. This could be a stock, bond, currency or market index. Derivatives usually take the form of a contract with another party to buy or sell an asset at a later time. Some examples of derivatives are options, futures and forward contracts. The fund will use derivatives to hedge to the greatest extent, as practicable, the impact of foreign currency fluctuations relative to the Canadian dollar. Therefore, the fund does not generally benefit from an increase in the value of foreign currencies against the Canadian dollar.

The fund will not enter into a securities lending transaction or a repurchase transaction if, immediately thereafter, the aggregate market value of all securities loaned by the fund and not yet returned to it or sold by the fund in repurchase transactions and not yet repurchased would exceed 50% of the net asset value of the fund (exclusive of collateral held by the fund for securities lending transactions and cash held by the fund for repurchase transactions).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain conditions, invest up to 30% of its net assets in debt obligations issued or guaranteed by either Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac. For a more details, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in Debt Obligations Issued or Guaranteed by the Federal National Mortgage Association or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may also invest up to:

- a) 20% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated “AA” by S&P Global Ratings Canada (“S&P”) or its “DRO affiliate” (as defined in NI 81-102), or have an equivalent rating by one or more other “designated rating organizations” (as defined in NI 81-102) or their DRO affiliates; and
- b) 35% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase, in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated “AAA” by S&P or its DRO affiliate, or have an equivalent rating by one or more other designated rating organizations or their DRO affiliates

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Bond Currency Neutral Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

provided that certain conditions are met, including (i) the fund has investment objective and strategies that permit it to invest a majority of its net assets in fixed income securities, including foreign Government Securities; (ii) a) and b) are not combined for any one issuer; (iii) any security purchased pursuant to this relief is traded on a mature and liquid market; and (iv) the acquisition of Foreign Government Securities is consistent with the fundamental investment objective of the fund.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief. In selecting underlying funds, the Manager assess a variety of criteria, including:

- management style
- investment performance and consistency
- risk tolerance levels
- caliber of reporting procedures
- quality of the manager and/or portfolio adviser.

The Manager reviews and monitors the performance of the underlying funds in which it invests. The review process consists of an assessment of the underlying funds. Factors such as adherence to the stated investment mandate, returns, risk-adjusted return measures, assets, investment management process, style, consistency and continued portfolio fit may be considered. This process may result in suggested revisions to weightings of the underlying funds, the inclusion of new underlying funds or the removal of one or more underlying funds.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. A short sale by the fund involves borrowing securities from a lender and selling those securities in the open market (or selling short the securities). At a later date, the same number of securities are repurchased by the fund and returned to the lender. In the interim, the proceeds from the first sale are deposited with the lender and the fund pays compensation to the lender on the borrowed securities. If the value of the securities declines between the time that the fund borrows the securities and the time it repurchases and returns the securities to the lender, the fund will make a profit for the difference (less any compensation the fund is required to pay to the lender). Selling short provides the funds with more opportunities for profits when markets are generally volatile or declining.

In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. The fund will engage in short selling only within certain controls and limitations. Securities will be sold short only for cash and the fund will receive the cash proceeds within normal trading settlement periods for the market in which the short sale is made. All short sales will be effected only through market facilities through which those securities normally are bought and sold. At the time securities of a particular issuer are sold short by the fund, the aggregate market value of all securities of that issuer sold short will not exceed 5% of the total assets of the fund and the aggregate market value of all securities sold short by the fund will not exceed 20% of its total assets. The fund may deposit assets with lenders in accordance with industry practice in relation to its obligations arising under short sale transactions. The fund also will hold cash cover in an amount, including the fund's assets deposited with lenders, that is at least 150% of the aggregate market value of all securities it sold short on a daily marked-to-market basis. No proceeds from short sales will be used by the fund to purchase long positions other than cash cover.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in Leveraged Exchange-Traded Funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

The Manager may change the fund’s fundamental investment strategies at its discretion without notice or approval.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- debt securities risk
- defaulted securities risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- high yield risk
- inflation-indexed bond risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk
- loan risk
- mortgage-related and other asset-backed securities investment risk
- real estate investments risk
- sovereign debt risk
- structured products and structured notes risk
- style risk
- U.S. government securities risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 10.14% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Emerging Markets Bond Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Portfolio Series Income Fund, CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund, CI Portfolio Series Conservative Fund, CI Portfolio Series Balanced Growth Fund and CI Portfolio Series Conservative Balanced Fund owned approximately 29.34%, 29.08%, 14.39%, 11.55% and 10.83%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to provide maximum long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity and equity-related securities of established companies throughout the world that the portfolio advisor believes have a competitively advantaged business model, good growth potential or good value.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The pool may make investments in any country, including emerging markets or emerging industries of any market, and may invest in small, medium and large-capitalization companies. Although diversified by country, industry and company, the pool's portfolio will be focused and concentrated and will generally have less than 50 equity or equity-related holdings.

The portfolio advisor analyzes the global economy and industries. Based on the analysis, it identifies the industries and then selects the companies that it believes offer potential for long-term outperformance.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources;
- assesses the quality of management; and
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The pool may also:

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to seek long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity securities of companies worldwide.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To fulfill this objective, the pool will primarily invest in a portfolio of equity securities of companies worldwide, including companies located in emerging markets. It may invest in small, medium and large-capitalization companies, but will focus on mid to large-capitalization companies. Although diversified by country, industry and company, the pool's portfolio will be focused and concentrated and will generally have less than 25 equity holdings.

When selecting securities for the pool, the portfolio advisor's approach is to invest in globally-competitive companies within growing sectors. The portfolio advisor takes a long-term view of the world and strives to understand the economics and characteristics of different businesses and industries. The portfolio advisor analyzes historical financial performance, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivity to economic factors as well as other factors which may affect the future economics of the business. The portfolio advisor strives to select companies with industry leadership, strong management, growing profits and potential for capital appreciation.

The pool may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the pool's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's objective is to provide long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity or equity-related securities of small and medium-capitalization companies located anywhere in the world.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

When buying and selling securities for the pool, the portfolio advisor examines each company's potential for success in light of its current financial condition, its industry position and economic and market conditions. The portfolio advisor considers factors like growth potential, cash flow and quality of management.

The portfolio advisor uses a fundamental approach to assess growth potential and valuation. This means evaluating the financial condition, competitiveness, and management of each company, as well as the industry in which it operates.

The pool will focus on small and medium-sized companies located anywhere in the world, including emerging markets. The market capitalization of companies will primarily range between US$250 million and US$10 billion at the time of purchase and the pool will generally have between 30 to 50 equity holdings.

The pool may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the pool's investments
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the pool (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in securities lending transactions")

- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities and/or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The pool will not hedge against losses from foreign currency exposure.

The pool will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds use derivatives”).

The pool may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The pool also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations selling as a complement to the pool’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the pool may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the pool may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the pool may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the pool?

An investment in the pool may be subject to the following risks:

- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- small capitalization risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the pool.

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to seek long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity securities of companies located outside of Canada and the United States.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To fulfill this objective, the pool will primarily invest in a portfolio of equity securities of companies domiciled in countries outside of Canada and the United States, including companies located in emerging markets. It may invest in small, medium and large-capitalization companies, but will focus on mid to large-capitalization companies. Although diversified by country, industry and company, the pool's portfolio will be focused and concentrated and will generally have no more than 25 equity holdings.

When selecting securities for the pool, the portfolio advisor evaluates the merits of each company in terms of its leadership position within its industry, the strength of management, profit growth and potential for capital appreciation. In order to develop a proprietary view of the company, the portfolio advisor also considers overall macro-economic conditions, historical financial performance of the company, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivity to economic factors, as well as other factors which may affect the future economics of the business.

The pool may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the pool's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns

- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the pool (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash, cash-equivalent securities and/or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The pool will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The pool may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to provide long-term total returns through interest income and capital appreciation by primarily investing in government debt.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The pool will invest primarily in government debt, but may also invest in other debt instruments across the credit spectrum, including but not limited to investment-grade corporate debt, high-yield corporate debt, government debt futures, convertible debentures and credit derivatives.

The pool will be well-diversified by geography and industry to reduce portfolio risk and may from time to time deploy limited hedging of interest rates and credit spreads. The portfolio advisor also has full flexibility with regards to duration positioning and will seek to provide optimal exposure through changing market conditions.

The portfolio advisor uses a combination of top-down macroeconomic analysis involving the assessment of economic, political and market trends, and a bottom-up company and security level analysis to assess a company's ability to generate cash and meet interest and principal payment obligations on its debt securities.

In respect of corporate debt, the portfolio advisor focuses on a company's industry position, operating leverage, management strength and experience, historical earnings, future projections, liquidity profile and accounting ratios and practices.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the pool's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to provide income and the potential for long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of investment grade fixed-income securities issued by companies or governments primarily located in North America and Europe.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The pool will primarily invest in U.S., Canadian and European investment grade bonds and debt securities. The pool may also invest up to 20% of its assets at the time of purchase in non-investment grade debt securities or high-yield corporate bonds rated, in each case, BB- or higher by Standard and Poor's or an equivalent rating of another nationally-recognized credit rating agency. The pool may also invest in securities issued by or guaranteed by governments or governmental agencies, including Canadian government and Canadian government-guaranteed securities, provincial government and provincial government-guaranteed securities, U.S. Treasury securities and bonds issued or guaranteed by European government and their agencies. If the portfolio advisor deems it appropriate under certain market conditions, the pool's portfolio may consist entirely of government and government-guaranteed securities.

The portfolio advisor uses a combination of top-down macroeconomic analysis involving the assessment of economic, political and market trends, and a bottom-up company and security level analysis to assess a company's ability to generate cash and meet interest and principal payment obligations on its debt securities. In respect of corporate debt, the portfolio advisor focuses on a company's industry position, operating leverage, management strength and experience, historical earnings, future projections, liquidity profile and accounting ratios and practices.

The portfolio advisor may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the pool (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash and cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The pool will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The pool may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The pool also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations selling as a complement to the pool’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the pool may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the pool may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

What does the pool invest in?

Investment objective

The pool's investment objective is to generate income and the potential for long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of fixed-income securities of any credit quality, issued by companies or governments of any size, located anywhere in the world.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

In accordance with its investment objective, the pool:

- will invest primarily in fixed-income securities using a flexible investment approach by allocating assets across credit quality, structures, sectors, currencies and countries. The pool's investment style will emphasize flexibility and active management decisions in an attempt to maximize relative value for risk,
- will invest in both investment grade and non-investment grade fixed-income securities including, but not limited to, sovereigns and quasi-sovereigns, corporate bonds and emerging market debt,
- may invest all of its assets in foreign fixed-income securities; and
- may invest in private placements or other illiquid equity or debt securities of public or private companies as permitted by securities regulations.

The pool may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the pool's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Unconstrained Bond Private Pool. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the pool (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash and/or cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The pool also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the pool may engage in short selling please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling?”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the pool may also invest up to:

- a) 20% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated “AA” by S&P Global Ratings Canada (“S&P”) or its “DRO affiliate” (as defined in NI 81-102), or have an equivalent rating by one or more other “designated rating organizations” (as defined in NI 81-102) or their DRO affiliates; and
- b) 35% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase, in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by supranational agencies or governments other than the government of Canada, the government of a jurisdiction in Canada, or the government of the United States of America and are rated “AAA” by S&P or its DRO affiliate, or have an equivalent rating by one or more other designated rating organizations or their DRO affiliates provided that certain conditions are met, including (i) the pool has investment objective and strategies that permit it to invest a majority of its net assets in fixed income securities, including foreign Government Securities; (ii) a) and b) are not combined for any one issuer; (iii) any security purchased pursuant to this relief is traded on a mature and liquid market; and (iv) the acquisition of Foreign Government Securities is consistent with the fundamental investment objective of the pool.

The pool may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals?” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the pool may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the pool may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds?” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the pool?

An investment in the pool may be subject to the following risks:

- capital depletion risk
- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- high yield risk
- interest rate risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk”, as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the pool.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's investment objective is to provide a balance between income and long-term capital growth, by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of equity and fixed income exchange-traded funds (ETFs) that generally employ environmental, social and governance (ESG) oriented investment strategies.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund will primarily invest in a mix of equity and fixed income ETFs that generally employ ESG-oriented investment strategies; and, if deemed necessary by the portfolio advisor, other investment funds that generally employ such strategies. The fund will have a bias towards equity ETFs. Equity ETFs will provide exposure to Canadian, U.S. and international equity securities. The fixed income ETFs will provide exposure to Canadian and global fixed income securities.

The fund may invest in a broad spectrum of ESG-oriented ETFs and investment funds whose investment strategies may include, but are not limited to:

- “ESG integration” seeks to systematically incorporate ESG factors into security analysis and/or portfolio construction. The focus is on identifying ESG factors that may materially impact investment risk and return.
- “Negative screening” seeks to systematically exclude certain sectors or companies, typically based on ethical or moral criteria.
- “Thematic investing” seeks to invest across a range of ESG themes.
- “Impact investing” seeks to generate a measurable positive environmental and social impact alongside a financial return.

This document provides specific information about the CI Mosaic ESG Balanced ETF Portfolio. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The fund may invest in ETFs and other investments that do not employ an ESG-oriented investment strategy in order to obtain exposure to certain asset classes, such as government bonds, which may not be available within ESG-oriented investment funds, provided that doing so is consistent with the fund's investment objective and does not materially impact its overall ESG attributes.

The fund's asset mix will generally be kept within the following ranges:

- 50% and 70% for equity securities; and
- 30% and 50% for fixed income securities.

The portfolio advisor will, in its sole discretion:

- invest some or all assets of the fund in securities of ETFs and other mutual funds which may be managed by the manager, its affiliates and/or other investment fund managers (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?");
- rebalance the fund's assets among the underlying ETFs and/or mutual funds based on the fund's target asset allocations; and
- monitor the underlying ETFs and/or mutual funds on an ongoing basis and may make changes to the underlying funds or allocated percentages of the underlying funds.

The portfolio advisor uses strategic asset allocation as the principal investment strategy to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class and geographic region. The portfolio advisor will tactically review and adjust the asset allocation strategy, in its sole discretion, depending on various factors, including but not limited to, economic conditions, market conditions, interest rates, relative valuations of equity and fixed income securities, each underlying ETF's and/or mutual fund's investment objectives, past performance and historical volatility in the context of building and managing a diversified portfolio suitable for the investment objective of the fund.

The fund may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific information about each of the funds described in this document - What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash and cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging markets risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- passive management risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 13.94%, 10.38% and 10.05% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of iShares ESG Canadian Aggregate Bond Index ETF, CI Global Green Bond Fund and iShares ESG Aware MSCI Canada Index ETF, respectively. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to distribute any net income and net capital gains each December.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

The fund may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific information about each of the funds described in this document - What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash and cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific information about each of the funds described in this document - What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's investment objective is to provide long-term capital growth, by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of equity and fixed income exchange-traded funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The fund will primarily invest in a mix of equity and fixed income exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and, if deemed necessary by the portfolio advisor, other mutual funds and securities. The fund will have a bias towards equity ETFs. Equity ETFs will provide exposure to Canadian, U.S., and international equity securities. The fixed income ETFs will provide exposure to Canadian and global fixed income securities.

The fund's asset mix will generally be kept within the following ranges:

- 70% and 90% for equity securities; and
- 10% and 30% for fixed income securities.

This document provides specific information about the CI Mosaic Balanced Growth ETF Portfolio. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The portfolio advisor will, in its sole discretion:

- invest some or all assets of the fund in securities of ETFs and other mutual funds which may be managed by the manager, its affiliates and/or other investment fund managers (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”);
- rebalance the fund’s assets among the underlying ETFs and/or mutual funds based on the fund’s target asset allocations; and
- monitor the underlying ETFs and/or mutual funds on an ongoing basis and may make changes to the underlying funds or allocated percentages of the underlying funds.

The portfolio advisor uses strategic asset allocation as the principal investment strategy to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class and geographic region. The portfolio advisor will tactically review and adjust the asset allocation strategy, in its sole discretion, depending on various factors, including but not limited to, economic conditions, market conditions, interest rates, relative valuations of equity and fixed income securities, each underlying ETF’s and/or mutual fund’s investment objectives, past performance and historical volatility in the context of building and managing a diversified portfolio suitable for the investment objective of the fund.

The fund may also:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to generate additional returns
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific information about each of the funds described in this document - What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash and cash-equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific information about each of the funds described in this document - What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisor uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging markets risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- passive management risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 10.40% and 10.07% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI U.S. 500 Index ETF and iShares S&P/TSX 60 Index ETF, respectively. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to generate long-term growth of capital by investing, directly or indirectly, in equity or equity-related securities of companies located anywhere in the world. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, and securities of other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Leaders Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the fund may hold directly equity and equity-related securities or securities of a mutual fund that holds such equity and equity-related securities (an “underlying fund”).

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Global Leaders Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser takes a long-term view of the world and strives to understand the economics and characteristics of different businesses and industries.

The portfolio adviser invests in a diversified portfolio of high-quality, globally-competitive companies worldwide. Historical analysis of financial performance, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivities of economic factors, as well as other factors which may affect the future economics of the business are all considered. The portfolio adviser strives to select companies with industry leadership, strong management, growing profits and potential for capital appreciation. These companies will be those identified by the fund as leaders in their respective industries as indicated by an established market presence and strong global, regional or country competitive positions.

Securities in which the fund may invest are denominated in many currencies and may trade in markets around the world. The fund will diversify its investments in securities of companies among a number of different countries throughout the world, which may include Canada. There are no limits on the amount of the fund’s assets that may be invested in each country.

Although diversified by country, industry and company, the fund’s portfolio is focused and concentrated.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Leaders Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 100% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Global Leaders Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to pay ordinary taxable dividends and capital gains dividends, if any, quarterly.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to seek long-term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, in equity securities of companies located outside of Canada and the United States. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

This document provides specific information about the CI International Equity Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the fund may hold directly the equity securities of companies located outside of Canada and the United States, or securities of a mutual fund that holds such equity securities (an “underlying fund”). The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI International Equity Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references below are describing the underlying fund.

The fund will primarily invest, directly or indirectly, in a portfolio of equity securities of companies domiciled in countries outside of Canada and the United States, including companies located in emerging markets. It may invest in small, medium and large companies, and may hold cash and cash-equivalent securities. Although diversified by country, industry and company, the fund’s portfolio may hold larger positions in a smaller number of securities.

When selecting securities for the fund, the portfolio adviser evaluates the merits of each company in terms of its leadership position within its industry, the strength of management, profit growth and the potential for capital appreciation. In order to develop a proprietary view of the company, the portfolio adviser also considers overall macro-economic conditions, historical financial performance of the company, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivity to economic factors, as well as other factors which may affect the future economics of the business.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the underlying fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the underlying fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 99.84% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI International Equity Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to provide primarily a predictable stream of income and, secondarily, modest long-term capital appreciation, by investing in an actively managed portfolio of primarily Canadian stocks.

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Dividend Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

To fulfill its objective, the investment policy of the fund is to invest, directly or indirectly, a majority of the fund's total assets in a diversified portfolio of primarily Canadian stocks and equivalent securities with high dividend yields that have predictable levels of profitability and earnings which facilitate dividend growth.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund will achieve its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Canadian Dividend Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

Typically, the portfolio adviser attempts to produce superior dividend income and modest long-term capital appreciation by investing in mature companies with predictable and growing levels of profitability. The portfolio adviser favours Canadian companies that show financial strength, balanced by a desire for the fund's portfolio to show above-average growth rates.

The portfolio adviser's approach uses both quantitative and qualitative tools to build an income-oriented portfolio. By using carefully selected factors, the portfolio adviser screens the entire Canadian market to isolate possible opportunities.

The portfolio adviser's quantitative tools automatically identify those companies worthy of personal attention. The portfolio adviser supplements quantitative information with an in-depth knowledge of the companies in each industry and its economic requirements.

Reliable income on equities in the fund comes from selecting a base of companies that exhibit predictable and growing levels of profitability. More specifically, the portfolio adviser looks for stocks with earnings growth, because rising earnings mean a current income stream that could be used to fund dividends and often the capital appreciation of higher stock prices.

The fund may invest a maximum of 30% of its assets (book value) in foreign securities.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve long-term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of Canadian companies. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

This fund invests, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of Canadian companies. Up to 49% of the fund's assets may be invested in other types of securities and foreign securities.

The portfolio adviser identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry and will also consider factors like market penetration, earnings estimates and quality of management. The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess investment opportunities. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve a high level of total investment return, consisting of dividend income and capital gains.

It invests, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of companies anywhere in the world that pay, or may be expected to pay, dividends.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Dividend Opportunities Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the fund may hold directly the equity securities of companies anywhere in the world or securities of a mutual fund that holds such equity and equity-related securities (an “underlying fund”).

The fund will achieve its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Global Dividend Opportunities Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser identifies companies with a consistent history of paying and/or growing dividends or that are expected to pay dividends. The portfolio adviser seeks companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential and valuation. This means evaluating the financial condition, competitiveness, and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund may hold cash, and may invest in fixed-income securities of any quality or term and other income-producing securities. The portfolio adviser selects the quality and term of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in interest rates, credit quality and the prices of the fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and financial markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve long-term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of companies located anywhere in the world. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

This fund invests, directly or indirectly, primarily in equity securities of companies located anywhere in the world. The fund may make investments in any country, including emerging markets or emerging industries of any market.

The portfolio adviser identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry and will also consider factors like market penetration, earnings estimates and quality of management.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess investment opportunities. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

This fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

This fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. This fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which this fund may engage in short selling please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Equity Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions, the portfolio adviser may invest this fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Global Equity Fund owned approximately 17.44% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk".

You will find an explanation of each risk under "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk" as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to pay ordinary taxable dividends and capital gains dividends, if any, quarterly.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy".

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to achieve long-term capital growth by investing a substantial portion of its assets, directly or indirectly, in equity securities of Canadian companies. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

This document provides specific information about the CI Pure Canadian Small/Mid Cap Equity Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The fund will achieve its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Pure Canadian Small/Mid Cap Equity Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

When buying and selling securities for the fund, the portfolio adviser examines each company's potential for success in light of its current financial condition, its industry positioning, and economic and market conditions. The portfolio adviser considers factors like growth potential, earning estimates, quality of management and current market value of the securities.

The fund may invest in common and preferred shares of small, medium and large companies and in other types of equity securities or equity-type securities. It may invest up to approximately 10% of its assets in foreign securities and may hold income trust units, cash and fixed income securities.

The portfolio adviser may actively trade the fund's investments. This can increase trading costs, which lower the fund's returns. It also increases the possibility that you'll receive taxable capital gains dividends if you hold shares of the fund in a non-registered account.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions, the portfolio advisers may invest the fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

The fund may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 100% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Pure Canadian Small/Mid Cap Equity Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to seek above-average capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of small to mid-capitalization North American companies.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser identifies companies that offer the potential for strong growth in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources

This document provides specific information about the CI American Small Companies Corporate Class. - assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price. The portfolio adviser emphasizes companies whose growth potential is not reflected in their current price and companies that are expected to have improved earnings.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to provide superior returns with a limited level of risk by investing in a diversified portfolio of high quality undervalued companies.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies in the United States.

This document provides specific information about the CI U.S. Stock Selection Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the portfolio adviser:

- invests primarily in common shares of larger U.S. companies
- uses a disciplined, bottom-up stock selection process to evaluate a company's current position and future prospects
- considers quality and valuation as two critical dimensions when making an investment
- uses, as core to the strategy, rotation to companies that have been assessed to provide highest risk adjusted return, while maintaining a quality bias
- may invest in companies located outside of the U.S.
- may invest in corporate debt and/or convertible securities.

The portfolio advisor may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio advisor:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisor considers both the absolute return potential as well as the return relative to other opportunities.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- invest in treasury bills, bonds, debentures and notes, and in companies outside of the United States
- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

This document provides specific information about the CI U.S. Stock Selection Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- style risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund owned approximately 15.18% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, primarily in shares of major Canadian corporations.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the portfolio adviser:

- invests primarily in the securities of the largest companies (by capitalization) listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange
- manages in a disciplined value style, focusing on companies that are considered to be undervalued in relation to their future prospects and offer good absolute and relative value as characterized by measures such as lower-than-average price/book and price/earnings, and higher-than-average dividend yield
- uses a disciplined, bottom-up stock selection process to evaluate a company's current position and future prospects.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual").

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Investment Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk

As at June 24, 2023, a fund managed by us and Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada owned approximately 14.42% and 13.91%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies around the world that specialize in the health care or medical industry. This includes companies that provide goods and services to these companies and companies that the portfolio adviser believes would benefit from developments in the health sciences industry.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser identifies companies that have the potential for strong growth in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Health Sciences Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether it is a good value relative to its price. The portfolio adviser emphasizes companies whose growth potential is not reflected in their current price and companies that are expected to realize improved earnings.

The portfolio adviser then determines the amount of the fund's assets allocated to each investment based on:

- growth potential
- volatility
- expected performance compared to the other investments in the portfolio
- expected effect on the performance of the portfolio as a whole.

Securities that have both attractive and stable profit prospects receive a higher initial weighting.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to generate a consistently high level of dividend and interest income by investing, directly or indirectly, primarily in dividend-paying common and preferred shares, debentures, income trusts, equity-related securities and convertible securities of issuers anywhere in the world. Indirect investments can include derivatives and investments in other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

In order to achieve its objectives, the fund will invest primarily in dividend-paying exchange-traded funds (ETFs) which provide exposure to dividend paying companies located anywhere in the world. The ETFs may be a combination of passive, active, or rules-based funds. If deemed necessary by the portfolio advisor, the fund may also invest in other mutual funds and securities.

The fund may use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

In order to generate additional income, the fund may enter into securities lending transactions and repurchase transactions to the extent permitted by the securities regulations (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”).

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In addition to holding cash, the fund also may invest excess cash in (i) any Canadian or U.S. dollar denominated debt security considered investment grade, at the time of investment, by Standard & Poor’s or another equivalent credit rating agency, and (ii) cash equivalents. The fund may also invest in exchange-traded funds and closed-end funds.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of established companies that the portfolio adviser believes have good growth potential. These companies operate in or are listed on stock exchanges in the Asia and Pacific Rim region. The fund may invest in any country in the region.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser analyzes the global economy and the economies of Asia and the Pacific Rim, as well as the industries in those regions. Based on this analysis, it identifies the countries and then selects the companies that it believes offer potential for strong growth.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve high total investment return by investing, directly or indirectly, in primarily equity securities of companies anywhere in the world that pay, or may be expected to pay, dividends, as well as in other types of securities that may be expected to distribute income.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Dividend Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve its objective, the fund may hold directly the equity securities of companies anywhere in the world or securities of a mutual fund that holds such equity and equity-related securities (an “underlying fund”).

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Global Dividend Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser of the fund identifies companies that have the potential for success in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends. The portfolio adviser uses techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potentials and valuation. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund is diversified across different countries and regions, and this may vary from time to time, depending upon the portfolio adviser’s view of specific investment opportunities and macro-economic factors. The fund may make investments in any country, including emerging markets or emerging industries of any market.

The fund may hold cash, and may invest in fixed income securities of any quality or term and other income producing securities, where the quality and term of each investment is selected according to market conditions.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund may use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly to hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies. It will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations.

This fund may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions, and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income or enhance returns.

The fund may engage in short selling on the conditions permitted by Canadian securities rules. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser utilizes the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. Where the analysis generally produces a favourable outlook, the issuer is a candidate for purchase. Where the analysis produces an unfavourable outlook, the issuer is a candidate for a short sale.

The fund may also invest in exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds and other mutual funds that are managed by us, an affiliate or associate of ours, or other mutual fund managers.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Dividend Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 100% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Global Dividend Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

What does the fund invest in?

This fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies around the world that are engaged in the exploration, development, production and distribution of oil, gas, coal and related energy products, including geothermal, solar and other energy sources. The fund may also invest in companies that supply goods and services to these companies.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser analyzes the global energy market and identifies securities that it believes have good growth potential relative to their current price.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth. It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies engaged in or related to the energy, commodity and natural resource industries throughout the world.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for strong growth in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

The portfolio adviser selects investments it believes are trading below their true value and that offer the potential for consistently high growth potential.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain maximum long-term capital growth.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies around the world that have developed or are developing technological products, processes or services. This includes companies that provide goods and services to these companies and companies that the portfolio adviser believes would benefit from advancements and improvements in technology.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser analyzes the global economy and industries. Based on this analysis, it identifies the regions and companies that it believes offer potential for strong growth.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of a company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, when possible.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to seek capital appreciation over the long-term coupled with dividend income.

This document provides specific information about the CI Select Canadian Equity Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

It invests primarily in common shares and convertible securities of Canadian companies and preferred shares that pay regular income. The fund's investments are diversified across industry sectors.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain long-term appreciation of capital.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies that the portfolio adviser believes have good growth potential. These companies are located in countries that have signed the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) (or its successor). These countries currently include the United States, Canada and Mexico, but may also include countries that become members of NAFTA in the future.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser seeks to outperform the S&P 500 Index over the long-term with similar or lower volatility. It uses a proprietary screening process to identify securities that meet minimum levels of market capitalization, liquidity and analyst coverage and that show some combination of the following:

- accelerating levels of quarterly earnings

- positive estimate revisions over the past quarter
- positive earnings surprises
- strong relative share price strength

The portfolio adviser may also use qualitative analysis, which involves assessing the quality of the company's management, culture, products and customers, among other things.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

types of fund managers. They seek to be rewarded by significant upward movements in stock prices that can occur over shorter time periods. Since change is the catalyst, this style tends to generate relatively high portfolio turnover.

Portfolio Construction

A quantitative model assists in the search for stocks that exhibit the following characteristics: earnings acceleration, upward changes in analysts' earnings forecasts for a company, and positive earnings surprises. Once a list of potential investments exhibiting these criteria is identified, the major fundamental aspects of each company are analyzed, including the quality of the company's earnings streams and how it's positioned to benefit from the current economic environment. A reasonably well diversified portfolio is then constructed.

The portfolio is continually monitored with the objective of quickly identifying companies with deteriorating fundamentals so they can be sold before their relative performance declines significantly. For example, if a company is hit by a negative earnings surprise, the portfolio adviser will move to sell its stock quickly.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

The fund may use options, futures, forward contracts and swaps for hedging purposes, for example, to protect against market volatility or changes in interest rates or exchange rates. Derivatives may also be used for non-hedging purposes, provided that no more than 10% of the fund's net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase are so invested (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund may also:

- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. - equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- sector risk
- small capitalization risk.

As at June 24, 2023, CI Portfolio Series Balanced Fund and CI Portfolio Series Balanced Growth Fund owned approximately 19.44% and 12.55%, respectively, of the securities of the fund. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund seeks long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity and equity-related securities of global momentum companies situated in the developed markets represented in the MSCI World Index – C$ which currently includes 23 of the world's developed markets. The fundamental investment objective of the fund cannot be changed without obtaining securityholder approval.

Investment strategies

Investment Style

Momentum managers look for companies that are changing for the better, whose underlying fundamentals are improving more rapidly than the overall stock market. Momentum managers are usually willing to give up some of the initial price movement in a stock in order to obtain confirmation that the company's underlying fundamentals are actually improving. They typically have a much shorter investment horizon than other types of fund managers. They seek to be rewarded by significant upward movements in stock prices that can occur over shorter time periods. Since change is the catalyst, this style tends to generate much higher portfolio turnover.

Portfolio Construction

A quantitative model assists in the search for global stocks that exhibit the following characteristics: upward changes in analysts' earnings forecasts for a company, positive earnings surprises, and strong relative stock price performance. Once a list of potential investments exhibiting these criteria is identified, the major fundamental aspects of each company are analyzed, including the quality of their earnings streams and how they are positioned to benefit from the current economic environment. The fund is broadly diversified on a regional, country and industry basis in order to minimize risk and boost returns.

The portfolio adviser's sell discipline is as strong as its buy discipline. They continually monitor the portfolio using the same momentum criteria they use on the buy side to identify companies with deteriorating fundamentals so they can be sold before their relative performance declines significantly.

The fund may use options, futures, forward contracts and swaps for hedging purposes, for example, to protect against market volatility or changes in interest rates or exchange rates. Derivatives may also be used for non-hedging purposes, provided that no more than 10% of the fund's net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase are so invested (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may invest in certain companies for relatively short-term periods. Such short-term activity will generate higher portfolio turnover and may cause the fund to incur higher brokerage costs. This may adversely affect performance and may result in increased payments of capital gains dividends.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may also:

- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

This document provides specific information about the CI Synergy Global Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- sector risk
- small capitalization risk.

You will find an explanation of each risk under "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk" as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to pay ordinary taxable dividends and capital gains dividends, if any, quarterly.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy".

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to seek long-term growth by primarily investing, directly or indirectly, in a balanced portfolio of equities, and fixed income securities issued by governments, supra-national agencies or corporations anywhere in the world. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Balanced Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held to consider the change.

Investment strategies

Black Creek Investment Management Inc. (“Black Creek”) takes a long-term view of the world and strives to understand the economics and characteristics of different businesses and industries.

The equity portion of the portfolio invests in a diversified portfolio of globally-competitive companies within growing sectors. Historical analysis of financial performance, trends and technological changes in the business, sensitivities to economic factors, as well as other factors which may affect the future economics of the business are all considered. The portfolio sub-advisor strives to select companies with industry leadership, strong management, growing profits and potential for capital appreciation.

The fixed income component of the fund will be invested in global debt securities such as government, non-government and corporate bonds. The fund may also invest in higher-yielding, lower-quality fixed income securities as well as other asset classes including, but not limited to, bank loans or loan participation interests in secured, second lien or unsecured variable, fixed or floating rate loans, convertible securities, and preferred stocks. Higher yielding, lower-quality fixed income securities may include non-investment grade debt securities that are rated below BBB by Standard & Poors (or the equivalent rating from another rating agency), as well as debt obligations of issuers located in emerging markets. The portfolio sub-advisor does not target an average credit quality of the fixed income component of the portfolio. At any point, the average credit quality may be either investment grade or below investment grade. In choosing investments, the portfolio sub-advisor uses quantitative and qualitative factors, including credit analysis, security selection, adjustment of foreign exchange exposure and the fund’s average maturity. It also uses “top-down” analysis to evaluate the yields that can be earned in government bonds and compares those yields to the premium that can be earned in corporate bonds rated both investment grade (BBB- or higher) and high yield (BB+ or lower), and furthermore to the relative attractiveness of loans, preferred shares, convertible securities, or other hybrid securities. Its investment team then selects individual securities to buy or sell, which from a total return perspective, appear either attractive or unattractive relative to the team’s view of the credit risk of the bond issuer.

Asset allocation decisions are based on the judgment of the portfolio adviser in respect of the proposed investment environment for financial assets, relative fundamental values, the attractiveness of each asset category and expected future returns of each asset category. The portfolio adviser does not attempt to engage in short-term market timing among asset categories. There is no limit on the amount of fund assets that may be allocated to each asset category and the allocation is in the discretion of the Manager and portfolio adviser. As a result, shifts in asset allocation are expected to be gradual and continuous and the fund will normally have some portion of its assets invested in each asset category.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund’s investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?”)

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to achieve a superior total investment return by investing, directly or indirectly, in a combination of primarily Canadian equity and fixed income securities. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

This fund invests, directly or indirectly, primarily in Canadian equity and fixed income securities. Up to 49% of the fund's assets may be invested in other types of securities and foreign securities.

To achieve the fund's objective, the portfolio adviser:

- actively manages the fund using equity, fixed income instruments, and cash and cash equivalents. The fund is not limited as to how much it invests in each asset class. This will vary according to market conditions invests mainly in Canadian stocks for the equity portion of the portfolio, relying on a disciplined, bottom-up stock selection process to evaluate a company's current position and future prospects
- invests mainly in high quality government and corporate issues for the bond portion of the portfolio.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible
- analyzes the expected direction of interest rates and the yield curve
- analyzes credit ratings, credit risk and term to maturity of fixed income securities.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

This fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

This fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. This fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which this fund may engage in short selling, please refer to

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Asset Allocation Corporate Class. “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions, the portfolio adviser may invest this fund’s assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 37.91% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Canadian Core Plus Bond Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain long-term total return through a prudent balance of income and capital appreciation.

It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of mid- to large capitalization Canadian companies and fixed income securities issued by Canadian governments and companies. The proportion of the fund's assets invested in equity and fixed income securities may vary according to market conditions.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Canadian Balanced Fund (the underlying fund). All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to generate income and long-term capital growth by investing, directly or indirectly, in a combination of equity and fixed income securities of companies located anywhere in the world. Indirect investments may include convertible securities, derivatives, equity-related securities and securities of other mutual funds.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Income & Growth Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Global Income & Growth Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

This fund invests, directly or indirectly, in a combination of equity and fixed income securities of companies located anywhere in the world. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in any single country or asset class. This will vary according to market conditions. To the extent the fund invests in equity securities, these will include preferred and common shares that are diversified by sector and style.

Investments in fixed income securities may consist of high yielding government and corporate bonds, debentures, loans and notes. This may include securities that are unrated or have a credit rating below investment grade. The term to maturity of these securities will vary depending on the portfolio adviser's outlook for interest rates.

In selecting investments for the fund, the portfolio adviser uses a combination of top down macro analysis and fundamental analysis for bottom up security selections. When deciding whether to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund also may seek additional income through:

- investment in real estate investment trusts, royalty trusts, income trusts, master limited partnerships and other similar investments
- writing covered call options.

This fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

This fund also may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

This fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. This fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio adviser may invest this fund’s assets in cash and cash equivalent securities.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 99.67% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Global Income & Growth Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to pay ordinary taxable dividends and capital gains dividends, if any, quarterly.

In addition, holders of T-Series securities will receive regular monthly cash distributions. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund seeks to provide a steady flow of current income while preserving capital by investing in a diversified portfolio of securities composed mainly of equity, equity-related and fixed income securities of Canadian issuers. The fund may also invest in foreign securities.

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Income & Growth Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Canadian Income & Growth Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser seeks to achieve the investment objective by investing in a combination of equity, fixed income and derivatives. To achieve its objective, the portfolio adviser will actively manage the equity, fixed income, and cash components of the fund. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in each asset class. This will vary according to market conditions. To the extent the fund invests in equity securities, these will include preferred and common shares broadly diversified by sector and style. Fixed income may consist of high-yielding government and corporate bonds, debentures and notes. This may include securities that are unrated or have credit rating below investment grade. The term to maturity of these securities will vary depending on the portfolio adviser's outlook for interest rates. The fund may also generate income by investing in real estate investment trusts (REITs), royalty trusts, income trusts, bank loans and floating rate debt instruments and other similar high yielding instruments. The portfolio adviser will seek to produce additional income through covered call writing and other derivative strategies.

The portfolio adviser uses a combination of top down macro analysis and fundamental analysis for bottom-up security selection.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps as permitted by securities regulations
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund
- hold cash or cash equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain long-term total return.

It invests primarily in fixed income securities of Canadian governments and companies that the portfolio adviser believes offer an attractive yield and the opportunity for capital gains.

This document provides specific information about the CI Canadian Bond Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Canadian Bond Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references below to the fund are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as analyzing:

- the expected direction of interest rates
- the yield curve, which is an evaluation of the relative value between various terms to maturity
- credit ratings and credit risk
- expected performance relative to other types of fixed income securities.

The portfolio adviser also assesses:

- the rate of economic growth
- inflationary pressures
- monetary policy in Canada, the U.S. and other major industrialized countries
- market conditions and investor sentiment.

This includes evaluating the expected supply and demand for bonds and the current stage of the economic cycle to determine whether the difference between yields on different terms to maturity will be widening or narrowing.

The fund may invest in a wide range of securities including government and corporate bonds and debentures, stripped bonds, mortgage-backed securities, asset-backed securities, bank loans and floating rate debt instruments. Corporate securities are diversified and carefully analyzed for creditworthiness.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is currently expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be no more than 49% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, swaps, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").
- hold cash or cash equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's investment objective is to achieve a yield advantage by using fundamental value analysis to evaluate investments. The fund invests mainly in fixed income securities that are investment grade and below investment grade.

The fundamental investment objective of the fund can only be changed with the approval of a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting specifically to vote on the change to the fundamental investment objective.

Investment strategies

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Corporate Bond Fund (the underlying fund) which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser selects securities whose fundamental value it believes is not reflected in their credit ratings and yields. It first identifies companies that have the long-term ability to generate sufficient money to service their debt and reinvest in their business. The portfolio adviser also considers the impact of economic trends on interest rates and economic growth.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess cash flow and growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each issuer, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser analyzes:

- interest rates and yield curves
- credit ratings and credit risk
- financial data and other information sources
- the quality of management.

The portfolio adviser also conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser also considers whether it is a good value relative to its current price.

The fund will invest primarily in investment grade corporate securities. The fund may also invest in bank loans and floating rate debt instruments. Up to 40% of the fund may be invested in securities rated below investment grade. The fund may also invest in non-rated securities. At least 60% of the portfolio will be invested in corporate fixed income securities.

The portfolio adviser also may choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- hold cash or cash equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 99.83% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Corporate Bond Fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

As at June 24, 2023, Quadrant Asset Management owned approximately 11.03% of the securities of the fund. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Large redemption risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund or the T-Series Securities of the fund.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to generate a high level of income by investing, directly or indirectly, in fixed income and high-yielding equity securities throughout the world. Indirect investments can include derivatives and investments in other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of unitholders held for that reason.

This document provides specific information about the CI Diversified Yield Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Investment strategies

In order to meet its objective, the fund will invest, directly or indirectly, in fixed income and high-yielding equity securities throughout the world.

The fund invests primarily in companies throughout the world that have the potential for growth and value in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends. The portfolio adviser will actively manage the equity, fixed income, and cash components of the fund. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in each asset class or geographic mix. This will vary according to market conditions. The portfolio adviser decides how much of the fund's assets are invested in equity and fixed income securities according to market conditions.

Equity investments may include common shares, preferred shares and real estate investment trusts (REITs), royalty trusts, and similar high yielding investments.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as underlying fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes credit ratings
 - analyzes financial data and other information sources
 - assesses the quality of management
 - conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

Fixed income securities may include investment grade corporate and government fixed income securities throughout the world. The fund may also invest in corporate bonds that have a below-investment grade credit rating or are unrated, but offer a higher yield than investment grade bonds. It may also invest in bank loans, convertible bonds and floating rate debt instruments. The fund may also invest in emerging market bonds. These investments may be denominated in or have exposure to foreign currencies. The portfolio adviser will select the maturity of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the reference fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

The fund may hold cash or cash equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser will use the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund may enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions.

This document provides specific information about the CI Diversified Yield Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to obtain long-term total return. It invests in units of CI Global Bond Fund. When we determine that it is cost-efficient for shareholders to do so, the fund will instead invest directly in a portfolio of securities.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

This document provides specific information about the CI Global Bond Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Investment strategies

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI Global Bond Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references below to the fund are describing the underlying fund.

If the fund implements a change to its investment approach, as described under Investment objective, the investment strategies of the fund will become the same as the investment strategies of CI Global Bond Fund.

The portfolio adviser of the underlying fund selects securities that it believes have fundamental value that is not reflected in their credit rating and yield.

The portfolio adviser of the underlying fund may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of an issuer, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser of the underlying fund analyzes:

- the economies of the countries and regions
- expected changes in interest rates
- the yield of various terms to maturity
- the issuer's credit rating and risk.

The portfolio adviser of the underlying fund analyzes whether companies can generate enough cash to service debt and reinvest into their business over the long-term.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser of the underlying fund considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio adviser of the underlying fund may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the underlying fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the underlying fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The underlying fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may also invest up to:

- a) 20% of its net assets, taken at market value at the time of purchase in evidences of indebtedness of any one issuer if those evidences of indebtedness are issued, or guaranteed fully as to principal and interest, by

provided that certain conditions are met, including (i) the fund has investment objective and strategies that permit it to invest a majority of its net assets in fixed income securities, including foreign Government Securities; (ii) a) and b) are not combined for any one issuer; (iii) any security purchased pursuant to this relief is traded on a mature and liquid market; and (iv) the acquisition of Foreign Government Securities is consistent with the fundamental investment objective of the fund.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain conditions, invest up to 30% of its net assets in debt obligations issued or guaranteed by either Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac. For a more details, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in Debt Obligations Issued or Guaranteed by the Federal National Mortgage Association (“Fannie Mae”) or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (“Freddie Mac”)” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to provide a secure, convenient alternative for investors seeking to hold gold for long-term capital growth. The fund will invest primarily, directly or indirectly, in gold and equity securities that provide exposure to gold. The fund may also invest, directly or indirectly, in silver, platinum and palladium.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

To achieve the fund's investment objectives, the fund will make investments based on an evaluation of economic and market conditions. The fund will invest primarily in gold and equity securities which provide exposure to gold such as:

- permitted gold certificates;
- exchange-traded funds, the underlying interest of which is gold; and
- securities of issuers engaged in the development or production of gold.

The portfolio adviser will determine the portion of the fund invested directly or indirectly in gold bullion and permitted gold certificates based on its evaluation of economic and market conditions. In determining how to allocate the balance of the investments of the fund, the portfolio adviser will consider, among other factors, the potential of these investments relative to gold.

When investing in securities of companies, the portfolio adviser identifies companies that offer good value and the potential for growth in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends.

- invest a portion of the portfolio directly or indirectly in precious metals, other than gold
- hold cash, cash equivalent securities or fixed-income securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations or as exempted therefrom, (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" prospectus).

The physical gold, silver, platinum and palladium bullion will either be stored in the vault of the subcustodian, the Bank of Nova Scotia, on an allocated and segregated basis, or will be stored in the vault of a sub-subcustodian on an allocated and segregated basis, where in the latter case it shall be identified as the property of the subcustodian. The subcustodian shall at all times record and identify in the books and records maintained by the subcustodian that such bullion is being held on behalf of the Custodian.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

This fund's objective is to generate a high level of income and long-term capital growth.

This document provides specific information about the CI High Income Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The fund currently achieves its investment objective by investing all of its assets in CI High Income Fund (the underlying fund), which has the same portfolio adviser and objectives as the fund. All references to the fund below are describing the underlying fund.

The portfolio adviser identifies companies that have the potential for growth and value in their industry and then considers the impact of economic trends. To achieve its objective, the portfolio adviser will actively manage the equity, fixed income, and cash components of the fund. The fund is not limited to how much it invests in each asset class. This will vary according to market conditions. The portfolio adviser decides how much of the fund's assets are invested in equity and fixed income securities according to market conditions. Equity investments may include common shares, preferred shares from different parts of the world, Canadian and U.S. real estate investment trusts (REITs) and royalty trusts.

The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as fundamental analysis to assess growth and value potential. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes credit ratings
- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio adviser considers whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

Fixed income securities may include foreign corporate and government fixed income securities, bank loans and floating rate debt instruments. The fund may invest in corporate bonds that have a low credit rating or are unrated, but offer a higher yield than investment grade bonds. These investments may be denominated in or have exposure to foreign currencies. The portfolio adviser selects the maturity of each investment according to market conditions.

The portfolio adviser may also choose to:

- use warrants and derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:
 - hedge against losses from changes in the prices of the fund's investments and from exposure to foreign currencies
 - gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly
- enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by the securities regulations, to earn additional income for the fund (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?")
- hold cash or cash equivalent securities for strategic reasons or in the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

This document provides specific information about the CI High Income Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?” and “Exemptions and Approvals” in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund’s current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling”.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%); or
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to obtain income and capital appreciation by investing, directly or indirectly, in high yield corporate bonds and other income-producing securities throughout the world. Indirect investments can include derivatives and investments in other mutual funds.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of votes cast at a meeting of shareholders held for that reason.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser will focus primarily on corporate bonds and debt obligations that are rated BBB or below by a recognized North American bond rating agency. The portfolio adviser selects securities whose fundamental value it believes is not reflected in their credit ratings and yields. The fund may also invest in bank loans, convertible bonds, floating rate debt instruments and private placements as permitted by securities regulations. The fund may also invest in emerging market bonds. These investments may be denominated in or have exposure to foreign currencies.

This document provides specific information about the CI High Yield Bond Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. The portfolio adviser will select the maturity of each investment according to market conditions. The fund may also invest in exchange-traded funds and closed-end funds.

The portfolio adviser considers the impact of economic trends on interest rates and economic growth. The portfolio adviser may use techniques such as underlying fundamental analysis to assess growth, cash flow sustainability and collateral value. This means evaluating the financial condition and management of each company, its industry and the overall economy. As part of this evaluation, the portfolio adviser:

- analyzes credit risk and credit ratings
- analyzes financial data and other information sources
- assesses the quality of management
- conducts company interviews, where possible

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser to the fund will use the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that the purchased securities will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

to invest 80% of its assets in mutual funds that invest primarily in income securities and 20% of its assets in mutual funds that invest primarily in equity securities.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser uses strategic asset allocation as the principal investment strategy to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class, and geographic region. This generally includes approximately 80% in Canadian fixed income and global fixed income securities, and 20% of Canadian equity, U.S. equity, and international equity securities.

In determining the fund's target asset allocations, the portfolio adviser considers, among other factors, each underlying fund's investment objective and strategies, past performance, and historical volatility in the context of a diversified holding of underlying funds suitable for the investment objective of the fund. The portfolio adviser:

- invests the assets of the fund in securities of the underlying funds;
- rebalances the fund's assets among the underlying funds based on the fund's target asset allocations; and
- monitors the underlying funds on an ongoing basis and may make changes to the underlying funds, or allocated percentages of the underlying funds.

The fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts, forward agreements and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies; or
- gain exposure to securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of this Managed Portfolio is to provide returns from a diversified portfolio split between income and equity securities, designed for steady, long-term growth. It aims to invest 60% of its assets in mutual funds that invest primarily in income securities and 40% of its assets in mutual funds that invest primarily in equity securities.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser uses strategic asset allocation as the principal investment strategy to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class, and geographic region. This generally includes approximately 60% in Canadian fixed income and global fixed income securities, and 40% of Canadian equity, U.S. equity, and international equity securities.

In determining the fund's target asset allocations, the portfolio adviser considers, among other factors, each underlying fund's investment objective and strategies, past performance, and historical volatility in the context of a diversified holding of underlying funds suitable for the investment objective of the fund.

The portfolio adviser:

- invests the assets of the fund in securities of the underlying funds;
- rebalances the fund's assets among the underlying funds based on the fund's target asset allocations; and
- monitors the underlying funds on an ongoing basis and may make changes to the underlying funds, or allocated percentages of the underlying funds.

The fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts, forward agreements and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies; or
- gain exposure to securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment.

This document provides specific information about the CI Select 60i40e Managed Portfolio Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs managed by us, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio adviser may invest this fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities, including but not limited to treasury bills and banker's acceptance.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%); or
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk
- sector risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 29.53%, 28.83%, 12.04% and 11.12% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Canadian Bond Fund, CI Income Fund, CI Select Canadian Equity Managed Fund and CI Select International Equity Managed Fund, respectively. The associated risk is discussed in the section "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk".

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of this Managed Portfolio is to provide returns from a diversified portfolio of equity securities, with a small amount of exposure to income securities to reduce short-term volatility. It aims to invest 20% of its assets in mutual funds that invest primarily in income securities and 80% of its assets in mutual funds that invest primarily in equity securities.

This document provides specific information about the CI Select 20i80e Managed Portfolio Corporate Class. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. This document and the document that provides general information about the CI Funds together constitute the simplified prospectus.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The portfolio adviser uses strategic asset allocation as the principal investment strategy to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class, and geographic region. This generally includes approximately 20% in Canadian fixed income and global fixed income securities, and 80% of Canadian equity, U.S. equity, and international equity securities.

In determining the fund's target asset allocations, the portfolio adviser considers, among other factors, each underlying fund's investment objective and strategies, past performance, and historical volatility in the context of a diversified holding of underlying funds suitable for the investment objective of the fund.

The portfolio adviser:

- invests the assets of the fund in securities of the underlying funds;
- rebalances the fund's assets among the underlying funds based on the fund's target asset allocations; and
- monitors the underlying funds on an ongoing basis and may make changes to the underlying funds, or allocated percentages of the underlying funds.

The fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts, forward agreements and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in interest rates and the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies; or
- gain exposure to securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

The fund will only use derivatives as permitted by securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio adviser uses the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to the fund's current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

As permitted by applicable securities regulations and exemptive relief, the fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs. The fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in privately offered collective investment schemes with non-traditional investment strategies. (See "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus). To the extent that the fund invests directly or indirectly in such collective investment schemes, the Manager and certain employees of it or its affiliates may have the potential to share in carried interest revenues earned by the manager of the underlying investment. To manage the conflicts of interest associated with any sharing of carried interest, the portfolio manager responsible for making decisions for the fund will not participate in such sharing of carried interest and will make decisions without knowledge of these arrangements.

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs managed by us, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio adviser may invest this fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities, including but not limited to treasury bills and banker's acceptance.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%); or
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to "Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds" in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- concentration risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk
- investment trust risk
- sector risk
- small capitalization risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 25.53%, 23.50%, 13.94%, 11.58% and 11.12% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of CI Select Canadian Equity Managed Fund, CI Select International Equity Managed Fund, CI Select U.S. Equity Managed Fund, CI Income Fund and CI Canadian Bond Fund, respectively. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The primary investment objective of the fund is to provide capital growth through direct or indirect investments primarily in equity and equity-related securities of primarily Canadian companies that the portfolio advisers believe represent good value and have the potential for positive total return. Equity-related securities include convertible preferred shares, convertible debt obligations, warrants, mutual funds and other similar investment vehicles.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The fund employs a “multi-style, multi-manager” approach, which means that it is managed by more than one individual portfolio manager or portfolio management team, each exhibiting a distinct investment style. This approach assists in diversifying the risk associated with an individual portfolio manager’s or portfolio management team’s investment process and style.

Each portfolio adviser independently selects a diversified basket of securities that may exhibit either core, growth, value or small capitalization characteristics. Techniques such as fundamental analysis may be used to assess the attractiveness of both new investment opportunities and current holdings. The fund is expected to be invested in securities diversified across different sectors.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisers consider whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio advisers may also choose to invest the fund's assets in foreign securities. It is expected that investments in foreign securities will generally be less than 10% of the fund's assets.

The portfolio advisers are selected by CI Global Asset Management, who is also responsible for monitoring the performance of the portfolio advisers and the characteristics of their portfolio. When monitoring the characteristics of the fund, CI Global Asset Management examines, among other criteria, the price-to-earnings ratio, price-to-book ratio, revenue growth, earnings per share growth and average market capitalization of the overall portfolio of securities held by the fund. The fund is expected to be broadly diversified which means that it will not have a significant bias towards either a value or a growth style. CI Global Asset Management as the manager of PSS may replace a portfolio adviser or re-allocate the mix of its portfolio advisers within the fund.

The fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

The fund may also enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisers use the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The investment objective of this fund is to provide exposure to a diversified portfolio of income-generating securities in a manner that is similar to holding multiple income-generating funds. The fund invests primarily in investment grade fixed income securities issued by governments and corporations in Canada and globally. The fund may invest up to 50% in other income generating securities such as preferred shares, common shares and real estate investment trusts. The fund's investments will be made primarily through investments in other mutual funds, either directly or by entering into derivatives, and the fund may directly hold securities.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The primary investment objective of the fund is to provide capital growth through direct or indirect investments primarily in equity and equity-related securities of international issuers that the portfolio advisers believe represent good value and have the potential for positive total return. A portion of the assets may be invested in companies that are located in, or with significant economic exposure to, emerging market countries. Equity-related securities include convertible preferred shares, convertible debt obligations, warrants, mutual funds and other similar investment vehicles.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The fund employs a “multi-style, multi-manager” approach, which means that it is managed by more than one individual portfolio manager or portfolio management team, each exhibiting a distinct investment style. This approach assists in diversifying the risk associated with an individual portfolio manager's or portfolio management team's investment process and style.

Each portfolio adviser independently selects a diversified basket of securities that may exhibit either core, growth or value characteristics. Techniques such as fundamental analysis may be used to assess the attractiveness of both new investment opportunities and current holdings. The fund is expected to be invested in securities diversified across different sectors.

When deciding to buy or sell an investment, the portfolio advisers consider whether the investment is a good value relative to its current price.

The portfolio advisers are selected by CI Global Asset Management, who is also responsible for monitoring the performance of the portfolio advisers and the characteristics of their portfolio. When monitoring the characteristics of the fund, CI Global Asset Management examines, among other criteria, the price-to-earnings ratio, price-to-book ratio, revenue growth, earnings per share growth and average market capitalization of the overall portfolio of securities held by the fund. The fund is expected to be broadly diversified which means that it will not have a significant bias towards either a value or a growth style. CI Global Asset Management as the manager of PSS may replace a portfolio adviser or re-allocate the mix of its portfolio advisers within the fund.

The fund may use derivatives such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps to:

- protect against losses from changes in the prices of its investments, and from exposure to foreign currencies
- gain exposure to individual securities and markets instead of buying the securities directly.

Derivatives will only be used as permitted by securities regulations.

The fund may also enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations, to earn additional income.

The fund also may engage in short selling as permitted by securities regulations. In determining whether securities of a particular issuer should be sold short, the portfolio advisers use the same analysis that is described above for deciding whether to purchase the securities. The fund will engage in short selling as a complement to its current primary discipline of buying securities with the expectation that they will appreciate in market value. For a more detailed description of short selling and the limits within which the fund may engage in short selling, please refer to "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in? – How the funds engage in short selling".

The fund may obtain exposure, on some or all of its assets, to securities of other mutual funds, including domestic and foreign ETFs, as permitted by applicable exemptive relief (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?" and "Exemptions and Approvals" in Part A of the simplified prospectus).

In the event of adverse market, economic and/or political conditions or for strategic reasons, the portfolio adviser may invest this fund's assets in cash and cash equivalent securities, including but not limited to treasury bills and banker's acceptance.

Pursuant to exemptive relief from the Canadian securities authorities, the fund may, subject to certain restrictions, purchase securities of ETFs that seek to:

- provide daily results that replicate the daily performance of a specified widely-quoted market index on a leveraged basis (a multiple of 200% or an inverse multiple of 100% or 200%);
- seek to replicate the performance of gold, or the value of a specified derivative the underlying interest of which is gold, on a leveraged (a multiple of 200%) basis.

It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023. For a more detailed description of the limits within which the fund may engage in such investments, please refer to “Exemptions and Approvals – Investments in leveraged exchange-traded funds” in Part A of the simplified prospectus.

What are the risks of investing in the fund?

An investment in the fund may be subject to the following risks:

- commodity risk
- credit risk
- emerging market risk
- equity risk
- foreign investment risk
- interest rate risk.

Over the past 12 months, approximately 13.24% of the net assets of the fund were invested in securities of iShares China Large-Cap ETF. The associated risk is discussed in the section “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk – Concentration risk”.

You will find an explanation of each risk under “What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund? – Types of risk” as well as an explanation of other general risks that apply to the fund.

Distribution policy

The fund expects to pay ordinary taxable dividends and capital gains dividends, if any, quarterly. For more information, see “Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – Distribution policy”.

What does the fund invest in?

Investment objective

The fund's objective is to preserve capital and maintain liquidity while earning a nominal amount of income.

Any change to the fundamental investment objective must be approved by a majority of the votes cast by unitholders at a meeting called to consider the change.

Investment strategies

The fund is intended to provide investors with an efficient entry into the CI Portfolio Select Series custom portfolios solution to purchase shares in accordance with your allocation among mutual funds indicated in your CI Portfolio Select Series documentation or the original purchase allocation for the custom portfolios, as applicable. Each investment in units of this Select Fund will be temporary and will be switched.

The fund invests primarily in cash, cash equivalents and money market instruments that mature in less than 365 days. The fund may invest in:

- cash on deposit with Canadian financial institutions
- short-term debt obligations issued or guaranteed by the governments of Canada, any province or any agency of these governments
- commercial paper and other high quality short-term debt obligations of Canadian corporations and Canadian chartered banks.

In order to generate additional income, the fund may enter into securities lending transactions and repurchase transactions to the extent permitted by the securities regulations (see "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in This Document – What does the fund invest in?").

This document provides specific information about the CI Select Staging Fund. It should be read in conjunction with the rest of the simplified prospectus of the CI Funds dated July 24, 2023.
